

TROJAN SAYS NOTRE DAME STOLE GAME

ROBBED OF VICTORY, IS CHARGE OF TEAM CAPTAIN AT RALLY

Southern California Football Captain Has Again Allowed Oratory to Create Embarrassing Situation

By GEORGE H. BEALE
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—(U.P.)—A Southern California football captain, for the second time in as many years, has arrived in an extremely embarrassing position through deserting his customary mole skins for the more intricate art of oratory.

Captain Morley Drury, considered the best backfield man ever developed on the Pacific coast, and practically a unanimous choice for all-American football honors, today told a mass meeting of 3,000 Southern California students that the Trojan eleven felt it had been robbed of a victory over Notre Dame.

At a corresponding time last season the then captain, Jeff Cravath, prominently mentioned in all-American center, arrived in a similarly awkward situation by relating at a banquet for a high school team that "some coaches gave players drugs to keep up their morale and stamina."

Drury's reaction to the sensation caused by his speech followed closely that of Cravath's last year.

Robbed of Victory
Drury's statement came when he was called to the platform during a spirited Trojan reception to the team that lost to Notre Dame last Saturday by a 7-6 score.

"After all is said and done," the elusive halfback declared, "we feel we traveled a long distance to be robbed of a victory."

"Fellow students," he started, "we left here last week for Chicago after explaining we expected to trim Notre Dame. We stand here now, defeated."

"All of us feel extremely bad about it, but we know by this meeting that you are with us and that will help against Washington Saturday."

He concluded with the reference to the reason for the loss of the game.

The elusiveness that characterizes his off-track thrusts was present when newspapermen attempted to get Drury to enlarge his statement.

"Misunderstood"
"Drury" as he is known, offered the explanation that he was misunderstood, but he refused to repeat or retract anything of his speech.

"I'm not a public speaker," he said, "and I don't want to say any more about it. If I tell you what I said and what I meant it would get me into trouble maybe, and it looks like I'm in plenty now."

"I may have a statement to-morrow after I see what the papers say but I'm not going to do any talking at present. I don't care to discuss whether I think we were robbed or not."

Blames Umpire
Drury's original remark was obviously pointed at a decision handed down by Umpire John Schommer, in which the ball was given to Notre Dame on its own 20-yard line, when Southern California felt they should have been given a safety. The safety would have returned the Trojans an 8-7 victory.

The play centered on whether Riley Irish quarterback, intercepted or merely knocked down an attempted Southern California forward pass. He was tackled by a Southern California player while standing on or near his own goal line. A Trojan player recovered the ball in the mix-up that followed.

Howard Jones, Southern California coach, referring to the play, said: "From where I sat it looked like the umpire made an error in calling the play as he did."

Rockne's Team Good

"My personal opinion is that Riley intercepted the ball and Southern California should have been given a safety," Jones declared. "However, others saw the play in a different way, so perhaps I was wrong. Notre Dame has a mighty good team."

Shortly after the close of the football season last year, Cravath was called upon for a talk to the athletes at San Pedro high school.

Charged Drugging
He surprised the assemblage by asserting "it is a common practice for some coaches to feed strychnine and other drugs to players so they will be fresh for the second half of the game."

When it was pointed out that Southern California lost two big games when opponents rallied in the second half, Cravath hastened to explain he had no definite coaches or teams in mind.

Later he decided he was more at home on the football field than behind the speaker's table, and insisted the statement was made solely to impress the high school boys with the necessity of fair play.

When to Suspect Acid Scalp

It isn't age that dulls the hair. Nor frequent washing or curling. If your hair lacks all life and lustre, it may be due to a condition you can correct in twenty-four hours. Acid scalp.

Neutralize the acid secretions of the scalp, and your hair will have the lovely sheen that makes any hair so attractive. A few drops of Danderine will do this, and as its name implies, Danderine is a scientific dandruff dissolvent. Five minutes after Danderine is applied, every particle of dandruff has been dissolved.

Acid scalp should be suspected if your hair is at all stiff or stringy, or won't hold a wave. Another sign—not so easily detected in one's self—is an acid odor to the hair when it is warm, or after exercise. And for thirty-five cents at any drugstore, you can get a bottle of Danderine that will keep your hair soft and sweet and "on its good behavior" for weeks!—Adv.

The Discovery That Brought Peace of Mind!

Corrects the Chemistry that Make One's Pores Offend

Do you know why thousands of people who never have to take a laxative, do not feel a candy cascaret now and then?

They have found that cascara sweetens the whole system—brings an immaculacy of person that means everything. It prevents bodily chemistry from ever making one unconsciously offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Salts affect the lining of the bowels. Mineral oils leave a coating that the blood must carry off through the pores. How much better to cascade the system, and cause the bowels to expel everything by normal muscular contraction! To say nothing of the cleaner, sweeter condition that lasts for days—a wholesome condition that makes the use of deodorants quite unnecessary in January or July! Men and women whose years have brought on sluggishness often find that a cascaret, only once a week is all the tonic they need.

Cascara is splendid for children, too and they love the taste of this candy laxative which every druggist has for 10c and 25c.

CASCARETS

"IT WAS YEARS before I knew the one best way to conquer sluggishness. Now, I can do so with the comfortable feeling that I'm removing all taint to perspiration, too. That's the big virtue I see in the candy laxative—"

Eight Teams Claiming Title, Advised to Get Together

GRESHAM, Ore., Nov. 29.—(U.P.)—Unless eight claimants of the mythical high school football championship of Oregon can settle their differences on the grid-iron before Dec. 19, the title will remain undecided. Roy Cannon, president of the state board of interscholastic athletics, told the United Press here tonight.

"The situation has become very complicated by the refusal of some of the contenders to play post-season games, and the diffidence of others," Cannon said.

"We are not asking any of the claimants to participate in post-season games, but any requests of those teams for contests with other first rate eleven are being welcomed," he continued.

The eight teams that have advanced claims, Cannon said, are Medford, The Dalles, McLaughlin, Grant (Portland), Tillamook, Salem, West Linn and Harrisburg. West Linn has withdrawn and Cannon understands McLaughlin does not desire to play The Dalles.

Speaking personally and not officially, Cannon said in view of the attitude of Grant and McLaughlin, he would like to see Medford and Tillamook play next Saturday and the winner to meet The Dalles on Dec. 19.

Answering reports that Washington high of Portland wishes to take Grant's place and play Medford, Cannon said such a game would not be sanctioned.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 29. (U.P.)—Coach Knute K. Rockne "isn't interested" in the assertion of Capt. Morley Drury of the University of Southern California football team that the Trojans were "robbed" of victory in their game with Notre Dame Saturday.

"I have always taken the game officials at their word and have nothing to say about the matter," was Rockne's only comment.

COOLIDGE TO GIVE TALK AT PARTY PARLEY

Chance for New Light On President's Stand Slight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (U.P.)—President Coolidge will receive the members of the republican national committee during their meeting here to select the convention city next week and will make a formal address to them in the east room of the White House.

The announcement of the president's intention to say a few words was not coupled with any indication as to whether they would have a political significance or throw any new light on Coolidge's own political future.

It was said the president had absolutely no choice in the matter of selecting a convention city.

He understands that a number of cities well equipped to conduct the convention have placed their bids with the committee and it was said at the White House that any selection would be entirely satisfactory to the president.

William M. Butler, chairman of the committee, has arrived in Washington, as have a number of the national committeemen. The meeting will be held Monday.
