ARE YOU a "TOXIC"

Nerves that Shriek!

Nothing is quite so maddening as those spells of "nerves" that make you feel as if you could "jump out of your skin". They are the curse of thousands of people and in the end make them invalids for life. Most cases of nervousness are due to a toxic or poisoned condition of the system, the result of a half-dead or sluggish liver. When the liver goes "lump", as it frequently does under modern living habits, it fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. Then a poisoned condition of the whole system, with heart, nerves and blood vessels affected. The liver occasionally needs a little help. Nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall has been found to be a natural stimulant for the liver and therefore for health in general. The genuine pure ox gall is to be had, dainty and tasteless, in the form of Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents 10 drops of pure ox gall and costs less than 2c each at good druggists. To be sure of getting the genuine, look for the name Dioxol and picture of ox's head on the package.

Bowl Prepared For Bike Race

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (U.P.)—The ring of hammers and the shrill complaint of saws sounded tonight in Madison Square Garden, hearing the erection of a big pine saucer around which the semi-annual 24-day bike race will start its monotonous whirl Sunday night.

With Reggie McNamara and his diminutive partner, Georgetti, once more top-heavy favorites for top honors in the long grind, 15 teams will answer the starting pistol, as fired by New York state's light heavyweight champion of the world, Tommy Loughran.

In addition to 15 American riders, there are five Belgians, four Italians and a smattering of Frenchmen, Dutchmen, Germans, Australians and Canadians among the peddlers.

SPORT FLASHES

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (U.P.)—"Cowboy" Kutsch, former brilliant football player of Iowa, who played with the Olympic club team here this year, may return to the University of Iowa next year. EL RIO, Calif., Dec. 1. (U.P.)—Dick Chang, sensational Honolulu Chinese, lost a close four-round fight to Danny Flores, Los Angeles flyweight, here last night. The decision went to Flores on his infighting, although spectators thought Chang earned a draw. Ringsiders gave Flores a slight edge on the first two rounds, called the third even, and awarded the fourth to Chang.

Pyle, it was understood, is considering organizing a professional hockey league on the coast, and wished Calder's advice.

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 1. (U.P.)—Pico Ramirez of Los Angeles fought a six round draw with Benny Dotson, Aberdeen, here tonight.

At The Pine Tree

Since my debut on the screen I have had many thrills, but the biggest thrill of my life came when I was engaged to play the role of Charmaine in the celebrated stage play, "What Price Glory," now playing at the Pine Tree.

So many brilliant screen actresses have been anxious to translate this entrancing character to the cinema that I had hardly dared even dream of aspiring to the part. And yet good fortune smiled down upon me, for I was selected. For two days thereafter I was sailing on a sea of clouded joy, for, after all, I was but a newcomer to the screen and to have such trials imposed on one so inexperienced historically was indeed gratifying.

Oregon Coach Has Plenty Lettermen

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, Dec. 1.—(Special)—When John J. McEwen, Oregon football coach, begins preparations for the 1928 Pacific coast conference grid season he will have at least one letterman for every position on the team as a nucleus around which to build.

Though some of the lettermen may not make the team next season, the fact that they are in uniform will speed up competition and considerably brighten the prospects of the squad.

Canzoneri weighed 125 pounds and Fernandez, 124 3-4.

WILL NOT RULE ON PROTEST

PORTLAND, Dec. 1. (U.P.)—Because the football game between Medford and McLoughlin high schools at Milton-Freewater next Saturday will not give either team any special claim to the mythical state interscholastic championship, the state board of control will not rule on the protest from The Dalles high school against the game. Roy Cannon, board president, said tonight: "We have granted Medford and McLoughlin permission to play with the understanding the game will have no bearing on the state championship." Cannon said: "If it were a semi-final game for a state title the claim of The Dalles would be just but it is only a post-season contest."

U. S. C. Has Final Football Practice

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—(U.P.)—Southern California, physically perfect, but mentally perturbed as a result of the Notre Dame game last week, went through its final strenuous practice session today in preparation for Saturday's encounter with Washington.

Washington, rated a big and strong team, and with only a loss to Stanford to mar its record, will arrive here Friday morning. The Huskies will work out at the Coliseum Friday afternoon.

By defeating Washington, Southern California can work its way into a tie with Stanford for Pacific coast conference honors.

Grape Juice Not Booze, Is Ruling Of District Body

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 1. (AP)—Four Chicago men charged with conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law in connection with the sale of unfermented grape juice, were found not guilty by a jury in United States district court today.

The four defendants were Elmer F. Neibuhr, president of the United Vineyards' Association; Carl A. Futter, president of the California Vineyards company; Lester Hines and J. R. Grable.

They made no attempt to controvert the prima facie case of sale of unfermented grape juice which the government built up through testimony of prohibition agents and purchasers of the five-gallon kegs of grape juice which the United Vineyards Association sold in substantial numbers in Indiana.

At The Liberty

Stirring melodrama against a background of society and the haunts of the underworld features "Birds of Prey," at the Liberty theater today.

Priscilla Dean the versatile and adventurous star, gives a particularly striking performance in the role of the girl crook. She is ably supported by Hugh Allan, as the boy who falls in love with her. Gustav Von Seyffertitz adds another masterly characterization to his long list of arch villain roles in his part of Foxy, the leader of the gang. William Tooker convincingly plays his part as a banker, the father of the hero, while Sidney Bracy proves amply adequate as a humorous member of the gang.

The earthquake climax, in which the gang is destroyed, is convincing in its realism. "Birds of Prey" was adapted from the story of the same title by George Bronson Howard, who as a newspaperman gathered the vivid experiences which have been so effectively transferred to the screen.
