Vacation School Fun for Kiddies, Help to Mothers

Busy parents no longer need worry over what Johnny is doing these vacation mornings while mother's back is turned. Little Mary will not come in crying because she has been drenched with the hose, nor will the neighbor boy come running with the news that a playmate has fallen into the canal or river. One of the most wholesome programs ever devised locally for organizing the play-time of youngsters in vacation days is put on by the Methodist and Presbyterian churches at the location of the latter, Sixth and Pine streets.

From 9 to 12 o'clock every day except Saturday, an excellent combination of profit and play is provided for boys and girls of all classes and churches without distinction. Headwork and handwork unite with all manner of wholesome fun to make these first four weeks of vacation the most delightful of it all for children in the city.

At 9 o'clock the scores that attend come trooping in with flags flying to stirring music. After the flag salutes the program for an hour and a half is varied with songs and stories, memory work, talks, cheers, exercises, maxims, and more songs. The boys and girls themselves participate in part of the leadership and the contests and plans for special good times. Then all arrange themselves in classes for all sorts of entertaining and useful craftwork. There are crafts for girls and others for boys—Sewing, weaving, basketry, wood-work, block-printing, painting, and several others, a partial exhibit of which may be seen in the Shepherd Music House window.

A separate department is conducted for those of kindergarten age and the first year or two of the elementary grades. The enrollment is already over a hundred. There is no fee, but an offering is taken to help defray expenses. This Vacation Church School will inevitably mount in popularity with both parents and children.

Hunter Holds Up In Tennis Game

THE HAGUE, June 15. (UP) Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y., entered the final round of the international tennis championships at The Hague today, defeating Timmer, the Dutch star, 6-0, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4. It is reported here that the International Lawn Tennis federation has agreed to recognize the tournament as a substitute for the Olympic championships, so there is a possibility of the New Yorker winning the world title.

Boyd and Robson, the Argentine pair, eliminated Hunter and Timmer in the men's doubles, semi-final round, 6-2, 1-6, 2-6, 8-6, 6-3.
