Those found guilty today with Mayor Thompson were George F. Harding, former county treasurer, Percy V. Coffin, real estate man, Michael Faherty, president of the board of local improvements and Edward Waller, real estate expert.

RAILROAD CAMP TO BE AT KENO

Weyerhaeuser lumber company will establish a camp of about 50 men in the vicinity of Keno around the Fourth of July. It was announced last night by officials of the company.

No men are needed, the officials announced, to fill out the quota, as contractors will be employed in the work, and the contractors selected have full crews.

At present, work on clearing right-of-way is progressing rapidly, but no grade has been put up as yet.

The new camp will do grading only, it was announced. No track will be laid until later in the season. The company expects to extend its logging line to Spencer creek this year, it was announced.

Suggest Change In Market Road Line

J. Taylor and W. Moore, of Poe Valley, and A. M. Thomas of Klamath Falls were conferring with County Judge F. R. Goddard and Commissioner Short yesterday concerning the routing of the Poe Valley-Malin market road.

It is the contention of the three men that the road can be routed in a more satisfactory manner than the present survey. The court has taken the matter under advisement, and will confer with other residents of the Poe Valley and Malin districts to see if the proposed alteration meets with the approval of the majority.

Bremen Completes Circle Of Globe; Wildly Feted

BERLIN, June 20. (UP)—On Templehof field, from which they started for Ireland three months ago on a trans-Atlantic flight, the crew of the monoplane Bremen landed today before a frenzied crowd of two hundred thousand persons.

They had flown from Bremen and halted at Newburgh after which they took wing to the capital escorted by a squadron of airplanes.

When the machine bearing the fliers—Captain Hermann Koehl, Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld and the Irishman, Major James Fitzmaurice—appeared in the sky—forty airplanes leaped off the field and flew out to meet them. Other airplanes circled about.

TWO DEAD IN SOUTHWEST STORM AREAS

Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma Most Severely Stricken; Transportation Crippled

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 20. (UP)—Southwestern states were apprehensive tonight as reports from tornado stricken sections brought the death toll to 12.

Wind storms, tornadoes, and cyclones that ripped through Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma continued today and threats of floods added to the danger of storms in other sections.

According to reports received at Burbank, Okla., a Mrs. Harrison and her baby were killed by falling debris in a tornado that struck Webb City early today.

One child was killed, one man was injured seriously and 16 others suffered minor injuries when a twister demolished the home of Joe McKibben, two miles east of South Coffeyville, Okla., today. The child, Barbara Ewing, four months old, suffered a fractured skull. The baby's (Continued on Page Six)

Two Killed, Three Wounded in Slav Parliament Row

VIENNA, June 20. (UP)—A clash between government and opposition parties in the Yugoslavian parliament, following a filibuster by the opposition, resulted today in the killing of Paul Raditch, president of the Croatian peasant's party, and deputy Bapsarick, secretary of the party by the radical deputy Ronica Raditch.

Several other Croatian and Serbian deputies were wounded, including Sephan Raditch, a brother of the president of the Peasant party, and deputies Granja, Jelatch and Pernar.

When the chamber of deputies reassembled today there was an exchange of bitter words between Ronica Raditch and Pernar, vice-president of the Croatian peasant's party. Then Raditch drew a revolver. Dr. Bapsarick intervened, but the radical deputy cried:

"I'll kill any one who comes between me and Pernar."

Then he began shooting. Bapsarick was killed instantly. Paul Raditch vainly sought to save his brother, Stephan, when the radical turned the revolver on Stephan. Paul sprang forward and received the bullet in his own breast. He died on the way to the hospital.

A third shot entered Stephan's abdomen, seriously wounding him.

The assassin escaped in an automobile but later surrendered to the police.

King Alexander hurried to the hospital with his own private physician and stood by as the physician removed the bullet from Stephan Raditch's abdomen. The deputy's condition was declared serious but not critical.

The entire city of Zagreb went into mourning for the dead Croatian leader. Shops were closed and draped in black.

Buy New Gowns; Longs for Former Lowly Position; Pilots Slumber

LONDON, June 20 (UP)—Miss Amelia Earhart laid aside her borrowed clothes tonight and donned a newly purchased party frock. The first woman to fly the Atlantic ocean was attending a dance at the embassy club and no woman—not even a famous one who prefers aviation a sociology to parties—finds a new gown distasteful.

Miss Earhart announced that she would sail for New York within a week and would not visit the continent.

New York Officer Dislikes Divorce; Placed In Bastille

RENO, Nevada, June 20. (UP)—Samuel S. Lippert, chief record clerk of the registrar's office of New York county, New York, was placed in jail for contempt of court here tonight after he had energetically but unsuccessfully contested his wife's divorce suit.

"Nevada divorce laws are a menace to the citizens of the country," Lippert, who is also a member of the New York bar, said while addressing Judge Geo. E. Bartlett, before whom the trial was held.

The eastern official was arrested on affidavits of his wife's attorney, who claimed Lippert planned to leave Reno immediately without paying $300 attorney's fees and $100 alimony for his two children as the court had ordered. His bail was fixed at $400 and he was assigned a cell when he failed to pay it.

DEMOCRATS WORRY OVER PROHIBITION AT HOUSTON MEET

HOUSTON, Tex., June 20. (UP)—Only one thing really worries democratic leaders assembling here for their national convention—the fear of an outbreak of tempers over prohibition.

Everything else, they feel, is adjusting itself naturally.

The nomination of Governor Smith, most of them believe, will come not later than the second or third ballot. Smith forces dominating the convention are prepared to do anything to promote harmony over naming the vice-presidential candidate.

Farm relief, it is expected, will be dealt with in a plank which will go farther than the republicans did at Kansas City. The McNary-Haugen equalization fee plan will not be named, but the plank will be drafted to cover the object sought in that bill without committing the party specifically to this particular form of machinery.

A proposal for any extra session to deal with farm relief is urged by some democratic leaders such as Representative Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, a democratic presidential candidate. The party is almost certain to promise an extra session.

One trend, unusual for a democratic convention, is the disposition to go lightly on tariff revision. Certain revisions, to equalize industry and agriculture and to eliminate special instances of favoritism will be urged. But on the whole, the democratic party is, for this year at least, drifting away from its former ideal of free trade. It is leaning strongly toward a species of mod- (Continued on Page Six)

Talking Picture Hailed as Help Further Growth

HOLLYWOOD, June 20. (UP)—The "talking" picture, enigma of the film world, is welcomed by producers as an aid to further promotion of the industry. Will Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., told his board of directors in New York today.

In the report, given out by the association's local office, Hays declared "the 'talkie' will not hinder progress already made any more than radio abolished newspapers, phonographs ended symphony concerts or automobiles wiped out railroads."

The industry, Hays' report continued, was never more ready for new developments nor in as good shape in the way of personnel and resources than it is today. It declared the interests of other industries are so inter-related with the motion picture business as to create identical objectives. Investments were estimated at $2,000,000,000.

Hays declared there is no foreign invasion by American films and said American pictures go abroad by invitation.

"The people of the world want them, despite activities of foreign governments to lessen effectiveness of the American film industry by practically subsidizing indigenous film production," Hays told his directors.

Eugene O'Neill's Wife To Sue for Divorce In Reno

NEW YORK, June 20. (UP)—The New York Daily News tonight published a copyrighted story asserting that Mrs. Eugene O'Neill, wife of the playwright, will go to Reno, Nev., to file suit for divorce in the immediate future.

Mrs. O'Neill, the story said, announced that all questions of financial support and custody of their two children had been settled. Divorce will be asked on grounds of desertion and incompatibility, she said.

According to the News' story, O'Neill is in France, where the name of Charlotte Monterey, a former film beauty, has been linked with that of the famous author.

Here Is Your Hat; What's Your Hurry

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 20. (UP)—When his guests refused to heed his announcement that the party was over and that he wished to retire for the night, J. Villabobas hailed out a six-shooter and a shotgun and broke up the party in true western style. Three of the guests were slightly wounded in the hurried exodus that followed. The late host disappeared after the shooting.

LOGGING TRAIN IN BIG CRASH BEYOND OLENE

Five Cars Derailed, Two Overturned; Wrecking Crew Summoned

Five cars of logs left the rails, and two cars turned completely over when the afternoon logger of the Oregon California and Eastern railway wrecked yesterday afternoon at Pine Flat, three miles the other side of Olene, near the Klamath Falls-Lakeview highway.

No one was hurt. The first car to leave the rails was four cars behind the engine. It was thought that a spreading rail caused the car to jump the track, but first hand information was lacking as officials of the road were at the scene of the accident until a late hour last night. Four cars in succession after the first then left the rails, two of them turning completely over.

The engine stayed on the track, and came on into Klamath Falls, returning with a wrecking crew, which at an early hour this morning was engaged in getting the cars back on the track and repairing the damaged roadbed.

The train consisted of 20 cars of logs and a caboose.

Mrs. Glab Charged With Slaying of Chicago Druggist

LOS ANGELES, June 20. (UP)—Mrs. Hazel Glab and her 17-year-old niece, Miss Ethel O. Kaser, were charged with first degree murder of the former's husband, John I. Glab, wealthy Chicago druggist, in a complaint issued by the district attorney's office late today.

The case will not be taken before the grand jury, deputy district attorney Clifford Thomas announced. He said the women would probably be arraigned tomorrow and that immediate trial would be sought.

The action came after a coroner's jury had failed to penetrate the mystery surrounding the slaying of Glab as he stepped into his automobile at his Van Nuys home late Monday night.

After a brief consideration of evidence, the jury found that he died of a gunshot wound inflicted by "parties unknown."

Suspicion was first levelled at Mrs. Glab when a neighbor, Mrs. J. Goodrich, told officers she saw a "woman in white" leave the automobile and run into the Glab home a few seconds after the fatal shot was fired.

Major Maddalena Unable To Land; Sees No Sign of Amundsen; Attention of Relief Expeditions Turned to Search for Explorer; Braganza Sends Shore Party

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 30. (UP)—General Umberto Nobile and five of the crew of the lost dirigible Italia, were found on an ice floe today by Major Maddalena, Italian aviator. He dropped them guns, ammunition, food, and cigarettes, while the castaways danced joyfully about their desolate encampment. Maddalena was unable to make a landing.

This first relief for the Italian explorers came 26 days after their dirigible, returning from a flight over the North Pole, and weighted with ice, suddenly descended, smashed the gondola in which Nobile and eight of his crew were riding, and carried the remainder in the unmanageable balloon northward before a gale.

Major Maddalena said Roald Amundsen, South Pole discoverer who left Tromsø Monday afternoon with Major Rene Guilbaud in a French Latham seaplane to search for Nobile was not at the encampment. No word had come from Amundsen since his departure with sufficient fuel for an 18-hour flight, and it was believed he might have found Nobile and landed nearby.

Grave fears were felt tonight for Amundsen's safety, especially (Continued on Page Five)

Richfield Concern Acquires Stock in Pan American Co.

LOS ANGELES, June 20. (UP) The Richfield Oil company of California tonight announced acquisition of all outstanding voting stock in the Pan-American Western Petroleum Securities company and Edward L. Doheny.

In addition the Richfield company purchased all of the crude and refined products, distributing facilities, steel and concrete storage, service stations and tank steamers owned and operated by the Petroleum Securities company.

Richfield announced a contract with Petroleum Securities and Doheny for the latter's entire production of crude oil for a period of ten years. "The deal was at current posted market price and included a contract for the entire output of casinghead gasoline."

In addition to the voting, or "A" stock, Richfield acquired a substantial block of Pan-American "B" shares, the announcement said. In the near future Richfield will submit a proposal for exchange of its shares for the balance of Pan-American "B."

Richfield also purchased the physical properties, including marine terminal and distributing facilities, of the Pacific Petroleum Products company on San Francisco bay.

The transaction resulted in the retirement of Petroleum Securities company, Pacific Petroleum Products company and the Doheny interests from the refining and marketing of petroleum products on the west coast.

It was expected Richfield's crude oil production, with the addition of that contracted for, would be 55,000 barrels daily.

Young Director Defies Advice Of Older Heads

HOLLYWOOD, June 20. (UP) In the fact of Wall street's clamor that extravagance in film making must cease, Howard Hughes, a 23-year-old Houston, Texas, youth, has passed the $1,500,000 mark in production of "Hell's Angels," his drama of war in the air.

About the time old established executives launched their now famous economy campaign, Hughes entered the movie business and began production on an extravagant scale.

The film career of the youth, whose income is reported as $15,000 a day, is a testimonial to one who refused to allow wealth to kill ambition. The belief that "it takes money to make money," ran true in Hughes' case. He inherited the Hughes Tool company, manufacturers of oil drilling equipment, from his father, and the millions paved the way to Hollywood's financial inner circle.

Calloused old executives shook their heads as Hughes threw his money into production. First came "Two Arabian Nights," co-starring William Boyd and the ugly Louis Wolheim. Hollywood says the picture cost too much, but it was a success from both box office and entertainment standpoints.

Next followed Thomas Meighan's new vehicle, "The Racket," from the stage success, which (Continued on Page Four)
