

Cards Beat Reds, Gain Half Game In Pennant Race

By United Press
Connie Mack's Athletics won the final game of the series with the New York Yankees, 4 to 3, Wednesday, and now trail the American League leaders by one and one-half games.

In the National League the St. Louis Cardinals gained a half game on the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1, while the Giants and Cubs were idle. The Cardinals now have a three-game lead in the pennant race.

The Brooklyn Robins collected 17 hits off three Philadelphia pitchers to win a 6 to 1 contest from the Philadelphia Phillies.

The double-header between the New York Giants and the Boston Braves, the only other games scheduled, was postponed on account of rain.

ROBERTO GODFREY MATCHED
NEW YORK, Sept. 11. (UP)—Roberto Godfrey, one of the leading contenders for the title vacated by Gene Tunney, and George Godfrey, colored possibility for the heavyweight crown, have been matched to fight 10 rounds as the feature attraction October 3 at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn.

Athletics Win From Yankees, Bishop's Homer in Tie Factor

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Sept. 12. (UP)—Connie Mack and his ambitious Philadelphia Athletics turned the tables on the New York Yankees here this afternoon and won the fourth game of their critical baseball series for the American League leadership. The score was 4 to 3.

The Athletics won one game and lost three in the four-game series and are now one and one-half games behind the Yankees.

Homer Decides Game
Today's game, like two previous games in this series, was decided by a home run, this time by Max Bishop, Athletics' second baseman, who drove the ball into the right field bleachers in the first half of the ninth inning, with none on base and the score tied at 3 to 3.

The two teams now swing into the west to finish the season, with the American League championship to be decided on the basis of their showing in the remaining games against other teams.

Ideal Weather
The game today was played under ideal weather conditions and 40,000 fans were in the stands.

Connie Mack sent the veteran Elmer to the mound and Miller Huggins called on Waite Hoyt, mainstay of the Yankees staff since the injury suffered by Herb Pennock. Tony Lazzeri, although still suffering from an arm injury, was at second base for the Yankees.

Orwell Replaces Elmer
In the eighth inning with a one run lead, Elmer weakened and was replaced by Orwell, who was credited with the win. Something went wrong with Elmer's right knee and he had difficulty in standing on the mound. In this inning the Yankees missed a golden opportunity to win the game. Combs was safe on an infield hit and Koenig singled, but Combs was out in attempting to reach second. Ruth was walked, and Menzel was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Orwell was then rushed to the mound and walked Lazzeri on four straight balls, forcing in Koenig with the tying run. Gazzella then batted for Robertson, and filed out to Haas.

Walberg Goes In
In the ninth inning, Mack sent Rube Walberg to the mound. Walberg had previously suffered defeat in the second game of the double-header Sunday, but today his effectiveness returned and with a one run lead, resulting from Bishop's homer, he was never in trouble. Collins walked but Durocher, Combs and Koenig were retired in order, giving the Athletics the 4 to 3 victory.

Today's game closed the Yankees' season at the stadium. Both clubs swing through the west and only meet once more this year, that being in Philadelphia.

Five ex-champions hit the dirt and the champion himself was carried to an extra hole before he escaped the devastation which swept like wildfire through the national amateur championship, leaving in its wake the mangled bodies rode roughshod over the field.

Through the mud and gloom of a rainy September evening, Bobby Jones went out to keep the catastrophe from being complete and by the margin of a single stroke staved off defeat at the hands of a golfer heretofore unknown to fame, Ray Gorton, the local club champion.

But before Bobby had snatched one brand from the hobnob, six seeded players, selected by the U. S. G. A., had gone down to defeat and every former title holder of the five who qualified for match play had been eliminated.

Dr. Willing in Quarter Finals In Golf Tourney

BRAE BURN COUNTRY CLUB, West Newton, Mass., Sept. 12. (UP)—Dark deeds were done this day at Brae Burn and horses rode roughshod over the field.

Five ex-champions hit the dirt and the champion himself was carried to an extra hole before he escaped the devastation which swept like wildfire through the national amateur championship, leaving in its wake the mangled bodies rode roughshod over the field.

Through the mud and gloom of a rainy September evening, Bobby Jones went out to keep the catastrophe from being complete and by the margin of a single stroke staved off defeat at the hands of a golfer heretofore unknown to fame, Ray Gorton, the local club champion.

Survivors Listed
The survivors at the end of the day were as follows: Bobby Jones, the champion, who defeated J. Walcott Brown, of Spring Lake, 1 and 2, in the first round, and nosed out Ray Gorton of Brae Burn, 1 up in 13 holes, in the second. George Voigt, the medalist, the fighting golfer from North Hills, who topped off his morning victory over Billy McPhail at 3 and 2 by defeating the popular favorite, Jess Sweetser, 3 and 2, in the afternoon.

Willing Wins
Dr. O. F. Willing, of Weaverville, Ore., who flashed some of the greatest golf of the championship in beating Watts Gunn, 4 and 5, and Elstace Storey, of Great Britain, 6 and 4.

Harrison R. Johnston, of Minneapolis, who downed T. Saffern Tauler, Jr., 2 and 1, and eliminated young George Dunlap, the blond kid from New Hampshire 3 and 2.

John D. Beck, of the British Walker Cup team, who came through with victories over Rudy Knepper, 4 and 3, and C. Ross Somerville of Canada, 1 up.

Moe Defeated
Johnny Dawson, Chicago dark horse, who put old Chick Evans by 2 and 1 in the first round and Fred Wright, Jr., by 3 and 2 in the second.

T. Phillip Perkins, the British amateur champion who defeated Don K. Moe of Oregon at the 22nd hole in the morning and then beat Ducky Yates, who had eliminated George Von Elm,

POUNDS WALLS

Hogan Has Hit at Terrible Clip for Giants All Season.

When Frank "Shaky" Hogan leans against the horseshoe you can rest assured that the ball is going to travel. The young catcher of the New York Giants is one of the biggest men in baseball and has established himself as a terrible hitter this year.

His batting has been one of the big factors in the play of the Giants this season. He was hitting about 340 when the Giants started the last month of the baseball year.

So much for the sort of facts. The day was abuzz with dramatic incidents from the moment in the morning when George Von Elm, foreing a smile, hid to shake hands with "Ducks" Yates and admit defeat on the sixteenth green, right on the hill top, until the climax in the rain of evening when Ray Gorton, thrust into a national prominence he hadn't anticipated, sliced an iron shot wildly into the woods at the 19th hole, and capitulated to Bobby Jones.

American Stars Win Tennis Honors

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12. (UP)—American tennis stars carried off the majority of honors in the national singles championships today in a dramatic third round which saw three Frenchmen eliminated and Henri Cochet, outstanding favorite, forced to the very limit in win.

Phila. Mercury, former Lehigh university star who defeated "Big Bill" Tilden at Bye, N. Y., in Tilden's last match as an amateur, almost created another amazing upset when he carried Cochet through four grueling sets before the fiery Frenchman won, 4-6, 11-9, 6-4, 6-4.

Nat. still darkness crept over the court was the hero of the Davis cup challenger able to subdue the 15th ranking player of the United States.

When Marcur won the first set from Cochet, it was the first time in the tournament the Frenchman had dropped a set. The Bethlehem, Pa., boy was twice in the 11th game within a point of taking the second set, but Cochet called upon every shot at his disposal and finally won the set after 29 of the hardest fought games thus far in the tournament.

Shortly before Marcur's gallant but losing fight against Cochet, Francis T. Hunter, No. 2 in the American list, scored the greatest victory of his career in defeating Jean Borotra, No. 3 in the world.

"Not a cough in a Film-ful"

says Norma Talmadge after the Blindfold Test

"When you see my new United Artists' picture, 'The Woman Disputed,' you will notice that I smoke cigarettes in several scenes.

"Not wanting to show partiality to any one of the four leading brands, I decided to make my choice via the blindfold test, which I had heard of many times. Happily, I picked Old Golds.

"I found them smooth, mild and delightfully cool. . . . Hereafter, when I am required to smoke I shall naturally insist on Old Golds. There's not a cough in a film-ful!"

Norma Talmadge

THE INCOMPARABLE NORMA... one to the best loved actresses in the history of the screen... famous for her roles in "Camille" and "Kiki."

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant... that's the reason for their honey-like smoothness... and that's why you can pick them with your eyes closed.
