

Beitzel to Hang, Not First Time. For Neck to Snap

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20. (UP) Russell S. Beitzel, former Philadelphia engineer, who today was found guilty of the murder of his sweetheart, Barbara Mauer, tonight was unworried.

When the jury returned a verdict of guilty of first degree murder without recommendation, making the death penalty mandatory, Beitzel asked: "Hanging?" His attorney nodded.

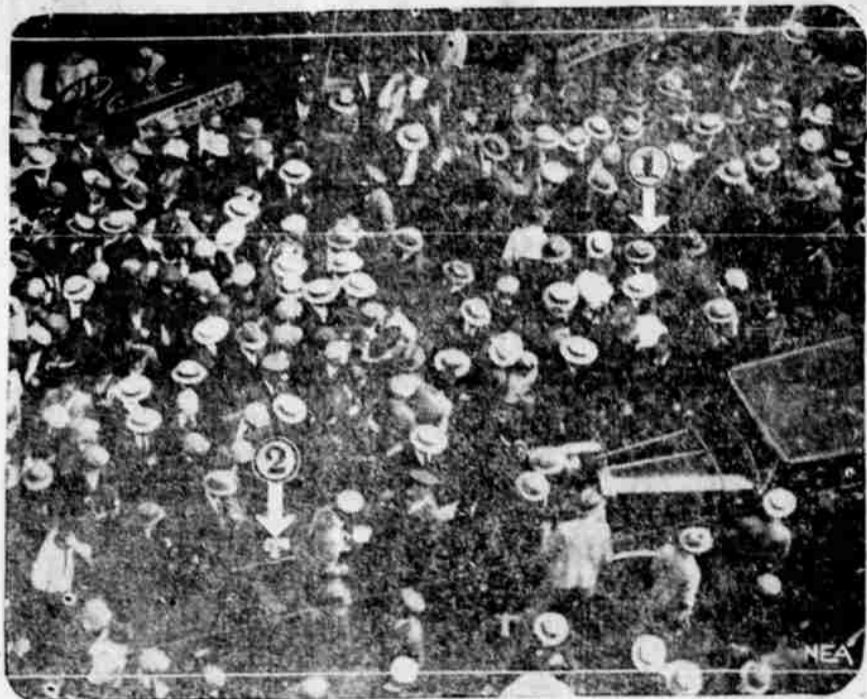

"Well," said the condemned man, "it won't be the first time I've had my neck broken."

He then explained to reporters he had sustained a broken neck in an airplane accident in 1921 when he was a naval aviator. His was said to be one of the few cases of recovery on record.

Beitzel will make a decision before 10 a. m. Friday on a second hope of escaping the gallows.

He pleaded not guilty, and not guilty by reason of insanity. He still has opportunity for a sanity hearing and attorneys said a decision on whether he would stand trial a second time would be made Friday.

Tony Lombardo, Capone's Lieutenant, Shot Down

Before ambulances arrived to take away the dead and wounded men, a photographer for NEA Service and the Klamath News was at the scene of the racketeer murder of Tony Lombardo, a lieutenant of Al Capone, Chicago's gang chief, at Madison and Clark streets, Chicago, one block from "the world's busiest corner," and in the heart of the loop district. In the remarkable picture above, arrow No. 1 points to Lombardo's body, lying on the sidewalk with spectators circled around it. Arrow No. 2 points to Lombardo's bodyguard, Tony Ferrea, who was wounded, and who lies in the street behind the mounted policeman's horse. Lombardo, active in the Chicago alcohol racket, wore a belt buckle studded with 41 diamonds; in his pockets was found $2677 in $25, $50.

Al Smith Attacks Whisper Campaign

against him, the democratic candidate declared, "discloses such activity" on the part of those promoting it "as to constitute in my opinion a menace" "not alone to the party but to the country itself."

"There is abundant reason," he said, "for believing that republicans high in the councils of the party have countenanced a large part of this form of campaign if they have not actually promoted it."

"A sin of omission is sometimes as grievous as a sin of commission. They may, through official spokesmen, disclaim as much as they please, responsibility for dragging into a national campaign the question of religion, something that, according to our constitution, our history and traditions has no part in any campaign for public office."

Mrs. Willenbrandt Hit

They have at least remained silent, he added, on "the exhibition that Mrs. Willenbrandt made of herself before the Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal church." Her appeal to the 2,000 ministers to swing their 600,000 members against him, he declared, "is dishonest campaigning."

"It is un-American. It is out of line with the whole tradition and history of this government, and, to my way of thinking, it is itself sufficient to hold us up to the scorn of the thinking people of other nations."

Quota for Local Red Cross $500

The heavy demands being made upon the American Red Cross at the present time on account of the coastal storms and the middle-west disaster is evidenced in a telegram received yesterday by George Walton, secretary of the local Red Cross organization, which reads:

"Latest reports from Porto Rico, Virgin Islands and Florida indicate increased demands upon Red Cross for both emergency relief and permanent rehabilitation. Impossible to state exact amount needed, but total will be very large. Suggest goal of your chapter be $500. West Indies and Florida disaster relief will be handled from one fund. National Red Cross already sending $50,000 worth of foodstuffs to Porto Rico."

(Signed) "J. Arthur Jeffries."

Walton stated that plans for the local chapter have not been organized as yet, but expects to be able to announce them at an early date. He said that any contributions will be gladly received and forwarded at once to headquarters.

H. S. Girls Given Physical Tests

Girls in Klamath Union high school taking physical education yesterday underwent a test for lung and heart trouble. Only an occasional weak heart was found, according to Miss Hazel H. McClelland, county health nurse, who with Dr. G. S. Newsum, county health officer conducted the test.

Miss Margaret Jewel, instructor in physical education, aided in giving the tests for athletic fitness, which included posture and general tests in addition to the heart and lung examination.

The tests were made in order that those who are not able to participate because of a slight physical handicap may not be forced to permanently injure themselves. Corrective exercises will be given where they will benefit the students.

Deer Shot Many Times Fails To Fall, Hunters Investigate

Bang! Bang! Bang!

"What's the matter? That's the first deer that I ever saw that wouldn't fall when he was shot, and I know that I hit him because my gun is empty. He doesn't even jump!"

That might be the conversation of several hunters who visited the Green Springs Mountain district in quest of venison the past few days.

At least hunters who were in that vicinity yesterday had that experience.

A further investigation revealed that a practical joker had planted a stuffed and mounted deer in the forest to fool anxious hunters.

A magnificent four-point buck, standing with head erect, eyes and nostrils dilated, and doing nothing but standing. His feet are securely planted on a large board stand. His body is riddled with bullets. He was killed—but long ago. Now he is only a bunker for ammunition.

The plans will soon be completed and submitted to the city council. It is planned to complete the work this fall.

Hamilton, owner of Buck Island, is suing the power company for $25,000 for damage he alleges to have been sustained to his property by reason of the power company's control of the level of upper Klamath lake.

Horse Carries Lost Hunter to Camp of Friends

Mounted on an old mare, which he caught while wandering through the dense forest of the Pookama country, lost from a hunting party, only to be led into the camp of his aunt, M. W. Paul Johnson was the experience of Emmett North, son of Mrs. Edward Probst of this city.

North, with a party of hunters was in search of deer, when he became separated from his party. With no conception of directions he wandered for hours through the mountains more than eight miles from his camp.

Finally he saw some old horses running wild in the woods. With some little coaxing he was able to catch one of the animals. He mounted the mare, hung onto its mane and trusted to luck.

The horse carried him for eight miles through the forest. In the distance North could see a camp fire, he could smell the coffee and bacon. His spirits were lifted.

"Yes, I was mighty happy to see my aunt, but happier still to get food," North commented.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Johnson, their son, Freddie Blehn and Mr. and Mrs. Kay Tattow had made camp for the night. It was their camp which North was led to.

Court House to Have New Roof

An application for permit to re-roof the county court house was yesterday filed in the office of the city recorder.

Construction on the job started yesterday, with large pieces of the present roof hurtling down over the eaves past office windows and landing with loud thumps and clatters on the ground below.

The Tacoma municipal power plant sells electricity for about 1.3 cents per kilowatt hour.

Copco Reduces Electric Rates

top rate has been 10 cents a kilowatt hour or higher.

The new Commercial Lighting schedule applicable in Oregon towns is as follows:

Schedule P

RATE:

First 50 hours used per month of the consumer's active load will be at primary rate. All additional use will be at the secondary rate.

PRIMARY RATE:

First 100 kilowatt hours, each .05

Excess, per kilowatt hour .07

SECONDARY RATE:

First 150 kilowatt hours, each .07

Next 250 kilowatt hours, .05

Next 400 kilowatt hours, .03

Next 700 kilowatt hours, .02

Excess per kilowatt hour .01 1/2

MINIMUM:

No monthly bill shall be less than $1.00 plus 10 cents for each 100 watts or major fraction thereof, of active load in excess of 500 watts.

This rate also represents a considerable reduction under the old schedule which it supercedes.

Discussing the new rate schedules, Mr. Crawford said:

"In establishing these new and lower rates, which are applicable in all communities served, we are simply following our usual policy of reducing rates wherever possible for the benefit of our customers, and to encourage the greater use of electricity for domestic and commercial uses. The new rates have been approved by the proper authorities in both California and Oregon, and will become effective on October 1."
