W. S. C. Wins Game From Oregon State Grid Team 9 to 7

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 20. (UP)—Outplayed in the first half, Washington State college came from behind here this afternoon to defeat the Oregon Aggies 9 to 7. In one of the most thrilling encounters seen on Rogers field in several seasons.
It was the annual "home coming" contest for the Cougars, and was witnessed by more than 19,000 persons.
It was a ferocious, biting and tearing game that took the field in the third period after being badly outplayed by the visitors in the second. Led by a slight but scintillating reserve back, Don McDonald, who ripped off yardage every time he was given the ball, the Washington State pack garnered one touchdown by straight football, and came back early in the fourth period with a place kick by Lainehart, to gain a two-point lead.
Oregon's passing attack, executed by Maple, quarter, and Whitlock, end, was a constant threat, and earned the Beavers their first touchdown. A 25-yard pass in the second quarter by Maple to Sherwood, half, after the wily Oregon quarter had drawn almost the entire W.S.C. team behind the receiver, netted the losers their touchdown. Sherwood running about 20 yards with perfect interference to the goal line.
Again in the final period, Oregon State's passing attack came near resulting in another touchdown. It remained for Teddy Rohwer, Cougar quarter, to intercept a Maple pass deep in W.S.C. territory and probably save the day for the Cougars.

For Second Time In History Bears Tie U.S.C. Team 0-0

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 20. (UP)—For the second time in history of Pacific coast football conflicts, the University of California and the University of Southern California battled to a scoreless tie in their annual contest here today.
Back in 1915 the Trojans and the Golden Bears failed to score. The toe of Bennie Lom, star California halfback, staved off defeat as the University of Southern California backs outplayed the Bears throughout.
Time after time, Southern California marched down the field with powerful line plunges and clever end runs only to have Lom's boot wipe out their gains.
The Trojans made 14 downs against four for the Bears but couldn't get inside of the California 20-yard line, while the Bears were credited with two offensives which might have been turned into points with a little more power.
The last five minutes of the game brought the 80,000 spectators to their feet as each of the two teams made valiant but vain attempts to score.
