'Power Farm' Meet To Open Today at Liberty Theatre

Keen interest is being shown among ranchers of Klamath county in the "Power Farming School," to be held today in this city under the direction of J. W. Kerns.

Motion pictures, lectures and actual demonstrations of the use of tractors and power farming machinery will be featured at the school.

Sessions will be held both morning and afternoon at the Liberty theatre.

Through the cooperation of the Runley Tractor company, Mr. Kerns is in a position to offer these instructions to the farmers of Klamath county.

During the morning session, pictures will be shown. The program will open at 10 o'clock.

At one o'clock additional pictures will be shown. In the late afternoon around 4 o'clock the guests will be asked to adjourn to Kerns warehouse on South Sixth street for the demonstration of power farming equipment.

No admission will be charged to the school session. Interesting lectures will accompany the pictures.

Sportsmen Oppose 'One-Deer' Limit

Klamath sportsmen are opposed to any change in the deer season or in the limit for deer for the reason that the animals are increasing in Klamath woods and do not need additional protection.

This in substance, was the content of a resolution which was passed Monday night by the association and sent to the state legislature which is now considering a law designed to shorten the season ten days and reduce the limit to one buck each season.

J. Duke, president of the Oregon Bank and Trust company, and Marion J. Barnes, district game warden, were named as a committee to petition the game commission for permission to trap Hungarian partridges in counties where they are plentiful and transplant them to the Klamath country.

The trapping, it was pointed out, must be done during the period of snow.
