BIBLE SELECTION AND PRAYER

February 21, 1929

EXHORTATION—Sing unto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for He hath delivered the soul of the poor from the hand of evil doers.—Jeremiah 29:12.

PRAYER—"Come, we that love the Lord, and let our joys be known."

UNIFORM THE BOYS

The high school has a band—a good band. This year the musical director has done great work with the organization of youngsters and he now steps out with his produce to receive the praise or criticisms that always follows. "We can think of nothing but praise for the High School Band. We believe it is an institution that will be of value to this community, and the movement on the part of the Lions club to uniform the band members is most highly commendable. That the Lions are meeting with excellent success is refreshing and pleasant to know. During the summer season when the band is at its best, the general community will then appreciate what the boys have been doing all winter and what the musical instructor has done in the way of bringing a musical organization that is badly needed in the city.

CRATER LAKE AVENUE

Public approval will be voiced over the naming of the street leading north to the state highway, "Crater Lake Avenue." It is a fine thought and henceforth this name should be made permanent and lasting. No city in the country has so much right to name a street after the marvelous beauty spot, and we say this with all due respect to Medford. Crater Lake is located in Klamath county. It is reached by the Klamath Falls gateway. Yes, Crater Lake is in fact a part of this community.

FORT KLAMATH FUN

People in Fort Klamath may be building wiser than they realize, for in establishing their winter sport carnival they are appealing to a large class of red blooded Americans up and down the Pacific coast who enjoy getting up where there is snow and ice; they enjoy the skiing and skating, they want to shake off the lethargy that a warm climate encourages and step out briskly for real fun. What a world! You wonder how a man so worthless got a wife like that, and why a man so able picked one of that kind.

A Mistaken Grand Duke, Happy Mule, The Reticulated Python, Optimistic Wall Street.

Copyright, 1929, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

GRAND DUKE CYRIL VLADIMIROVITCH, head of the Romanoff family, and luckily for him, outside of Russia, thinks he will be czar. He is mistaken, but his statement that he would keep the present bolshevik system of government, extending it to a "logical, constructive phase," is enlightening.

RELATIONS of the czar apparently have discovered that bolshevism, giving land instead of blots to the peasants, and education instead of ignorance to the masses of Russia, interests Russians.

JUST now Russia is more interested in the question: "What happened to Trotsky?" than in any visionary grand duke's plans. Whether Trotsky has been "suppressed" or what has happened to him nobody knows.

It is dangerous for a deposed revolutionary leader to disagree with those in power.

"HONEST BEN," a mule, having worked many years for the city of Atlanta, now old and feeble, was to be slaughtered and fed to lions in the zoo.

Atlanta's kind hearted mayor, Ragsdale, will buy the mule, and pension him.

A kind thought. Many an old man that cannot be fed to the lions, because tender hearted laws forbid it, while they don't forbid old men and women to worry themselves to death, might almost wish they were deserving mules.

A young Chicagoan, formerly a reporter at $18 a week, suddenly heir to a fortune of $1,000 a day, has decided now to spend his money.

He will go to Borneo, hunting for a "perfect specimen of the reticulated python," biggest reptile known to man. He takes a scientific expedition with him, and his time will not be wasted.

HOW many things could other young men think of if they had $1,000 a day, leaving the reticulated python to his own devices?

commercialized. For this very reason Fort Klamath's winter carnival is slated to last and be an annual event of considerable proportion.

At the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday the story was told of the fun slated at the Fort, and it was told in a graphic, enthusiastic manner. The chairman was Lindsey Sizemore who loves the Fort Klamath country and incidentally he gave members of the chamber some idea of the remarkable resources of the upper section of this county.

Women may be equal, but a man doesn't persuade some friends to go with him to the barber shop.

And yet, Alas! the metropolitan who boasts of the superiority of city men can name only one.

Age has compensations. You feel no urge to go bare-headed or wear floppy pants.

If only the intelligentsia would say or do something to prove its superiority instead of just registering scorn.

War has its insect pests, and peace has its critics who knock every show in an effort to seem fed-up and superior.

What a world! You wonder how a man so worthless got a wife like that, and why a man so able picked one of that kind.

ANOTHER week opening funds Wall Street refusing to be scared to death. Speculators are like "old dog trees, ever faithful." Grief cannot drive them away.

Jack up the interest rate, and still they say, "I think stocks are going to be worth more, and so I am going to buy them." The prices lifted up their little heads as soon as the market opened, and kept them up.

ONE comforting fact for gentlemen that speculate in stocks, and paying ten, twelve and more per cent for money. Federal reserve bank in 1928 made a net profit of $41,622,000, or $21,000,000 more than in 1927. It seems only reasonable that the federal reserve bank, efficient in putting up interest rates, should get a good share of the profit.

CLARENCE DARRROW, able lawyer, says the crime wave is due to "the curb on liberty."

Lack of liberty may distress some, not many. Bootlegging, turning over to criminals hundreds of millions formerly collected by the government on sales of alcoholic drink, makes crime profitable. And that's what accounts for the crime wave. A man that once, with difficulty, earned $5 a day now earns $500 or $5,000 a day, easily, if willing to take a risk.

DR. OSBALDESTON, veteran of the Crimean war, nearly 100 years old, decided that life wasn't worth while and killed himself.

As a preliminary the old man went shopping, for a cheap funeral. He had to spend only $100, was willing to accept a coffin of plain boards, but nobody would bury him for so little.

WHEN everything else has been investigated, it might be worth while to investigate the high cost of dyne.

MANY a widow finds herself poor and in debt after paying for a husband's funeral. Thinking it a disgrace to question prices, where the loved one is concerned, women often pay $500 for a coffin that cost the undertaker $50. And they hire long strings of automobiles that the corpse does not need.

MANY women are in the British parliament. One hundred more of them will run for parliament presently seven of them with titles of nobility. Here we only have three women in congress, able women all three, but not enough.

PLEASANT news is the announced discovery of potato beds in Texas and New Mexico. The beds said to equal in quality German potato deposits, cover 25,000 square miles. Let us hope it will be possible to let farmers have some of that fertilizing material at a fair profit to those that dig it.

DEATHS

DR. T. C. CAMPBELL. Friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral services for the late Dr. Thomas Chambers Campbell to be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Earl Whitlock funeral home, Pine avenue at Sixth, with Rev. J. Henry Thomas, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiating. Commitment services will be held and interment made in the family plot at Monmouth, Oregon, Friday. The remains will repose in state in the gold room of the Earl Whitlock funeral home from 10 o'clock a. m. until 1 o'clock p. m. Thursday. Friends may call.

GASOLINE BURNS FATAL

REEDLEY, Cal., Feb. 20. (A. P.)—Ralph Hollis, 19, was burned to death by explosion of gasoline. Officials said he lighted a match while trying to pour gasoline into the family automobile from an open bucket.

Are You a Tree? "Have you ever thought of the difference between a tree and a post? It is only a matter of life. Plant a tree and it begins to grow. Set a post in the ground and it begins to decay. The tree lives, while the post dies." Bo a tree.

Diagnosis is easy. If the patient is perpendicular, his trouble is teeth; if he's horizontal, he's drunk.

A Klamath Falls girl who had been out riding with her sweetie said he was a very timid driver. All he did was just hug the curves in the road.

The chemist was becoming wearied. He had been explaining and pricing dozens of articles to the shopper, who didn't really want to buy anything at all. Finally she picked up a bottle.

"Is this pest exterminator reliable?" she asked. "How is it applied?" "You take a tablespoon every half hour, ma'am," the chemist replied with fiendish emphasis. No more questions were asked.

You may think you are firm but your wife knows you are only stubborn.

"Well, dearie, have it sent on approval and wear it tonight, and be careful. You can send it back tomorrow. Don't go back with it, put in a call in one of those high-tighty voices, and as long as you have a charge account they can't do anything about it."

"Isn't it the limit! the way those cheap clerks look at you just because you bring back something they think you've worn!"

Apparently the talking movies are to meet all the requirements of the legitimate stage except possibly the stage door possibilities after the show.

No man really enjoys work. When he gets up in the world, he gets up two hours later.

Little beams of moonshine. Little hugs and kisses. Make the pretty maiden. Change her name to Mrs.

A popular but secluded rendezvous was invaded by a man who seemed unusually excited. "Speed up friend," he told the bartender. "Give me a short before the trouble starts."

The bartender set out a glass of whiskey which was tossed off pronto. A second glass was demanded in the same excited manner and a third, and a fourth. As the fifth glass was set down, the bartender inquired, "What is the trouble that's going to start?"

"Oh, there'll be plenty," replied the customer. "I haven't any money to pay for these drinks!"

There wouldn't be much need of a farm relief if somebody would invent an automobile able to run on fodder.

In England they have luncheon club meetings twice weekly—once on Tuesday to tell American jokes, and Fridays to laugh at them.

"You never bring me candy like you used to before we were married."

"That's so; well, you never heard of a fisherman feeding bait to a fish after he had caught it, did you?"

Her Father—My boy, I like you, and I want you to marry my girl. But have you spoken to her mother about it?

Suitor—No, sir.

Her Father—Then, to make it a sure thing for you, I'll oppose the match.

"To him that hath shall be given and to him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath." And there's nothing that can be done about it.

An honest-to-goodness kiss: When a minister's son kisses a minister's daughter.

Sentimental writers tell us that the three most beautiful words in the world are: "I love you." However, to the growing boy of 10, "Dinner is ready" cannot be improved upon.

It's true that man is more courageous than woman, but he doesn't have half as much chance to show his backbone.

Americanism: Frantically yelling for the outlawry of war, feverishly recruiting cannon fodder for another one.

Money talks, and the fighter is the louder.

AT THE PINE TREE

Hollywood Dog Actor on Stage, and William Boyd.

"RINLO", Hollywood's Cleverest Dog

Rinlo, the wonder canine actor of Hollywood, who appears in person today, tomorrow and Saturday at the Pine Tree theatre with full picture programs. This marvellously trained dog, pal of Rin-Tin-Tin, who has played in many of that famous dog's pictures, is so well schooled he speaks, cries, whimpers and does actually act for you in the same way as before the camera. Rinlo will be shown today and tomorrow with the William Boyd Special, "The C.B."

TODAY IN KLAMATH'S THEATRES

At the Liberty A stretch of the very best riding ever seen is shown in the new Wally Wales feature which appears at the Liberty theatre today and tomorrow. "Gallop, Gallop" is its title and it is a picture to a tee.

In one sequence Wally overtakes three riders on horseback and overcomes them one at a time, and throwing them off their horses ties them to various trees so that the sheriff's posse which is about a mile back can pick them up as they go along.

For fast fighting and action it will be many a day before the silver screen has anything to offer quite as fascinating in its surplus of tense moments as Wally Wales in "Gallop, Gallop."

At the Pelican An Thriller DeLuxe

After seeing the air sequences in "The Air Circus" which opens today at the Pelican theatre it is easy to believe the advance press stories which stated that Sue Carol, David Hollins and Arthur Lake learned to fly before making the picture. These three youngsters perform in airplanes like veterans in the controls. Their flying ability added to their acting ability did much to make this production, which Howard Hawks and Lew Seiler directed, one of the best that has been seen here in a long time.

While the thrills and exciting moments are furnished by the scenes in the air the picture is not lacking in heart interest and sentimental appeal. There is a winsome quality about Sue Carol that makes her entirely charming.

In her efforts to make David Hollins a fearless airman she wins the sympathy of the audience. The charm of the acting in this picture also is enhanced by the presence of Louise Dresser, who plays the role of young Hollins' mother. As always she gives a perfect performance. Arthur Lake, the third member of the trio of youngsters, is absolutely infectious in his performance. You like him from the first flash on the screen.

When you see these young players flying about the fleecy clouds and down stairs you thought only a Lindbergh could do, it will be easy to realize why "The Air Circus" is such a captivating entertainment. The photography is excellent. Here is a worthwhile picture.

Judge Sentences Keys, Two Others

essed, District Attorney Baron Pitts said. Getoff sat apart in court today and made no effort to talk to the others.

Keys and Rosenberg received their prison sentences stoically. Keys joined his weeping wife and daughter as soon as he could. The two men were granted a ten-day stay of execution and all three were returned to the county jail. A motion for liberty under bond, pending decision on their appeal, was denied by Judge Edward J. Holtzer.

Keys Must Serve Term Under the indeterminate sentences of from 1 to 14 years, the men must serve a year before the exact length of their terms are set by the state prison board.

After the first year Rosenberg will be eligible for parole, as would Getoff, but Keys, convicted of corruption in public office, must complete whatever term the board decides upon.

Ends Brilliant Career The denial of motion for retrial of the three men struck a climactic blow at Keys' brilliant career. For years he was one of the nation's foremost prosecutors.

His name was linked with the case of William Edward Hickman, who murdered Marjorie Parker, the William Desmond Taylor murder investigation and the probe of Alcee Schafe McPherson's mysterious disappearance by the sea.

Already Keys has felt a touch of prison life. District Attorney Baron Pitts, once his chief deputy, but now his relentless prosecutor, opposed release on bail just after conviction three weeks ago.
