

RAILROAD WINS IN TEST CASE

I.C.S. Decision Held Void By Supreme Court in Final Ruling

WASHINGTON, May 20. (UP)—The supreme court today held illegal the interstate commerce commission's rate-fixing plan.

The decision in the O'Fallon case for St. Louis virtually orders the commission to give consideration to "current production cost" of railroad property.

Value Was Question Five members of the court, in the decision read by Associate Justice James Clark McReynolds, found that the commission had disobeyed the orders of congress in the administration of the 1920 transportation act by failing to give consideration to this factor of "present value."

Upon the valuations set by the commission, all railroad rates are fixed. Present prices being very high, application of this present value factor to any degree would tremendously increase the present aggregate valuation and, therefore, also the rates under which the railroads are authorized by the 1920 act to obtain a 6 per cent return on their valuation. It thus affects virtually the railroad-riding public.

Effects Far Reaching Three members of the court, known as liberals, dissented, denying flatly that the commission had failed to give due consideration to the current value factor in fixing valuations in the nation's railroads.

In the light of its far-reaching effects, the case has been termed "the greatest lawsuit in history."

As a matter of fact, it directly affects the properties of common carriers aggregating somewhere between $23,000,000,000 and $24,000,000,000, with more than 250,000 miles of main line road involved. Furthermore, it means a readjustment of all valuation attempted by interstate commerce commission experts.

School Board to Award Contracts

The county school board will meet today at the office of County School Superintendent Fred Peterson in the office formerly occupied by the district attorney.

Contracts for the building of additions to the schools of Chilquinn and Malin, for a new school at Fort Klamath, and for several teacherages will be let at the meeting.

KESTERSON TO KNOW IN FALL

"I can not say now whether we will operate in Klamath Falls or will continue to operate in Dorris," I. E. Kesterson, head of the Kesterson Lumber company of Dorris, stated last night.

The Kesterson Lumber company Saturday announced the purchase of over half a billion feet of timber on Yamsay mountain from the Long-Bell Lumber company.

Mr. Kesterson stated last night that it will not be decided before fall just what plan the company will use to log the tract nor where it will be marketed.

"We have sufficient timber now uncut to keep us running for a year at our present capacity. We will not know for several months, probably not before fall, whether we will operate in Klamath Falls or continue to operate in Dorris," Mr. Kesterson stated.

HOP TO ROME; FRANCE PLAN

Endurance Mark Set in N. Y.; Fliers Challenge "Question Mark"

NEW YORK, May 20. (UP)—Today, the second anniversary of "Slim" Lindbergh's memorable start across the Atlantic, found many of his fellow flyers seeking glory in the skies.

Two American aviators left on the first leg of an ambitious hop from the United States to Rome, a trio of Frenchmen awaited the weather man's signal for a flight over the Lindbergh route to Paris, a Florida pilot shattered the endurance record and a crew of Texans was soaring toward another.

Leave for Maine Interest in the east was centered on Roger Q. Williams, veteran Roosevelt field flyer, and Lewis A. Yancey, his companion, who left Teterboro airport this afternoon for Old Orchard, Me., a favorite starting point for trans-Atlantic hops.

In their Bellanca monoplane, "The Green Flash," Williams and Yancey will attempt the longest ocean flight ever made—a 4,700 mile trip to Rome. The present long distance record is held by Capt. Arturo Ferrarin and the late Major Carlo Del Prete, who flew 4,449 miles from Rome to Brazil, last July.

To Race Time Rain, fog and other bad flying conditions now prevailing over the Atlantic probably will prevent Williams and Yancey from starting for Rome for several days. The fliers will load their plane with about 1,100 gallons of fuel. It was because of this heavy load that they chose the long smooth Leach at Old Orchard for their runway.

The second crew of trans-Atlantic aviators were taking every precaution to assure the success of their trip. Jean Assolant, pilot, Rene La Fevre, navigator, and Armeno Lotti, Jr., backer of the flight, said today that they would take no chances with bad weather, after the careful attention they have given every other detail in preparing their big Bernard monoplane for the New York-to-Paris attempt.

Lotti has considered starting this flight also at Old Orchard, but he probably will not go there until he has made at least one attempt to start at Roosevelt field.

Up 25 Hours The goal of the Frenchmen will be to lower the 33 1/2 hour mark established by Lindbergh for the 3,660 miles between here and the French capital.

Laurie Youngs, a Jacksonville, Fla., pilot, established a new endurance record for light airplanes today when he landed his "Hotsy Totsy" at 1:05 p. m., after having stayed up for 25 hours and 5 minutes. The Florida man took the record from Miss Elinor Smith, flapper pilot of Freeport, L. I., who remained up slightly more than 13 hours in a plane of less than 20 horsepower.

Challenge "Question Mark" The second endurance attempt in progress today was that of Reg Robbins and Jim Kelly, who are seeking the record of more than 150 hours established last winter by the army plane "Question Mark." They took off at Fort Worth, Tex., at 11:33 a. m. Sunday and are being refueled at regular intervals by another plane.

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., May 20. (UP)—Roger Q. Williams and his co-pilot, Lewis A. Yancey, arrived here tonight in their monoplane "Green Flash" from the Teterboro airport, N. J.

PORT WORTH, Tex., May 20. (UP)—The Ryan monoplane, "Fort Worth," flew on toward the 48 hour mark tonight in its attempt to break the endurance flight record set up by the army plane, "Question Mark."

Reg Robbins and Jim Kelly, the pilots of the plane, reported the motor, a rebuilt Wright whirlwind, functioning perfectly.

To Take Movie Of Klamath Falls

Arrangements have been completed by H. W. Poole, local theatre manager, and The Scenic Educational Film Company for a complete motion picture to be made of Klamath Falls. Many things of interest will be taken that will remain tourists as well as home folks of the beauty and importance of this section.

The film will have a showing in several of the local theatres, after which it will be available to local clubs and organizations for showing outside.

M'NAIR FACES THEFT CHARGE

Trial of Abner McNair, charged with the theft of a Durham calf from C. V. Loosley, will be tried Wednesday at 9:00 a. m., before Justice of the Peace W. B. Barnes.

McNair is charged with hauling the calf from Loosley's place in a truck. He denied the charge and asked that a trial be held.

Although the calf may represent a value of less than $25, it is a felony to steal cattle and if McNair has committed the crime and is found guilty, he is subject to indictment by the grand jury if the evidence warrants.

TODAY IN KLAMATH'S THEATRES

AT THE LIBERTY Ever since "The Birth of a Nation," when he gave such a marvelous characterization of "The Little Colonel," Henry B. Walthall has endeavored himself to film fans everywhere by one vivid portrayal after another. But never since that epic of the Civil War, according to his own declaration, has a part given him such wide scope for the display of that emotional work which is his forte as does "A Light in the Window."

AT THE PINE TREE "Soft Living," a comedy-drama which comes to the Pine Tree theatre starting tonight, is another triumph for Madge Bellamy.

Miss Bellamy again proves that she is one of the screen's leading comedienne.

Johnny Mack Brown, cast as the wealthy lumber magnate from the country, does particularly well as the unsophisticated boy who believes that love will always find a way. In a series of romantic and exciting adventures he finally wins the love of the wise little city girl.

AT THE ORPHEUS That it is much easier to give advice than follow it is revealed in "Love Hungry," the comedy romance featuring Lois Moran as a little chorus girl and Lawrence Gray as the "sob sister," who passes out advice to the lovers, plays at the Orpheus for three days starting today. Laughter, suspense and an unusual love story are promised in this picture of modern youth in which the show girl trades the solitaire of a big butter and egg man for a little chip diamond of the poor boy.

AT THE PELICAN When the curtain rises for the stage attractions at the Pelican theatre today, local vaudeville fans will be treated to one of the season's most brilliant and popular of Junior Orpheum vaudeville programs.

Top position is assigned to Jimmy Pinto and Company in "Jazz 'Em Up." Every effort put forth by these intrepid entertainers is for the sole purpose of creating unstinted merriment. Instrumental numbers on the guitar and piano accordion form part of their delightful offering.

In the appearance of Billy Barry and the Liskum Triplets, who present "Songs and Dances as You Like Them," theatre-goers are offered the unique opportunity of seeing in vaudeville, each of these attractive sisters has been smiling upon with equal favor by Dame Fortune, for they are possessed of pleasingly enhances their delightful specialties of dancing and harmony singing.

Nat Mann and Marie Mallory are a clever duo whose fun-making proclivities have gained for them a host of followers among vaudeville patrons. In their present skit, "At the Stage Door," there are furnished many amusing opportunities for excellent comedy work, good singing, eccentric dancing and mirth-provoking patter.

The Paulay Brothers are a pair of supple and agile gymnasts who present an act that is unique for the original brand of entertainment it includes. Completing the bill are the Hardgrove Brothers, two whirlwind dancers.

MUSICIANS' BALL TONIGHT

Four Orchestras to Play in Rotation During Annual Dance

Dance lovers of Klamath will revel in delight at the Altamont hall tonight, when four orchestras will play continuously throughout the evening at the annual Musicians' Ball.

The dance will start at 9 p. m. and the orchestras will take turns playing. Special favors will be distributed to guests.

Members of various orchestras to participate are: Lee Craft's orchestra will have Melvin Pickell, Arthur Reed, Joe Sollenberger, D. E. Hartzell, Sid Darling, Newton Nelson and Larry Moon.

Les Salling's band will have Harold Halas, Baldy Evans, M. D. Strader, Gus Loge, M. J. Kocourek, Newton Nelson, Joe Dokus.

The Blue Jackets have V. A. Andrus, director; Red Chapman, J. F. Olin, Leland Charles, Francis Larson, Pan Anders, Peter Silano and Arthur Reed.

Jack Bowring's band will have Dewey Powell, Lloyd Webb, Lloyd Derby, S. Vivian Pickett, Billy Cleave, L. J. Stein and Ivan McCord.

Willson Is Held For Non-Support

D. L. Willson, charged with failing to support his children, was returned to Klamath Falls yesterday from Portland, where he had been held in custody by Portland authorities at the request of Sheriff L. L. Low.

Willson was brought back to this city by Constable G. B. Cozad.

Buenos Aires, May 20. (UP)—Eleven persons were injured today when an omnibus crashed over an embankment and fell into the River Plate. Three of the injured were in serious condition.

Ralph Macartney Wins Golf Tilts Sunday at Reames

Ralph Macartney, mill executive, won the men's medal tournament at the Reames Golf and Country club course yesterday with a net score of 35. Ideal golf weather brought out scores of golf enthusiasts and the course was well patronized in the morning and afternoon.

Jack Bowring won second place with a net score of 36 and S. A. Lawson, Claude McCollough and T. B. Watters were tied for third with scores of 37 each.

Entries included Claude McCollough, A. W. Schupp, T. B. Watters, Fred Fleet, W. O. Smith, J. Royal Shaw, J. A. Lawson, Paul Dalton, James Swanson, Jack Bowring, Wilson S. Wiley, Ralph Macartney, H. N. Moe, A. J. Voyer, E. H. Pike, Charles Roberts, R. H. Hovey, W. C. MacRea, E. E. Driscoll, Jack Knowles and J. F. Maguire.

Institute Opens At City Library

The Arnold Sales Training Institute under the direction of Perry B. Arnold and Fay Meyer last night opened in Klamath Falls last night at the City Library auditorium.

Tonight, Wednesday, Thursday and again on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of the coming week classes will be held.

Close to 50 business and professional women of the city have enrolled for the course.

Lord Roseberry Dies in England

EPSON, England, May 21 (Thursday). (UP)—Lord Roseberry, one of the most distinguished elder statesmen of England and one of its greatest sportsmen, died at his home, The Dardans, at 2:45 a. m. today.

He was 82 years old May 7. Lord Roseberry was Liberal Prime Minister of Great Britain from 1894 to 1895.

WILL CLEAN UP CEMETERY SITE

Announcement was made last night that the Henley grange would hold a "clean-up" day at the Spring lake cemetery at which all members were urged to appear at the cemetery at 10 a. m., Wednesday, May 22, with food and working implements. The cemetery is in need of repair and the grange has undertaken the work of putting it in good shape again.
