

DR. VOLLMER OPENS POLICE CITY SCHOOL

Latest Methods of Coppers
Being Taught by Noted
Criminologist

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (UP)—Dr. August Vollmer's unique crime detection school opened today at the University of Chicago with 55 policemen-students and one reporter in attendance. The latter learned among other things that policemen are not as dumb as some people may think.

The policemen carried notebooks and some of them scribbled their names and drew pictures on the blackboards. None of them, however, fraternized with the groups of hollers and fur-coated collegians who gathered in the hall.

"Newspapers many times scoff at the police and some of the public believes coppers are dumb," Dr. Vollmer said. "In this class I'll give you arguments to prove that policemen are intelligent persons as well as public benefactors."

Later in the course, Professor Vollmer promised, the classes will be conducted in places more familiar to the students. Residents of Bridgeway and the city jail will be visited and requested to tell of their extra legal professions and how they got their starts.

The students were particularly interested when Dr. Vollmer said they would be taught the intricacies of reading finger prints, using the lie detector and identifying handwriting, some who belong to police departments in smaller cities were eager to meet Chicago's "big-time" crooks.

"Each of us has much to learn about police," Dr. Vollmer told the students, all of whom looked surprised at that statement. "A good cop is a spiritual advisor, legal representative, social service worker, educator and legal advisor to the people on his beat."

"He is smart enough to catch criminals and prevent crime, and he knows enough about human nature to teach boys and girls the wisdom of being honest."

Dr. Vollmer, a quiet speaking, gray haired man who gained fame as police commissioner of Berkeley, Calif., will lecture for one hour, four days a week for the duration of the course, which ends March 20. His assistants will include Prof. Albert R. Osborne, handwriting expert of the New York police department, and Dr. John A. Larson, inventor of the lie detector.

"Within the next few weeks," Dr. Vollmer said, "students will aid me in establishing a 'crime club' in which we will study every class of criminals. Men who by environment, heredity or nature have become criminals will be studied."

"Experts from metropolitan police departments throughout the nation will lecture. We will study traffic control, the use of radio in crime detection and dozens of associated subjects."

Stock Prices Reach Highest Level in Month

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (UP)—Stock prices reached their highest levels in nearly a month today under the impetus of an impressive advance in the better grade industrial and railroad shares.

While considerable selling came into the market throughout the early dealings as a result of yesterday's moderately easier trend, the market showed a much improved tone by mid-afternoon and closing strength carried leading shares to round their highest levels on the current movement.

Apparently favorable industrial news was a factor in the better tone in the stock market as was the better technical position of the market, improved by yesterday's selling.

In the utility division, Peoples Gas moved up 3 points to 216 and somewhat smaller gains were made by Consolidated Gas, American Waterworks, Standard Gas and Electric and American Telephone and Telegraph. Industrials, like steel common, American can, General Electric and Westinghouse Electric scored gains of one to more than 2 points. Buying of the electrical shares was particularly heavy in the final minutes of trading.

British Racers to Try for Segrave's Record

ALMA RUBENS OUT ON BOND

Secretary and Chauffeur
Also Accused After Investigation

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 5 (UP)—Alma Rubens, whose fight against the drug habit gained national attention a year ago, gained her liberty today after $5,000 bond today after being ordered to appear on January 14 for preliminary hearing on a federal charge of violating the narcotics act.

The former screen actress' maid, Ruth Palmer, was named jointly with Miss Rubens in a complaint charging conspiracy to transport 120 grains of narcotics across the Mexican border. Miss Palmer, who was named in a surprise move, could not furnish $5,000 bond and had the sum reduced to $500.

Late today a warrant was issued for Edna Tholman, Miss Rubens' chauffeur, of participation in the alleged conspiracy. She was sent to Los Angeles, where a search was to be made for him.

Tholman left her shortly after being questioned yesterday. Police entered the case after Miss Palmer had accused Miss Rubens of tearing her coat from her and Miss Rubens had accused Tholman of stealing $9,000 in jewelry, a charge of which he cleared himself.

In the heat of an evening gown in an overnight bag police found the 120 grains of narcotics. Several hours after the arraignment today, city police said they had new information which indicated the gown belonged to Miss Palmer and the overnight bag to Miss Rubens.

Mrs. R. S. Rubens, mother of the former screen star, arrived here late from Madera, Calif., and conferred with federal authorities regarding release of her daughter's expensive automobile.

During the arraignment before United States Commissioner Henry Ryan Miss Rubens fumbled nervously with a handkerchief and spoke only when Ryan asked which defendant was Miss Rubens. She said: "I am."

Drought Relief Plans Encounter Obstacles In Senate and House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UP)—The administration's drought relief program encountered new obstacles in both senate and house today.

Rep. Fiorello H. La Guardia, Rep. N. Y., threw up a barrier in the house by insisting on food allowances for city dwellers as well as for inhabitants of rural districts.

SENATE TO FILIBUSTER
Senator J. Thomas Hefflin, Dem. Alabama, announced he would conduct a filibuster if necessary to prevent removal from the drought appropriation of the provision for $15,000,000 for loans to farmers requiring food.

La Guardia's action kept the senate's $15,000,000 addition from going to committee for consideration and house leaders now must decide upon a new course for passage of the appropriation, with or without the drought provisions.

DEVELOP ON CONDITIONS
Whether a senate fight develops to force President Hoover to agree to the food allowance was expected to depend on action of Governor Parnell of Arkansas regarding the so-called food riots in that state. Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, democratic floor leader, telegraphed Parnell for the information after Chairman John Barton Payne had minimized press reports of the disturbances.

Robinson asked Parnell whether local agencies could meet requirements in that state, which has been brought to public attention by tales of suffering there.

Payne's statements were made before the senate appropriations committee. Before being asked about the Arkansas situation, the fed cross official described his organization's drought relief work in 17 states, involving the expenditure of nearly $1,000,000.

The Arkansas incidents figured in the senate's action in adding $15,000,000 to the administration's $45,000,000 relief plan, with the stipulation that the extra money be used for food for suffering humans.

C. W. Brinstead, secretary of the Baptist convention here, told Rev. Sasha he would have to put the matter before a meeting of trustees in Healdsburg Thursday night. Two factions will meet then in an effort to settle differences.

"One of the trustees likes to get his church services over the radio from the Tenth Baptist church in Oakland," Rev. Sasha claimed. "His house is right across the street from my church, and he says that our services interfere with his radio reception. So he wants the church closed."

Legislator of Illinois Sent To Penitentiary

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (UP)—Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien, for 29 years a member of the Illinois legislature, was sentenced today in federal court to 18 months in the penitentiary and fined $6,000 for income tax law violations.

O'Brien's defense to the jury which convicted him on December 12 was that as a member of the legislature he thought he was exempt from payment of taxes. He left school when in the third grade, never learned how to keep books and didn't know how much money he was making anyway, he testified.

The government showed that by collecting huge salaries and payments from the Chicago sanitary district he had enjoyed an income of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the three-year period ending in 1928.

Despite the conviction, Cornelius J. Harrington, the Cook county democratic central committee's attorney, expressed the opinion that O'Brien would not lose his seat in the legislature.

Service Station Operator Robbed

HOOVER SPEAKS TO AUTO MEN

No Reason for Despondency President Declares in Short Address

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UP)—The automobile industry, reflecting related industries, shows no reason to look to the future with despondency. President Hoover said in a speech from the White House tonight to the annual banquet of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in New York.

Mr. Hoover spoke from the cabinet room by telephone to the New York gathering. After referring to the continued extensive use of automobiles, which the president said had been curtailed only slightly in the period of depression, Mr. Hoover remarked:

"I do not assume they are being used for transportation to the poorhouse."

The president's speech in part follows:

"The despondency of some of the people over the future is not borne out by the statistical evidence of prospects in respect to the automobile industry. I am informed by the department of commerce that despite the depression you have manufactured and sold during this year 1930 over 3,500,000 new automobiles. You have also disposed of the large inventories of a year ago. Hundreds of miles of new roads are being constructed every day and these increasing miles must be equipped with more automobiles."

"This certainly means that we have been cheerful in the use of our automobiles; I do not assume they are being used for transportation to the poorhouse. While I am aware that many people are using the old automobile a little longer, it is obvious that they are still using it and that it is being worn out. Altogether, the future for the industry does not warrant any despondency."

"I wish you success in your meeting and in the organizing plans which you put forward for the new year."

75 Prohi Agents
Rail Milwaukee's
Downtown Bars

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 6 (UP)—Seventy-five federal prohibition agents from Madison, Milwaukee and Indianapolis swooped down tonight on Milwaukee's downtown saloons, raiding 39.

An undercover agent posing as a match salesman, had no trouble in obtaining evidence of prohibition violations, officials said. More than 40 prisoners taken.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UP)—The government's request for speed in getting a supreme court decision on the New Jersey federal court ruling that the prohibition amendment is invalid was granted today when the high court set January 21 as the date for argument on the government's appeal.

The action was unexpected, for ordinarily the date would not have been set until next Monday, the next regular decision day.

The hearing of arguments may reduce the likelihood of a "per curiam" decision, that is, one which does not go into the merits of the argument.

While the supreme court was deciding upon early settlement of the question raised by Judge William Clark of Newark when he held the 13th amendment unconstitutional, further steps in tightening up enforcement methods were taken by the department of justice and prohibition bureau.

The department sent to all federal district attorneys copies of the bill signed by Pres. Hoover last month defining felonies, misdemeanors and petty offenses.

Search For Money Taken by Bandits

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Jan. 6 (UP)—Search for $21,000 of the $45,000 stolen from the Interstate bank here recently was started tonight on a farm near Ulysses, Kan., after two members of the bandit gang pleaded guilty to the robbery.

Lloyd George Declares Dole Great Benefit

BARMOUTH, Wales, Jan. 6 (UP)—David Lloyd George, liberal party leader, declared today that had it not been for the "dole," there would have been a revolution in England long ago.

"The dole is the best form of unemployment insurance," Lloyd George said in a speech here.

Lloyd George said that the government was spending about $500,000,000 a year on the dole, but indicated that it was money well spent.

"Except for the dole," he declared, "there would have been a revolution long ago. The system is humane. We have no right to see one man starving through no fault of his own as long as the nation has a crust in its cupboard to spare."

I., Jan. 6 (UP)—Amendment of the state liquor enforcement law, commonly known as "the Sherwood act," to permit the manufacture of light wines and beer "having an alcoholic content of not more than 2 1/2 per cent by volume," was proposed in measures introduced in both branches of the state legislature here today.

RAP HOOVER FOR RAILROAD MERGER PLAN

Democrats Criticize Chief and Charge 'Feudal
System' Built Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UP)—Democratic members of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce assailed President Hoover today for his handling of the proposed eastern railway merger.

Rep. Sam Rayburn, Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee, asked the house not to let the president interject "partisan politics" into a consolidation which may have real merit. His associate, Rep. George Huddleston of Alabama, pointed to the fact that the four lines will have 55,000 miles of track and a capital structure of $10,000,000,000.

NEW FEUDAL SYSTEM
"Monarchs of old did not dream of the power that will be concentrated in the hands of the four men at the heads of these lines," Huddleston said.

"We are creating a new feudal system. Presidents will bow and scrape to them."

Rayburn, speaking at greater length, came to the defense of railroad consolidations in principle. They have been going on, he said, since the days of Harriman and Hill when without supervision, innumerable evils were born of the "ruthless fights" they provoked.

REVIEW HISTORY
"These fights," Rayburn said, "demoralized the stock exchange, brought ruin to thousands of investors and sometimes resulted in fastening upon a property a bonded indebtedness it could not carry."

Rayburn then reviewed the history of supervised consolidation which, he said, had been provided for 19 years ago in a bill signed by President Wilson. Since then consolidations, some approved and some not, have been going on, he said.

BLAMES ROADS
Rayburn placed the responsibility for the agreement of the four roads, the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pennsylvania and the New York Central, on the depression which, he said, caused the "eastern rail executives to see a great light."

President Hoover, Rayburn said, thrust the consolidation into partisan politics in announcing the consolidation from the White House and seeming to take credit for it.

SEES DIRE RESULTS
"I must confess that the administration is entitled to credit, if they want to call it credit, for the economic depression of such severity as to send these executives crawling to the doorstep of the president," he continued.

Unless consolidation wisely controlled with a view to endurance is accomplished, Rayburn contended, many lines will be thrown out of business. Such a calamity, he added, would work untold harm on cities along the route of way, throw thousands out of employment and cause a loss to many investors.

Busch Heir's Kidnapper Held Under Bib Bond

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6 (UP)—The young negro kidnaper of 13-year-old Adolphus Busch Orthwein, St. Louis' wealthiest boy, was placed in the St. Louis county jail at Clayton late today.

He surrendered to Sheriff Al Lill at Kansas City, Mo., earlier in the day and was hurried across the state by automobile.

The kidnaper, Charles Y. Abernathy, 23-year-old father of seven children, returned young Orthwein to the home of his multi-millionaire grandfather, August A. Busch, on New Year's day. The release of the boy was arranged by Abernathy's aged father, Pearl, a real estate dealer, who asked in return that his son not be prosecuted. No ransom was paid.

Officials said, however, that the negro would be held under $50,000 bond and that the millionaire parents of the abducted boy would aid in the prosecution.

Should the Children Eat It?

Parents, particularly mothers, are paying a lot of attention to children's diet these days. For it is far more economical and pleasant to keep a child well by feeding him correctly than by nursing and doctoring him back to health.

Of course the doctor should be consulted regarding what a child should eat and what he should not eat. But do you realize that the leading manufacturers of food now seek the advice and approval of the leading nutritional authorities in the country, relative to the claims they make for their products in their advertising?

In other words, food advertisements are reliable sources of information regarding diet. They are based upon the results of the latest approved scientific discoveries about vitamins, minerals and roughage, in relation to vigorous bodies, clear complexions, sound teeth and properly regulated systems.

So read these advertisements carefully. Consult your doctor about them. Very often the advertiser invites you to do this because he has asked authorities, whom your doctor respects, about those advertisements first.
