

DADS AND SONS ENJOY JAMBOREE

Dinner Punctuated With Fun is Followed by Lively Smoker

Over 150 dads of Klamath and Dad's Jamboree held Wednesday night at Klamath Union high school a splendid event, and express the hope that it will become an annual feature.

The event, staged by the boys of the high school, assisted by male members of the faculty, including Supt. Paul Jackson, was a splendid success in every department. Close to 200 sons and dads were present, with each of the latter accompanying his own son, or some boy whose father was out of the city.

GIRLS SERVE DINNER

The evening opened in an informal manner, with the high school band playing several stirring marches in the auditorium and where, prior to the dinner, Supt. Jackson extended and informal welcome to the dads.

Places were provided for 200 in the dining room of the school cafeteria and when the call for dinner had been answered there were but few vacant chairs.

The dinner was served by the girls of the Pop Pepper club who served the large number present with an excellent dinner, without delay and no confusion. Dressed in their attractive red skirts and white waists, the Pop Pepper girls made an attractive appearance and did themselves proud.

FUN PREVAILS

Alex DeSoto, professor of Journalism, was toastmaster. He started the dinner program moving early and kept it going without an idle moment.

Following a number of selections by some of the high school orchestras, DeSoto introduced John Stovall, high school band instructor, all-round entertainer and one of the most versatile members of the faculty, who announced a number of prize contests to be judged by a committee of three. Prizes were announced for the worst speaker, best looking man, fattest man and best eater among the men, and for biggest eater and biggest feet among the sons.

MANY TALKS

Following two songs, led by Stovall and participated in by all, brief talks were made by Earl Reynolds, secretary of the chamber of commerce; Lee Tuttle, editor of the Evening Herald; Bert Hall, owner of Hall hotel; George Cuning of the Cuning Book Stationery Co.; Stanley Woodruff of the high school faculty; the Ven. J. Henry Thomas of the Episcopal church, and James Holliday, debate coach.

Unfortunately the talk by Holliday was broken in two when the orchestra crashed in with a selection at a most inopportune moment. The speaker had just arrived at a point where he was ready to launch into a flight of oratory, but despite the interference he failed to win the prize as the poorest speaker. Incidentally, John Stovall, who had things much his own way, announced that the committee judging the speakers had decided his speech explaining the events and prize contests was the worst, and had awarded him the prize of $5.

AWARD PRIZES

Supt. Paul Jackson was voted the best looking dad, responding with the statement that although he thanked the judges he could not refrain saying their judgment was rotten.

Continuing their policy of running things in a high-handed manner, Lloyd Emery of the high school faculty, was voted the fattest man, and declared he won by a narrow margin. Ray Hunsaker was voted the best eater among the men, while the honor of having the biggest feet among sons went to Wallace Baldwin. Dick Currier copped the prize as the biggest eater.

of different tables. Later "Bucky" led the entire assemblage in a yell for the Pop Pepper girls.

STAGE SKITS

Following the repeat, of which he had formed a substantial part, a program was presented in the auditorium. Music by the high school band and boys' glee club introduced the program.

Stovall, whose versatility is previously mentioned, staged a skit with Hub McGuire, student body president, in which the former worked some difficult mathematical problems, with a well drawn cartoon as the result, and eliciting enthusiastic applause.

A one-act farce entitled, "Oh, Doctor," was presented by a trio of high school boys.

SMOKER ENJOYED

The smoker, participated in by members of the high school, and held in the gymnasium, provided the climax to an already pleasant evening.

A bout between "Battling" Brown and "Pug" Cartwell, two flyweights, followed selections by the boys orchestra. The bout was for three 1 1/2 minute rounds, was full of action, and ended in a draw.

"Bugs" Madrell won the decision over Clemen Sigfred in a three-round bout, the boys putting up a good exhibition.

Vincent Reynolds' pinned George Ager for two straight falls in the wrestling match between the two lightweights. Reynolds' superior weight told in the outcome of the match.

A comedy bout, participated in by four blindfolded boys provided the climax of the evening, with the boys wandering far from the center of action and throwing terrific punches at the blue cone. All blows did not land on thin air, however, and some lively and comical mixups took place between the four willing fighters.

Carroll (Cowboy) Brunton and Gerald (Zip) Zimmerman, two high school welterweights, staged the main event of the evening's card. Zimmerman, high school champion in his weight, was favored to win the bout, but before the first round was well under way discovered that Brunton was a worthy adversary, and the two fought four rounds that were filled with action. The draw decision met the approval of the cheering sons and dads.

"Steamboat" Jackson, local professional boxer, was referee. The varied program proceeded without a hitch and provided the dads with a pleasant evening, reflecting credit upon all those who participated.

Fisher Speaks On Lincoln At Kiwanis Club

Don Fisher, teacher at the local high school, was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon Thursday. His topic was "Abraham Lincoln" whose birthday was commemorated yesterday. Fisher delivered some poignant facts on Lincoln's life and told the story in a new and interesting manner.

Three of the high school students took part in a brief musical program which preceded the talk.

Announcement was made of the annual dairy dinner which will be February 20 in the exhibit building. The Kiwanis club were the original sponsors of the dairy dinner and each year they take a prominent part in the arrangements.

Klamath High To Enter Oratorical Contest in State

The Klamath Union high school will enter the national oratorical contest on the constitution, it was announced yesterday by Paul T. Jackson, principal. The contest is sponsored yearly in Oregon by the Oregonian, the Oregon Bar association, the University of Oregon and the schools.

No date has been set for the local contest, but it will probably be some time during the middle of March, Jackson said. Following it, will be the district contest in which winners from each county in the 12th district, embracing Klamath, Deschutes, Lake, Crook and Jefferson counties, will compete.

The Klamath high school was successful in 1929 in capturing the district title when Miss Mabel Moore's talk on the constitution was judged superior to other competitors in the district. Miss Moore competed in the state contest and was given honorable mention.

UP IN SMOKE

Husband: Do you mean to say there's only one course to-night? Just cheese?
Wife: Yes, dear. You see, when the chops caught fire and fell into the sweets, I had to use the soup to put it out.—Hummel, Hamburg.

France's birth rate in 1930 declined 16,775 over 1929.

Carnera Idol Of Home Town; Erect Statue

UDINE, Italy, Feb. 12. (UP)—Primo Carnera may be just another over-crowded heavyweight fighter to the rest of the world, but he is a hero to his fellow-citizens of Udine.

A group of Carnera's townsmen, headed by his father, journeyed to Gemona today to inspect a colossal statue of the fighter.

When completed the statue will be placed in the city's public square. That is, as a Udine paper pointed out "if there is room."

"IN THE new age, color-blind persons are out of luck, but it should at least be possible to give drivers with good eyesight a fair chance to see the signals on which their safety at every moment depends. The connection between red lights and danger cannot be too close."

Students' Pictures Displayed by Studio

An attractive display of photographs of students at Klamath Union high school has been placed by the Kennell-Ellis studio in the window of the Murray building on Main street.

The exhibit includes pictures of members of the 1931 graduating class as well as other individual photos of students which will be used in this year's edition of the school annual.

Eastern Roads Adopt Policy of Lowered Rates

Following a recent announcement made by several eastern railroads concerning reduced fares, numerous inquiries have been received by the Southern Pacific ticket offices in this city as to whether or not that line will publish similar rates.

When asked concerning such a reduction of fares, C. M. Higgs, district passenger agent, pointed out that the Southern Pacific has had reduced fares in effect for the past three and a half years.

For example, Mr. Higgs referred to his line's regular published second class fare to Chicago, which is $50, or approximately 2 cents a mile.

Similar fares are published to all larger destinations in the east and southeast, and the action of the eastern roads in reducing their fares will merely put westbound rates on an equal basis with eastbound fares from Pacific coast points.

Sacred Heart To Repeat Social Event at Hall

The pre-Lenten party sponsored by the members of the Altar society of Sacred Heart church, held at the Music Box Wednesday was one of the outstanding social events of the winter. An unusually large crowd attended, and so pleased were they with the enjoyable evening that they begged of the hostesses to repeat with another social for St. Patrick's day, March 17. Mrs. Crain, the president, hastily called her corps of efficient workers together, and so plans were made for another party for March 17 at the Music Box. At this event there will be dancing and cards, as well as other attractions which promise interesting diversions for the evening, and, as before, the public is cordially invited to attend.

Health Better Than Riches

"Before I was married, my mother and sister and I did all the farming work on a 64-acre farm for eleven years. I married a farmer and now in addition to my housework and the care of my children I help him with the outside work on our farm. After my last child was born, I began to suffer as many women do. Our family doctor gave me medicine but no results. One day he told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did and now I am a new woman and I know that good health is better than riches."—Mrs. Clyde I. Sherman, R. #1, Lickdale, Pennsylvania.
