

BAR ALIENS FROM NATION IN BIG LOTS

Unemployment Situation Cause of Hundreds Being Refused

NEW YORK, May 26. (UP)—Ellis Island, picturesque funnel through which the tide of immigration and emigration ebbs and flows, was in the heat of its business rush in years today, as the government continued to bar aliens who answered a certain question, "yes," and refused to admit them if they answered "no."

The island today quartered 224 aliens. Of these 115 were awaiting deportation, many voluntarily because of "hard times" in America, and the remainder seeking admittance to the country.

ODD CONTRAST

This odd contrast in figures, odd, because the opposite procedure formerly had been true, is the result of the government's strict enforcement of immigration restrictions as a means of relieving the growing unemployment in this country.

A woman, immigrant is said in effect:

"Do you have a job in the United States?"

If he answers "no," he is barred as likely to become a public charge.

If he answers "yes," he is barred under a law that forbids importation of contracted labor.

CUT IMMIGRATION

"These restrictions," Immigration Commissioner Benjamin Day said, "have cut immigration to the lowest figure in many years."

A train from the west, carrying about 40 aliens, arrived yesterday, at Jersey City. Half of these deportees are going home because they are in dire financial straits and cannot get work."

The rush of deportation, which reached its climax today, has been in progress since the first of the year, while foreign consuls and local immigration officers are clamping down with all their might on incoming movements.

MAY AID NATION

These regulations are being enforced stringently, because the administration believes that less immigration and more deportation may serve to alleviate, in part, the unemployment problem in this country.

The number of deportations from Ellis Island last July was 442. For August, 241; September, 471; October, 394; November, 236; December, 332; January, 469; February, 434; March, 659; and April, 658.

Insanity Fear Causes Noted Engineer To Die

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (UP)—Fear that his mind would become unbalanced because of a fortune was responsible for the suicide of Bulkeley Wells, 59, former president of the American Mining Congress and internationally famous engineer, here today.

Wells shot himself through the head, in his study, in one of two small rooms in the Hobart building. Once the office occupied an entire floor of the building. He had been forced to leave residence quarters in an expensive hotel and move to rooms that he evidently had cheaply kept his address secret.

The noted engineer asked for a loan of $20 shortly before he killed himself. The request was made to a friend, Joseph O'Brien, who had gone to a bank to obtain the money. Wells was once a millionaire. He lost all the money, according to friends, by unwise speculations.

Wells left a note for A. D. Snodgrass, an old friend, that read:

"As the result of all my difficulties and worries, my mind is bound to go. Either that or a stroke, and I will not be a charge upon any one. Nothing but bankruptcy is possible so far as my estate is concerned. Do what you can for Mrs. Wells."

Cider Cargo Brings Arrest Through Error

SANTA BARBARA, May 26. (UP)—Despite the driver's protests that his truckload of beverages was within the law, Traffic Officer Bob Rush arrested him on the Coast highway and brought him to the police station here today.

To the discomfiture of the police, the liquid turned out to be honest-to-goodness cider on its way to Los Angeles.

Oldest Hit-Run Driver Held To Superior Court

LOS ANGELES, May 26. (UP)—The oldest hit-run driver in California records was bound over for superior court trial today as Arthur Rickson, 50, of Los Angeles, was held on charges of manslaughter in connection with the death of Clyde Shensfield Down on the latter was crossing a street. Rickson then stopped his car, carried him to the curb and drove off.

QUEEN HAS BIRTHDAY BANNINGHAM, Eng., May 26. (UP)—Queen Mary observed her 64th birthday today without pretension and received only a few guests. It was the first time in many years the occasion had been observed away from Buckingham Palace.

Resting in even rows at the Fairfield Air depot, at Fairfield, O., part of the fleet of 500 U. S. army planes are shown in this striking night photograph after they had passed in a spectacular aerial parade, wing tip to wing tip, before 200,000 spectators in Ohio and Indiana. This flight was in preparation for the official showing in Chicago, to be followed by the greatest aerial demonstration in the nation's history over New York.

STOCK PRICES TAKE JUMP

Bears Threatened When Statements Asked, Are Careful

NEW YORK, May 26. (UP)—Faced with the prospects of a stock exchange investigation into their alleged ruthless raiding tactics, bearish professionals covered short lines in today's stock exchange trading and the market closed with small gains.

Price movements, however, were rapid and wide and trading on the whole was colorful. A weak opening was followed by a sharp short covering rally around mid-day after which the greater part of the early gains were erased. Spectacular movements occurred in a few higher priced specialties.

Fears that exchange authorities might take disciplinary action against traders found guilty of depressing prices were occasioned by the announcement of the exchange before the opening that it had issued questionnaires to members asking for information regarding their short contracts and loaned stock.

It was recalled that a similar questionnaire was issued by the exchange on November 17, 1929, when the October-November crash of that year culminated. Action by the exchange at that time resulted in a 50-point recovery in average prices. Possibilities of a rally at this time coupled with fear of exposure caused the reduction of short contracts by leading traders.

London cables told of the failure of two London stock exchange houses, a factor which had been feared in Wall Street for some time and a development which had been foreshadowed by recent heavy selling of leading American stocks by British investors.

Holy See and Fascists Near Breaking Point

ROME, May 26. (UP)—Serious developments in the relations of the Holy See and the Fascist government appeared certain tonight after a sharp controversy over charges that Catholic organizations had secretly attacked Fascism and a Fascist student demonstration against the Pope.

The students, inspired by the severe strain put on relations with the papal state in the last few days, paraded through the streets, shouting "Down with the Pope." About 200 students burned copies of the semi-official Vatican newspaper, Observatore Romano.

Meanwhile, the most serious complications developed out of charges made by the newspaper Lavoro Fascista that the Catholic Young Men's association had held secret meetings at which speakers attacked Fascism.

An inspired statement was issued at the Vatican denying the charges and describing the story as a falsehood. The statement said it was "unthinkable" that leaders of the association could have made the statements attributed to them by the Fascist newspaper.

Mayors Back In Paris After Tour of France

PARIS, May 26. (UP)—The United States mayors touring France arrived in a gay ceremony on the train, assisted by Franco-American newspapermen.

The party was chiefly concerned with humorous sidelights on the debate which has split the group of mayors on the question of whether they should drink liquor while in France.

Mayor John H. Porter of Los Angeles an ardent prohibitionist, was presented with a water pot.

George Baker, mayor of Portland, Ore., was presented with a hammer and Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee was given a beer stein.

Mayor W. E. Batterson of Hartford, Conn., received a brown derby.

Later the mayors passed a resolution praising Francis Orlandi, the French director of the trip.

Gaston Gerard, minister of tours, Jean Castellani, president of the Paris municipal council and members of the American colony greeted the mayors at the station.

'DUEL ON THE DUNES' IS REACTED

Confesses Slaying Doctor In Night-Time Fight, Only One Gun

NEW YORK, May 26. (UP)—Howard Bridgett, confessed slayer of Dr. J. T. Loughlin in Brooklyn's so-called "duel on the dunes" Sunday, was in police custody tonight after "hiding" for 80 hours in the crowded subways, motion picture playhouses and restaurants of New York.

Bridgett walked into police headquarters today with his attorney, George Lelsure, and announced:

"There was no duel. I fired three shots. I shot myself in the left forearm. This is the gun I used. I used it in self-defense."

Bridgett described the fight, which he said followed an invitation of the doctor to "fight it out in the back yard."

"We started to fight with our fists. The doctor got me down in the tussle (Loughlin was 40 pounds heavier) and lifted his hands just as if he was going to hit me with a rock.

"Then I pulled the gun, and in the struggle it went off, hitting my elbow. Then I shot two more times and one bullet hit Loughlin near the ear.

"Thus, Bridgett told the story of what happened, a story he at first had claimed he would not tell "on advice of counsel."

Later today Bridgett re-enacted the struggle he said took place on the sand dunes late Sunday night. The doctor was played by the tussle (Loughlin was 40 pounds heavier) and lifted his hands just as if he was going to hit me with a rock.

"Then I pulled the gun, and in the struggle it went off, hitting my elbow. Then I shot two more times and one bullet hit Loughlin near the ear.

"Thus, Bridgett told the story of what happened, a story he at first had claimed he would not tell "on advice of counsel."

San Diego Hunts Another Lost Girl, Age 17

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 24. (UP)—Alarmed by a series of "fiend" murders in San Diego within the past three months in which four women and girls were killed, police tonight hunted the city and environs for Frances Lee Hobert, 17, who disappeared from her home yesterday dressed only in beach pajamas.

The girl is said to have friends in the Imperial Valley and authorities are checking there. Her parents told police she had never left home alone before.

Since the epidemic of girl murders in San Diego, police are unusually concerned over the "missing person" reports already filed on two women for whose safety fear was felt were later found visiting friends.

SEADROME PLAN TOLD

He got no satisfaction out of post office officials, he said, beyond several expressions of polite interest in his project which, according to Armstrong, has the backing of an imposing list of millionaires who do not want their names made public now.

He discoursed upon the peculiarly unrestricted states which his floating bases will have in the Atlantic, far beyond the jurisdiction of all national or municipal statutes and subject only to what he calls "international rules of decency."

Such manifestations of an effete civilization as the Volstead act and the Mann act, for example, will not run in the seadromes, he said. Established customs of all nations will be respected within reason.

PLANS FAST TRIPS

In the hotels—one on each seadrome accommodating 100 guests overnight—the Turk with his harem or the Borneo headhunter will be received on a basis of equality with the tired business man from New York or the milkman from Omaha.

Armstrong estimated that planes on his projected route can cross the Atlantic in 24 hours. That improvement on Lindbergh's time, he explained, will be due to the fact that planes will not have to carry excessive loads of fuel between airdromes.

Amphibian planes carrying 40 passengers and with a speed of from 150 to 160 miles per hour are to be used, he said, and the fare at first will be about $500 per passenger.

MOTHER TO SEE BABES THEN GO BACK TO TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (UP)—Permission for Mrs. Bernice Foley, 30, to attend funeral services for her children, Patricia, 8, and Robert, 6, whom she is accused of killing with chloroform, was granted by authorities today.

"Let me have one last look at my babies, then let me die," Mrs. Foley said.

The services will be held Thursday afternoon. When they are concluded Mrs. Foley will be taken to detention hospital for investigation by alienists. The test of her sanity was requested by James Toner, assistant public defender.

Swiss Scientist Rises Off Earth In Huge Balloon

AUGSBURG, Bavaria, Germany, May 27 (Wednesday)—(UP)—Prof. Auguste Piccard, Swiss scientist, rose from the earth just before dawn today in the largest balloon ever built, seeking to achieve an altitude higher than man has ever reached.

The balloon, a queer looking craft with its aluminum ball under-carriage, ascended at 3:57 a. m., rising rapidly in the darkness. It reached an altitude estimated at more than 12,000 feet in 40 minutes and drifted rapidly southward.

MISTAKE MAY SAVE LIFE

Carried with it only a prison sentence.

"They asked me why Mrs. Kirkland seemed so jubilant when the verdict was read. I told them it was because her son got off with such a light sentence.

"My God," they said, "we wanted to sentence him to death."

Assistant Prosecutor Robert Estril announced that he would demand the jury be asked tomorrow whether its verdict of "guilty of assault and battery with intent to commit rape," was the verdict really intended.

"If the jurors are in agreement that they want Kirkland electrocuted," Estril continued, "I will demand this be declared a mistrial."

Estril said that he had meant to poll the jury immediately after the verdict was read, but that the forward rush of spectators prevented him.

PLANE CRASH KILLS FOUR

WING SNAPS OFF

The wreckage indicated that the upper wing of the stunt ship became shaky while Short was sending his craft roaring over a measured course in an attempt to set a world's record endurance flight for planes loaded with 2,000 kilograms of freight.

When he noticed the wing wobbling in the speed produced gale, Short apparently cut off both motors and tried to bring the craft to a forced landing upon the A. T. Cole farm. An instant before he would have landed safely, the wing snapped off, the plane faltered and disintegrated to earth.

TEARS BIG HOLE

It hit with a thunderous crash, tearing a hole five feet deep into the earth.

"The ship was flying along perfectly," said Harley Overton, 19-year-old farm boy who had been watching the test. "Then the tail started to fly to pieces. For a quarter of a mile the plane went, the pieces flying right and left. Then the ship zoomed for earth and hit with a terrific crash."

SPECIALLY DESIGNED

Three of the crew were dead when Dr. Harry W. Kinne arrived. Gormley died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital.

The "Bliss Streak," named for the familiar blue-edged editions of the Daily News, had been specially designed by Short and Short as the last word in modern flying equipment. It had been overhauled completely after a 1,500 mile non-stop flight to Brownsville, Texas, and was supposed to have been in perfect flying condition.
