

PEACE TREATY SIGNATURE IS PUT OFF AGAIN

By THOMAS B. MOHRGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
ROME, June 1. (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini and the ambassadors of France, England and Germany closed their offices at 9 p. m. tonight after a day's futile waiting for a draft of the four power peace pact from Geneva, which they were to have initialled.

They waited in vain during a day filled with rumors in official and semi official circles. The diplomatic corps speculated on when the jurists at Geneva would complete the draft.

At the French embassy, it was said the initialing should occur by Saturday, at the latest. The British were hopeful the draft would arrive tomorrow, in order that the initialing and text could be reported in the house of commons prior to adjournment for two weeks.

Everything set
Mussolini and the ambassadors confidently had expected the draft to arrive, and all arrangements had been made for the elaborate initialing ceremonies in the Venice palace.

All morning the Premier and the three ambassadors awaited word from Geneva but none came. The draft was held up. It was not until the chancelleries closed for luncheon after 2 p. m. however, the doubt became undisputed that the pact could be initialled today.

Even then the diplomats refused to give up, and resumed their vigil after lunch. The afternoon dragged on, the night fell. They waited until 9 p. m., long after their dinner hour, then closed their offices and went home.

The United Press was informed that eleventh hour chances in the draft still caused discussion among the jurists at Geneva, but the officials insisted there was no real hitch.

Difficulties Seen
Dispatches from Paris were less optimistic, and it was indicated week end conferences there might be held to iron out the difficulties still haunting the acceptance of the Rome peace pact designed to prevent war in Europe for 10 years.

The Quai D'Orsay in Paris, dispatches from the United Press there said, was without official information tonight whether Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, would arrive to participate in week end talks which it was believed Norman Davis, the American, wishes to instigate because Germany still reserves her signature to the four power pact.

The French were inclined to suspect a maneuver whereby Anglo-American pressure would be brought to bear on Premier Edouard Deladier, in Paris, to induce modification of the French anti-treaty revision attitude, to enable them to digest the German objections and obtain early signing of the Rome accord prior to the start of the world economic conference a week from Monday.

The dispatches said that the French attitude remained firm that there was not sufficient guarantee of security either in the Roosevelt security plan (announced at Geneva by Davis recently) or the four power pact to induce France to disarm.

ALTAMONT'S BIBLE SCHOOL COMPLETE

The Vacation Bible School, which has been conducted at the Altamont schoolhouse, under the direction of the First Presbyterian church, will close Friday with a program and picnic lunch. The school, directed by Alvin C. Olson, has created much interest in the community during its three weeks' duration, with enrollment of 110 children ranging from pre-school to the eighth grade. The average daily attendance was around 80 in spite of considerable unfavorable weather.

The pre-school children, under Mrs. E. B. Hall and Mrs. Ralph Weiler, have learned several songs and Bible verses besides their activity projects. Mrs. Brynd and Lenore Nendel had charge of the primary children, the first three grades.

The fourth, fifth, and sixth grades were divided into two sections to aid in directing activities. Miss Dorothy Smith of Racine, Wis. conducted a course on the stories and books of the Bible. Mrs. Stella Bowne directed the boys in manual training and the girls in sewing. Mrs. Bowne was assisted by Maxine Peterson.

Mrs. John Schieferstein assisted in all the lower classes as well as playing for the assembly period. The seventh and eighth grade boys were supervised in study and manual training by Mr. Olson. The girls of this age were instructed by Mrs. J. L. Richey of the Immanuel Baptist church, in Bible geography and history.

Mrs. Pearl Schultz of the First Christian church opened her home for these girls and taught the elements of homemaking. McGraw undertook to lead the National leaguers after a poll of the eight clubs of the circuit had made him a unanimous choice.
