WEATHER KEEPS WHEAT PRICE UP

CHICAGO, June 7. (AP)—Unabated heat and drought swept west and west wheat values pointed upward today, despite forecasts of showers and of some moderating of temperatures.

Much of the damage to winter wheat was reported irreparable. Considerable buying of wheat here was done against sales at Winnipeg, and there was sharp attention given to an advance of British exchange to a new high record for the year.

Wheat closed firm, 1-1/2c above yesterday's finish, corn 1-1/2c up, oats 1-1/2c advanced, and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 5 cents.
