

Interesting Pictorial Highlights from Here and There

Famous Collection of Oriental Art Opened at University of Oregon

The Murray Warner collection of Oriental art, declared to be one of the finest in the United States, will be open to the public on the University of Oregon campus at Eugene after dedication ceremonies June 10. The Museum of Art building is shown in the upper photo. Mrs. Murray Warner, donor of the Oriental art collection and director of the museum, is shown at the left. At the right is one of the interesting exhibits, a Japanese princess of some 300 years ago, about to enter her palanquin.

Submarine Comes Up to Chicago's Fair

With more exhibits opening, attendance at Chicago's Century of Progress is setting marks nearly double that of its Columbian Exposition of 1892. Here is one of the late arrivals, the U. S. submarine S-45. Behind the sub, docked in the fair's lagoon, is Italy's exhibit building. More than 750,000 already have seen the fair.

High Hurdles—12 Feet Off the Ground

Six hurdlers, all up in the air and all feet off the ground, show excellent form in taking the high timbers during the Universities Athletic Union meet in London. C. F. Stanwood, third from right, an American, won the 120-yard event, setting a new record of 15 2-5 seconds.

Passenger Ship Founders on Lake Reef

This picture, taken from a passing vessel, shows the steamer George M. Cox on the Rock of Ages reef, at Isle Royale, in Lake Superior, after 125 persons, passengers and crew, had been removed.

Hunt 'Nurse' and Kidnaped Baby

Starved mother love is believed the motive in the strange kidnaping of Pansy Sneed, five-week-old Cincinnati baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sneed, shown here with their other daughter, Dorothy. Mrs. Sneed gave her baby to a "woman in white" who posed as a welfare nurse and presented a note from a doctor. Sneed is unemployed.

NO BRAKES—AND A LUCKY BREAK

Around the dirt track of the Veterans of Foreign Wars speedway at Detroit, Mich.—a skid—a plunge over an embankment—a dip into a water barrier—and Harold Anderson, race driver of Saginaw, Mich., has a lot to be thankful for. Anderson's car is shown going into its skid near the bank. At right he is climbing out of the car after its plunge on the far side.

Eyes of World on U. S. Delegate at Arms Parley

In the world limelight for the vigorous fight he has waged for disarmament among the powers at the world arms parley at Geneva, Norman Davis, American Ambassador-at-Large, is shown (left) quietly reading his newspaper while General O. Tanczos, Hungarian delegate, addresses the momentous conference.

ALICE LONGWORTH JOINS CROWD AT AUCTION OF CAPITAL PAPER

Once in the forefront of Washington society, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth (left), widow of the late Speaker of the House, was just an interested spectator on the fringe of the crowd that watched the Washington Post pass under the auctioneer's hammer. Some of the capital's most prominent residents saw the newspaper sold to a Washington attorney for an undisclosed principal for $325,000.

A Trunk of Morgan Data

A trunk full of records supplies Ferdinand Pecora the knowledge and material with which he questions J. P. Morgan and his partners. Here is the trunk, occupying a conspicuous place in the Senate hearing room.

Morgan Aides Go Into Huddle at Senate Inquiry

Repeal of the capital gains provision of the federal income tax law under which Morgan partners paid no income tax in recent years would be to the advantage of the government, Leonard S. Keyes, general manager of J. P. Morgan and Company, told the Senate committee investigating policies of the giant financial house. Here is Keyes (left) with Arthur M. Anderson (center) and Harold Stanley, Morgan partners, conferring in the committee room.

Ensign Happy in His First Command

Doubly lucky was Midshipman William Porter in winning his commission and in having such a pretty miss as Mary Middleton to pin on his ensign's epaulettes. Because of the governmental economy act only half of the 432 graduates were commissioned at the annual ceremony at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., where this photo was taken.

Proposed Dam in Tennessee Valley Plan

A major link in President Roosevelt's vast project for the south, Cove Creek dam will rise in the Clinch river in Tennessee. This architect's drawing shows the extent of the proposed reservoir and power project.