

Baer Turns Into Real Fighter

Fate May Throw Californian Against Carners. Both Men Have Killed Opponents. Gus Sonnenberg Got Into Mat Game by Accident.

Max Baer stands out well as a promised resumption of the traditional champion of heavyweights boxers. This playboy from California, working under the severe guidance of Jack Dempsey, has come out of his shell, shaken off his laziness and turned himself into a real, hard-hitting fighter.

Not long ago it was said Baer would never make a champion nor even a near champion. He was indifferent to the possibilities of gaining ring success. It was a purely mental attitude, for if a fighter had strength and ability it was Max Baer. He had killed a man, and had even temporarily barred from even his home state of California. Boxing critics considered this unfortunate death sufficient to ruin the prospects of the man who last week defeated Max Schmeling.

But now Baer is on the high road toward the championship. He is definitely assured of a match with either Champion Jack Sharkey or Challenger Primo Carners. What a strange thing it would be if Carners and Baer were thrown together. Here would be two men, each indirectly responsible for the death of an opponent in the ring, thrown together for a world title.

Gus Sonnenberg got into the wrestling business purely by accident. This great, heavy giant, a former all-American tackle for Dr. C. W. Spears while Doc was producing winning teams at Dartmouth, was shoved into the arena to prove his assertion wrestling was a comparatively simple game.

Sonnenberg knew less than nothing about wrestling, for he had just previously seen his first match. The former football man and a friend had dropped in to Madison Square Garden at New York merely to pass away a dull evening.

Wrestling was the chief attraction at the Garden that season and Gus saw his first heavyweight match. Sonnenberg, accepting this challenge, refusing his opinion of wrestling and wrestling, went into the ring with nothing more than his two hands and a set of particularly broad shoulders.

He knew no holds and even though he might have heard of a few, he was absolutely without knowledge to manipulate them. But there were two things he could do and that was charge and tackle. Doc Spears had seen it that this all-American knew the fundamentals of football.

Sonnenberg charged and tackled his first opponent. The force of his rush carried the man out of the ring and set him in the aisles as cold as the proverbial hill pickle. It was something new in the wrestling game and sport writers and promoters immediately capitalized upon it.

It took a long time before Sonnenberg could learn the holds and combination holds of the profession, but until he learned them he continued to win matches through the application of his charge and firing tackle. He still relies on the tackle and his chief weapon but he has mastered all the intricate holds known to the wrestling business.

Sonnenberg, alone, revived the game after it had fallen away under the popularity of boxing. He brought it out of the lethargy of apathy and science and turned it into blood and thunder. He had been finished at Dartmouth before he accidentally, more than anything else, entered the mat game. He was not a wrestler, and he probably is a pretty close to 40 years old. But the life of a wrestler is long. He has 20 more years for activity and profit making than a boxer. Boxers—the ordinary run of them—become pretty much knocked about after a few years, but wrestling is the art of a game to aid a man in retaining his intelligence and physical power all through his life.

Sonnenberg once acquired the championship of the world and still is hot after such London as Jim Browning, London and Glasgow Lewis for another chance. These three men, however, are the king pins of the game along with Sonnenberg, and steer carefully away from each other.

The selection of the American Legion Junior baseball team to represent Klamath county recalls the champion toward a championship last season. Klamath, going a long way under Vince O'Brien and Lynn Royceford in 1932, should go even farther this season. Many of the same boys have returned and many new and promising players have filled in vacated positions. Klamath may be in the running for the championship by the time of the title series at the Fairgrounds during the state Legion convention in August.

ALTA MONT NINE COUNTY CHAMP IN LEGION PLAY

North Side Beaten, 9-3; South Side Wins in 9-4 Contest

Altamont Junior Legion baseball team defeated the Northside team Sunday, 9 to 3, to gain the county championship among the six teams entered from all sections of the county.

The Southside team played a combination team of Keno and Mallin Sunday, and won by a score of 9 to 4. Batteries for Southside were Deering and Stiles; for Northside, Howie and Webber-Keno-Mallin, Helber and Baird; for Altamont, James and Williams; for Northside, Howie and Webber.

Twenty-two players have been selected by the Junior baseball committee of the American Legion from the teams which have entered the county tournament. The squad will be cut down to 15 members by June 20, according to Vincent O'Brien, chairman.

The 15 players to be selected for the county team will play in the championship games to be played during the state legion convention here in August. The Klamath team must win from Lakewick, Medford, Marshfield and Eugene in that order to gain the state finals.

Those selected for the squad Sunday are: Deering, Weber, Williams, Pastega, Howie, James, Knudson, Helber, Stastney, Adams, Young, Wakeman, Quinlan, Hodje, Musselman, Green, Baird, Short, Bonatta, Crappo, Combest, Fuller.

O'DELL FAVORITE TO BEAT HOWARD

Tony O'Dell ruled a favorite today to defeat Russell Howard at the Merrill Community hall Thursday night. The men will meet each other in a ten-round main event.

O'Dell's backers point toward a victory after two successive defeats in bouts against Pat McPadden. Tony boxes well, his hard and has several years of experience. Howard is one of the cleverest boxers in Klamath county but he has no real ability as a puncher. His experience is more limited than O'Dell's but, nevertheless, he has sufficient power to make a difficult opponent for O'Dell.

Steamboat Jackson, veteran favorite of the county, will oppose Romalme Street, negro, in the six-round semi-windup. Three four-round preliminaries will support the featured bouts.

Klamath Tennis Club Defeats Strong Ashland Town Team

Jack Crawford defeated Bill Allen of Ashland, 6-4, 5-7, 6-1. Edgar Dent, number four for Klamath Falls, took straight sets from D. Joy, 6-0, 7-5. Tom Massey, the chop ball star of the Klamath team won a hard fought match from Woodson, 11-9, 3-6, 6-2. Tom Sparks lost his match to Bouffman, 1-6, 3-6. In a

A return tournament is scheduled with Ashland at Klamath Falls, June 18.

Roseburg Vets Beat Pelicans In League Tilt

ROSEBURG, Ore., June 12. (AP)—Playing their first home game of the Southern Oregon baseball league schedule, the Douglas county vets in a wild ninth inning finish defeated Klamath Falls here yesterday, 5 to 4. The Pelicans took the lead, 2 to 1, in the fifth inning, but were tied in the seventh, and the Vets made it 2 to 2 in the eighth.

With two down in the first of the ninth, Klamath Falls pushed over two runs on a walk and two hits, but the Vets came back in the last of the inning with a base on balls and two hits, winning the game when the ball was fumbled at second base on an attempted cut-off play to the plate. The Pelicans broke all of their bats hitting at Frank's fast curves, and had to finish the game with borrowed clubs. Score:

Table with 3 columns: Team, R, H, E. Roseburg 5 11 2, Klamath Falls 4 7 5.

Batteries: Faust and Adamson; Molatore and Edwards.

The Stars won, despite a bad day for errors. In the first three innings Shaw-Bertram got into a 4 to 2 lead, but after that the Stars settled down and permitted but one more score. This came in the sixth inning.

P. Gehman hurled outstanding ball for the Stars. He struck out 13 men. Gilman, mill pitcher, fanned only four.
