

Interesting Pictorial Highlights from Here and There

On a Night in June—

On a June night, to be more specific the night of June 5, this charming person will be watching hopefully to see how Max Baer, Hollywood heavyweight, comes out in his battle with Max Schmeling at Yankee Stadium. Her name is June Knight, too, and she is a star of the musical comedy and movie worlds. June hasn't admitted they're engaged, but Hollywood hears that . . .

CHAMPIONS AT CHAMPION'S GRAVE

Three men who played stirring parts in the world of pugilism since the World War are shown as they stood together at the grave of William Maidoon, "the last gladiator." Left to right are Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey and the new champion, Jack Sharkey.

He's Off for Seattle Once More

A year ago, Capt. Perry A. Riggs (right above) left Dutch Harbor, Alaska, for Seattle in his 60-foot auxiliary sloop Novi. Storms intervened, and he drifted five months, almost to Hawaii, before his vessel landed near San Luis Obispo, Calif. Undaunted by his privations, Riggs and George L. Newton, a steamfitter, left Oakland, Calif., in the Novi with Seattle as their destination, after fishing off Cape Flattery.

Three-Point-Two Keeps Hopyards Busied

Legislation of beer has started an unprecedented demand for hops, with a record price of 75c per pound. The job of preparing for a bumper hop crop has given employment to unemployed men and women in hundreds of Oregon hopyards. This group of women is training hop vines in a yard near Oregon City.

Arlen, Jr., Makes Camera Debut

LIKE his celebrated parents, Richard Halston Arlen wasn't a big camera shy when he made his debut before the lens at a Hollywood hospital where the stock left him a few days ago. He is the first child of Richard Arlen, movie actor, and Jobyna Halston, also of the film, who were married in 1926, with whom he is shown here.

It's Trophy for the Sky Queen

The woman who wins this Aeronaut Trophy in the National Air Races at Los Angeles next month will also win $7500 cash. For the trophy, being admired by Doris Jann, is the prize for the women's speed race. It is a perpetual trophy, each winner's name being engraved on the base.

Prehistoric Lizard Found, Belief

A rock mass, peculiarly pitted on the outside, and fitting together perfectly to form the tail of a gigantic lizard, has started a hunt for further traces of possible saurian fossils near Eureka, Nev. Photo shows the sections fitted together.

Sipped Wine, Fired by Bryan University

These 11 students, dismissed from Bryan Memorial University, are the center of a factional fight at the Dayton, Tenn., institution. Six of the men were dismissed when they were found gathered around a jug of wine in the university orchard. The other five were dismissed when they refused to sign a pledge that they had not imbibed intoxicants during the school session. Trustees of the institution demanded reinstatement of the students, but faculty members ruled that principles on which the university was dedicated to the memory of the late William Jennings Bryan must be upheld. In the picture are, front row, left to right: Herb Murphy, Cleveland, Tenn.; M. R. Prussack, Salina, Pa.; Estes Goss, Crossville, Tenn.; Roscoe Hench, Spring City, Tenn.; Cline Starr, Harrison, Tenn.; Back row, left to right: Walter Cramer, Avonmore, Pa.; Carlton Neergaard, Kingston, Tenn.; David Thornton, St. Louis, Mo.; Frank Bruce, Laurel, Miss.; Kermit Kuppenberg, Avonmore, Pa.; Ray Stegall, Kingston, Tenn.

Howe Denies Kit Deal Onus

Louis McHenry Howe, President Roosevelt's first secretary, is shown here, left, as he denied to Senator Morris Sheppard any responsibility for purchase of 200,000 higher-priced toilet kits for the forest army. Howe said he had no idea of influencing the purchase through his reference to the seller in a letter to forest army officials.

Joy and Sorrow—Baby Is Found

Joy and sorrow are mingled here at the climax of one of the nation's strangest baby abduction cases. Mrs. John Sued holds her six-week-old daughter, Pansy, taken from her by a woman who posed as a welfare nurse. Mrs. Virginia Rogers weeps as she confesses she stole the child because she wanted another baby. Mrs. Rogers, 21, is the mother of two children.

Kidnap Suspect

Walter McGee, ex-convict, arrested in Portland, and held as asserted leader of the group kidnaping Miss Mary McElroy of Kansas.

Changing Styles in Salty Headgear

Here's the new fare-up in bluejacket styles—the dress hat (left) decreed by the Navy Department to replace the familiar flat-topped headgear (right). The spring holding the top of the old hat in its stiff shape has been removed in the new one which has its crown bunched up in front with padded sides and drooping rear. Nelson M. Watts (left) and Kenneth F. Ostrom of the Washington Navy Yard, are the models.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

DEAF PERSONS WHOSE INNER EARS ARE INFLAMED DO NOT SUFFER FROM "SEA SICKNESS" WHICH IS CAUSED BY AGITATION IN THE LIQUID OF THE INNER EAR.

THE CERESUS OF BRITISH GUANA DEFENDS ON "SATS" TO CARRY ITS ROLLEN!

POODOISES HAVE ABOUT 256 TEETH!