

ROAD INTO LAKE OPEN SATURDAY

The Lake 'o the Woods road will be open for travel Saturday, E. B. Hall, president of the Lake 'o the Wood association reported Thursday evening after returning from a trip to the lake, inspecting roads.

"Visitors should take the old road on the east side of the lake and drive carefully to stay on the roadway," Hall said. "Cottage owners on the west side of the lake cannot reach their cottages by car and must take boats at the resort or at Peck's station."

There is a short detour just above the caretaker's cabin, Hall states. The lake is about one and one-half feet higher than last year and is still rising, the water flooding the flat on the northeast side of the lake.

Much credit for getting the road in shape for travel must be given the civilian conservation camp crew working at the lake, Hall declared. "They have been working long hours and have been faithful in helping those who have attempted to get to the lake and were stuck in the mud."

From the number of inquiries received during the past two weeks concerning the lake road, Hall expects 200 people will visit the lake Sunday.

Pecko tea gets its name from the Chinese term, pakho, meaning white hair, and which refers to the down of young leaves.

CITY TO OBSERVE DAY FOR FATHERS

Father will have his innings Sunday, June 18, when the nation turns its attention to "the old man," or "the pater," and stops singing "mummy" songs for the day.

Father will very likely have a few more unique ties to add to the collection of Christmas atrocities that comes his way every year, or perhaps he may take in a pair of socks or two on his own day.

There may be a clever child or wife who will add a bit of new fishing tackle to Father's collection, or think of some other gift which will fit into Dad's favorite scheme of things.

In any case, whatever the gift or remembrance, Dad will appreciate it, and the cockles of his heart will be warmed by the thought behind the present.

Of course Mother deserves all the love and sentiment which surrounds her, but Dad is a thoroughly good sport, and makes many a sacrifice for his family, too. Father's day was set aside for this reason, and for at least that one day, the country's dads will get the consideration that should be theirs for the year 'round.

KIWANIS ENJOY NOVEL PROGRAM

Members of the Kiwanis club enjoyed a stag dinner Thursday evening instead of their regular weekly luncheon. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock in the small dining room of the Willard hotel, and was followed by an impromptu program which filled the early hours of the evening. Kiwanians and their wives will go to Langell Valley tonight to be the guests of all organizations of that district at the community ball. Talented Kiwanians will present a clever and interesting program, and supper will be served by Langell Valley residents.

Kentucky judge rules that a golf player is not legally able to control either the direction or the destination of a ball driven by him. Well, this judge doesn't beat about the bush, even if a lot of golfers do.
