expression of public opinion in face of the bill's widespread support in the press and among leading citizens of the state.

We believe in the merits of the sales tax; we also know, however, the people of Oregon are not looking for substitute taxation. They want elimination, and since the majority of voters are not property tax payers they may not be too willing to cooperate in an emergency program which, if they but knew it, will have individual benefits.

We can only urge the voters of this county to once more study the sales tax, obtain a well-rounded picture of what it will mean and then vote sincere convictions.

The romance of David and Almee is over. All of us sometimes have to replace our ideals and Almee's lost dream was that of cement tooter and a singer. Events in the evangelist's life indicate an attorney should be brought into the family the next time there is a marriage.

If the law can't stop this kidnapping wave it might just as well go to work attempting to make it hard.

WASHINGTON
 NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS
 The Inside Story From The Capital
 By PAUL MALLON
 (Copyright, 1932, by Paul Mallon)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—This move to put all postmasters under the civil service has more behind it than meets the naked eye.

Such a step was badly needed at this time to kill off a white-piered story going around the country that the democrats at last were ready to throw the republicans out of the post offices with a vengeance—that the spoils system was to be restored.

It did not take Postmaster-General Farley long to hear about it.

Purposes
 Hot denials were issued by Mr. Farley. The whispered story, however, was nowhere publicly printed, so no one except the insiders knew what the postmaster-general was shooting at and his general did not attract much attention. Something else was necessary.

The new postmaster movement filled the bill better than you would ever suspect.

It may be true that it takes politics out of the post office as much as it can be, pending an administration by angels. But there is more to it than that. What it will do first is to take republicans out of the post office and put civil service democrats in.

Also it will put the democrats in permanently. The next republican administration, if there is ever one, must change the civil service law to get them out. At least that is the interpretation being put on it by cheering congressmen and job-hunters.

The practical way it will work is described by a competent democratic congressional authority privately as follows:

All first, second and third class postmasters in office now must make civil service examinations. They are all republicans. Democratic candidates for the jobs also will take examinations. They will be graded 50 per cent on business ability. Democrats will do the grading.

The three with the highest marks will be considered final candidates. Their names will be submitted to the democratic congressman. He will make the final choice.

A republican might squeeze through under that system. If he did it would be an oversight.

The democrats are actually not being much more ruthless now than successful parties usually are.

The thing that makes it seem worse this time is that they are going further down the line than the republicans did 12 years ago—so many people are out of jobs today that any kind of a government position is legitimate spoils.

somewhat less hogs than it consumes, and so sets its own prices within the limits of transportation cost. So the market for hogs this fall will depend more on what has happened here on the Pacific Coast than on conditions in the United States as a whole.

JOSEPH B. EASTMAN, federal co-ordinator of transportation, says that railroad presidents' salaries are too high. Several of them now receive salaries in excess of $100,000 a year.

Those of us who receive a lot less than $100,000 a year will agree that he is talking common sense.

We are nearly always ready to agree that the fellow who gets more than we do is getting too much.

BUT REMEMBER that the railroads have been in the red, and have been complaining about it rather bitterly. For a business that is in the red, $100,000 a year is an exceedingly high salary to pay.

SALARIES of $100,000 a year or more are high at any time, and it seems highly probable at the present moment that fewer and fewer of them will be paid in the future.

Less for the higher-ups and more for the lower-downs is the new business theory.

Christian Science
 "Life" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 16.

The Golden Text was, "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou has sent" (John 17:3).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour" (Prov. 3:13, 14).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative message from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When understanding changes the standpoints of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, men shall gain the reality of life, the control of soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle. This must be the climax before harmonious and immortal man is obtained and his capabilities revealed" (p. 322).

Rush
 The offices of those who are supposed to have influence with the democratic administration look like basement bargain counters these days. Many seeking jobs are obviously in want.

The offices of Senators Byrd of Virginia, Harrison of Mississippi and King of Utah are swamped all the time. Senator King's position is probably the worst. He is trying to keep all those jobs which ex-Senator Smith got for the citizens of Utah.

Master
 The most arduous patronage dispenser of them all is William F. Stevenson. He is chairman of the Home Owners Loan corporation. His old South Carolina friends call him "Seaboard Bill" but the reason is obvious. His new intimates here have switched it to "Steamboat Bill" for no reason at all.

In an admiring way, a democratic politician recently suggested Mr. Stevenson should be charged with depopulating the state of South Carolina. He was trying to infer that Mr. Stevenson had installed most of the citizens of that state in his government agency.

Mr. Stevenson has already announced that he will be in Klamath Falls, Oregon, on Monday, July 23, when Mrs. Eastward, delegate to the recent Methodist conference held in Portland this month will give her report on the activities which took place during the conference, and have interesting news for all who attend. Church services will be held here henceforth every two weeks on Sunday evening by Rev. B. V. Bradshaw, of Williamson River mission, who has been assigned additional territory of Hearty and Lily in addition to Ft. Klamath and the mission at Williamson River.

Mrs. Sadie Page, Mrs. J. Taylor and Adrian Page were in Klamath Falls Wednesday. Mrs. Kate Russell was also a visitor to the county seat Wednesday.

Monday night, a government truck bearing four passengers overturned on the curve near the Dixon residence on the Crater Lake highway while enroute to Crater Lake. The truck was badly damaged, and the men severely shaken and bruised, one man being thought to have suffered serious injuries to his spine. This wreck took place at the same curve at which a Ford roadster turned over three times the evening of July 4, severely injuring two of the girl occupants of the car. Too much speed is the common verdict as to the cause of both accidents by local residents, this being a dangerous curve which has to be negotiated at a reasonable rate of speed.

George Denton has gone to Diamond lake to work on the road construction detail there. Leon Knowles, nephew of Mrs. Ben Bricco of Fort Klamath, also left the first part of the week for the same place, where he will also be employed on the road work. During Mr. Denton's absence, the farm work will be done by William Copeland at the Denton ranch.

WISEMORE TALKS ON FARM LOANS

FORT KLAMATH, Ore. — Eighteen members and one visitor attended the meeting of the Fort Klamath grange, Tuesday night, in the clubhouse. Worthy Master Theodore R. Nicholson presided over the business session, at the conclusion of which Ray Loosley gave agricultural reports for the past six months, and also gave a brief but interesting talk on mosquito and liver fluke control. Mr. Loosley went on to discuss a pamphlet dealing with farm credit administration, designed to meet the immediate needs of the farmer at the present time.

Following Mr. Loosley's address, Lunsey Wismore gave a brief talk regarding his experience personally with the farm loan association as secretary of the local branch of the association, stating that it took much longer in Oregon to obtain a loan on farm property than in Idaho and in California, due to the fact that Oregon has no representation at the federal land bank in Washington.

During the evening it was decided that no more meetings will be held in July, and that it will be a purely business meeting on August 1, with no refreshments served, as this is a busy season for the farmers in this vicinity, with having operations in full swing during the latter part of July and August.

A committee of Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Bricco, Albert Bricco and Miss Alice Edwards served delicious refreshments to the members present at the close of the evening.

Burrell Short was in the city yesterday on business. He says heaving is on full blast in his section of the country, with heavy rain reported from all of the ranches.

J. F. Kelley and R. A. Booth, of Eugene, and James E. Danaher of Detroit, Mich., who recently visited their $7,000 acre tract of timber north of Yainak, returned Tuesday night and left for their respective homes the next morning.

F. H. Mills will soon be making his rounds in a chug-wagon, having traded W. S. Worden's half of his boat on Upper Klamath Lake for the latter's auto.

Wise Cracks
 Judging by those reports from Hollywood, "America's Sweetheart" is no longer Doug's.

Ohio summer resort featured 50 girls in bathing beauty contest as part of gala July 4 celebration. Doubtless, the cheering was "Hips, hips, hooray!"

Al Capone's successor in Chicago has been indicted for dodging his income tax. Too bad that he didn't have Banker Mitchell's attorney to advise him that it wasn't against the law.

Announcement of Senator Huey Long's daughter that she wears cotton lingerie to aid south's cotton farmers causes one to wonder if the senator will now change from those pink pajamas in which he receives visiting diplomats.

FT. KLAMATH
 FORT KLAMATH, Ore. — Everyone interested in the affairs of the local church is urged to be present at the church services to be held on the evening of July 21, when Mrs. Eastward, delegate to the recent Methodist conference held in Portland this month will give her report on the activities which took place during the conference, and have interesting news for all who attend. Church services will be held here henceforth every two weeks on Sunday evening by Rev. B. V. evening, with high score being made by Mrs. Jo Taylor, and second high by Mrs. Sadie Page. Refreshments were served the following ladies by the hostess at the close of the evening's play: Madeline Kola, McFarling, Mabel Copeland, Geneva Brattin, Sadie Page, Jo Taylor, Amy Zumburum and Opal Page.

ANTI-REPEALISTS PREPARING DRIVE

Meetings in support of the 13th amendment and in favor of retaining the Oregon anti-liquor law have been arranged by the local organizations for various sections of the county.

Thursday evening, Rev. Arthur C. Bates, assisted by Adjutant C. Mass, will conduct a mass meeting assisted by their workers at the Merrill church. The Salvation Army will conduct an open air service at 7:30 p. m. previous to the mass meeting in the church.

The same evening Rev. Fred Horvath and a party and Rev. Harvey Devries will conduct a mass meeting in Chiloquin for the same purpose.

Tentative plans are that Rev. J. B. Coan, new pastor of the Methodist church, will address a public meeting in Fort Klamath Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. He may be assisted by Rev. Devries of Chiloquin.

Legion Makes Rule For Concessions

Officials of the American Legion convention committee announce that there will be no street concessions during the convention here August 10 and 11.

This action was taken to protect the established merchant's from transient competition. Concessions will be let for the Fairgrounds only, they said.

In the early days in the west it was necessary to drive spikes in telegraph poles to prevent buffaloes from pushing them over.

World-wide conditions were a contributory cause to our disaster, but we must admit our deplorable state is largely of our own creation.—Senator Arthur Capper, Kansas.

Chamber Enters C. C. C. Campaign

The Klamath county chamber of commerce is inaugurating a campaign in connection with other chambers in the state to collect and other reading materials discarded by residents to be turned over to civilian conservation camps.

Anyone wishing to discard reading material is requested to leave the printed matter at the chamber for distribution to the various camps.

them started they will never be able to break loose." The evils of narcotics are not to be compared with this so-called prohibition, that does not in the least manner prohibit, but is a mania to be a criminal.

Take it from the lowest broken down bootlegger to one of the highest officials in our national government, the man who had full control of alcohol. He was the worst grafter that the world ever knew, and his graft and the enforcement funds that have been wasted and spent in the idea that they were going to enforce this same Volstead act. If the people had that money now there would be no war debt against the United States, nor any need of funds for the unemployed. The graft in these two ways would more than pay every dollar the government of the U. S. needs today.

Now, in conclusion, let me just say that the Volstead prohibition has been and always will be a failure from the standpoint of prohibiting the sale and use of that accursed alcohol. Our young people have become a depraved lot of headstrong fools, and are equal to the times when the Bible tells us of "Babiam being turned loose."

Now I am not writing this to influence votes but just to express my own personal views, and of course prohibition will get the united support of all the bootleggers and moonshiners. The right side of this question must depend upon thinking people if this crime-wave is killed out.

CHICAGO DOCTOR VISITS KLAMATH

That proper diet and normally functioning glands would do away with most of our bodily ills is the opinion of Dr. O. H. Mather, 731 Main street, Klamath Falls, who has secured the services of Dr. H. H. Hon of Chicago, well known gland expert, to cooperate with him for a few days in making dietary examinations.

"I have felt for a long time that such an arrangement would be welcomed by many people in this community who are not sure what food elements they need in their homes to maintain good health," said Dr. Mather.

"We will work together, offering a double examination, while Dr. Hon is here. One, to locate and measure the cause of any disturbance in the bodies of applicants. The other to find out if there is any nutritional lack that would hamper efforts to recover health or maintain it, suggesting the proper foods to supply needed mineral salts, gland-building materials, and so on."

"Inasmuch as these examinations are offered gratis to the public, appointment will be necessary, and promptness essential."

"Dr. Hon will be here on Thursday morning, July 20, and until Friday evening, July 21, and examinations will be made daily from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.," Dr. Mather said.

PUBLISHER HEARD BY 20-30 CLUB

The "New Deal" was the subject of an interesting address presented to the 20-30 club in regular meeting Monday, by Frank Jenkins, publisher of The Evening Herald and Klamath News.

Jenkins outlined three of the most important moves in the "New Deal," namely: the administration's new farm bills, banking reforms and the industrial control bill and national recovery act.

The speaker reviewed the history of depressions in the nation's past, and took an optimistic tone in prophesying an era of prosperity to follow the present depression.

Sam Ritchie, president of the 20-30 organization, presided as chairman of the Monday meeting.

The Tourists Are On the Highways

THE warmth of July brings the tourist into Oregon in numbers comparable to the summer mosquitoes, but with a great deal more profit and no annoyance. The highways of the state, particularly those in the western sections, relay visitors from the south through the attractive southern Oregon country, up the Willamette valley, along the coast and then into Washington and Canada.

The Klamath region, of course, shares generously in the tourist trade, but by no means as completely as the communities west of the mountains. But now, with the selection of the Klamath-Weed highway and the allotment of a separate quarter-million dollars or more for general road work in this territory, Klamath Falls and Klamath county will be justified in expecting increased summer travel business.

The foreign drivers on the Oregon highways, of course, come most abundantly from California. The bulk of the summer's out-of-state traffic usually travels through the southern state before heading into the northwest. In the years to come we will find this new highway and the improvements on the ones already constructed magnificent contributions to a busy summer.

Klamath Lake Takes Its Proper Position

THE inventiveness of the Klamath Junior Chamber of Commerce Sunday turned the natural attractions of neglected Upper Klamath lake to practical and interesting occupation Sunday with the first major sailing boat regatta held on this immense and beautiful body of water.

We have said often Klamath lake has been smothered and forgotten by noteworthy concentration upon Crater lake. But it was discovered Sunday Klamath lake in its own way can be entered near the top of this country's long list of undeveloped resources.

Thousands of citizens lined the southern shores of the lake and witnessed a picturesque display of watercraft. This is but the beginning of a promotion destined to bring the region into prominence as one of Oregon's outstanding contributions to the country's playgrounds.

The Sales Tax Faces Fight At Polls

POLITICAL observers in Oregon, closely witnessing the trend of voting sentiment, have predicted outstanding victory for repeal at this week's special election and almost certain defeat for the sales tax. The exceedingly prominent attention given these to major issues has indicated a heavy vote.

The citizen today is vigorously alert to take a hand in the affairs of his city and state. Perhaps for the first time, there is almost unanimous general attention toward affairs of government for there is an idea about the country that "the government must be returned to the people." The only possible way this notion can be effected is through personal interest and active use of the ballot.

It is but a question of how badly prohibition will be defeated in Oregon. The sales tax count will be closer, but its defeat is impending. Should the tax lose, it will be a remarkable
