

LEGION READY TO DISTRIBUTE WOODEN MONEY

Tuesday morning, 80 American Legion members will leave the Willard hotel at 9 o'clock, divided into teams and captains. Before the day ends they expect to have every business man in the city convinced the old adage, "Don't take any wooden nickels," means nothing. Only this time it will be quarters.

Six thousand of the little wooden coins are expected to be in circulation during the three days of the convention. Should Klamath residents happen to be offered the coins, they shouldn't fear for their value. O. D. Matthews, convention commission chairman, assured, the commission plans to have all local stores using the money plentifully at face value.

Kickoff Set.

Tuesday morning at a breakfast in the Willard banquet room, the campaign for contacting each business man of the city will be made. At 9 o'clock the campaign will open with all merchants and individuals of the city being called on to purchase a small quota of the wooden coin issue as one of the financing programs of the convention.

The wooden coins are stacked in 55 bunches. Each coin is about the size of a silver fifty cent piece. On one side is printed the American Legion emblem with the inscription, "25 cents, good at any American Legion event, State convention, Klamath Falls, Oregon, 1938."

On the opposite side is a miniature cut of Captain O. C. Applegate in uniform with his name printed over the picture and the inscription, "Veteran U. S. Indian Wars."

The coins have polished surfaces and are made of pine.

Each delegate, alternate or visitor who registers for the American Legion, auxiliary or Forty and Eight society may receive one of the wooden coins with a badge and programs for fifty cents.

PUBLIC WORK FUND SUPPLY NOT KNOWN

WASHINGTON, July 22, (AP)—Administration officials refer to the public works program as a $3,300,000,000 plan, but they don't all agree as to just how much there is in it.

President Roosevelt said recently $1,300,000,000 already was earmarked under the law, $600,000,000 would go to federal construction and $1,300,000,000 to $1,400,000,000 into local public works.

Persistent inquiry at headquarters of the public works administration has disclosed, however, that high officials of that organization do not know for what the $1,300,000,000 is earmarked.

AMERICAN BARRED BY SOVIET RULE

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 22, (AP)—Mare Connelly, American playwright and Pulitzer prize winner, has been barred from entering Russia by the Soviet authorities for a reason that has not been explained.

Four other Americans, making a northern cruise on the liner Kungsholm with Connelly, also were barred, but they have continued toward Leningrad in the hope that the ruling will be changed.

Connelly left the cruise and was expected in Stockholm today from Wisby Island.

Oregon Owned Stock Casualty Company Praised

The examiner for the insurance department recently completed his periodical examination of the Oregon Automobile Insurance company. In his report he states that the company is to be commended for valuing its securities as of December 31, 1937 instead of taking the valuation adopted by the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners, reflecting values as of June 30, 1931. No dilatory tactics, said the examiner, are used in handling claims. In excess of 55 per cent of its bond values are U. S. government bonds and the remainder are of high grade and good marketability. All of its mortgages and a substantial part of its investments are in the state of Oregon. After paying all part and legal claims and setting aside adequate reserves, it shows a surplus to policyholders of $198,408.54. In conclusion the report states that as a result of the examination it appears that the Oregon Automobile Insurance company is in excellent financial condition. It has paid out in claims to its policyholders the sum of $943,495.08, based on the volume of business transacted, capital and surplus, the company is in a position to render service of a high order to its policyholders.

The Oregon Automobile Insurance company is purely an Oregon institution, being a standard stock company owned entirely by Oregon people and is most deserving of patronage by Oregonians. It is the one and only stock casualty company entirely by Oregon people. This splendid company has been represented in Klamath Falls and vicinity for the last seven years by Emil G. Dreher.—Adv.

AMUSEMENTS

Pelican—Now playing, James Cagney in "The Mayor of Hell."

Pine Tree—Now playing, Richard Dix in "The Great Jasper."

Vox—Now playing, Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans in "Hell Below."

ney, ultra popular for his daring and fiery personality, lives a role that out-Cagneys anything since "Public Enemy." This time Cagney's fighting spirit is turned to stop that whip that, unknown generally, is beating the youth of America into the criminal underworld rather than lending a new morale to the misled and disillusioned men of tomorrow. You'll cheer Cagney! You'll laud Warner Brothers for bringing a story like "The Mayor of Hell" to the screen with such daring frankness as to make it an epic. You'll praise Director Archie Mayo for the technical perfection and dramatic strength of this picture that has, in the three short weeks since its world-premier, become the very timely sensation of the screen.

Twenty featured players and hundreds of the best loved juveniles of the screen complete the cast.

VOX.

"Hell Below," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational drama of submarine adventure, with Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston, Madge Evans, Jimmy Durante, Eugene Pallette and Robert Young heading the cast, is the attraction coming today to the Vox theatre. Based on the famous novel, "Pigboats," by Commander Edward Ellsberg the picture unfolds a stirring romance amid the thrills of submarine fighting, torpedoing of destroyers, the destruction of an armed Italian town and other spectacular incidents which have caused the photoplay to be referred to as "The Big Parade of the Ocean." Jack Conway directed "Hell Below," most of which was filmed with actual submarines in the Pearl Harbor naval base at Honolulu.

PINE TREE.

A brand new characterization for Richard Dix is the gay, irresponsible and utterly irresistible lover who becomes known as "The Great Jasper," showing for the first time today at the Pine Tree theatre.

Dix has been just about every sort of a rugged hero and adventurer in his long and highly successful screen career, but this is the first time that all his "adventures" have worn skirts. Jasper could no more help working at women than he could help breathing. Having once seen that wicked wink, no woman could help falling, and, to Jasper's amazing credit, no woman regretted. No woman except his wife.

Edna May Oliver, Florence Eldridge, Betty Furness, Bruce Cabot, Walter Walker and others give leading support to Richard Dix in "The Great Jasper."

TAX STRUCTURE IN STATE UNCHANGED

SALEM, July 22 (AP)—Defeat of the general sales tax by voters of Oregon yesterday leaves the tax structure of the state unchanged with the real property tax remaining in full effect, with a 45 per cent average delinquency in the 36 counties. It was declared by Charles V. Galloway, chairman of the state tax commission today.

The delinquency figures were compiled as of June following date of payment for the first half of the 1932 taxes. Over the state the annual tax for all purposes of government assessed against real property is $42,000,000. Half of this amount was due in May of which about $12,000,000 was paid. The state share of the entire annual tax on property is about $3,500,000.

FOREST WORKERS INVESTIGATE FIRE

A crew of men was sent out from the offices of the Klamath Forest Protective association Friday afternoon, to see if the grass fire burning over Riverside hills was menacing timber in its territory, and if necessary to assist the local fire department in saving residences in the district. Such assistance was not necessary, according to F. Kimball, superintendent of the association, and no timber was endangered by the fire.

Reports from lookout stations on Saturday stated that the blaze was spreading slightly, but that only grass appeared to be burning and that no homes or timber were menaced. The association is keeping a close check on the grass fire situation, however.

81 WITNESSES FOR FEHL TRIAL CALLED

Subpoenas for witnesses for the trial charging Earl H. Fehl, Jackson county judge, with theft of ballots, climbed to 81 Saturday afternoon when 36 were issued for the state. The defense had already issued subpoenas for 45 witnesses.

Fehl, who is out under $7500 bond, was in Klamath Falls Saturday, accompanied by his wife and one of his three attorneys. A. C. Hough, making final preparations for his trial.

The Klamath jury men with whom the fate of Fehl will depend, have been called to report Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

TEN YEARS SENTENCE

Judge G. F. Skipworth of Lane county sentenced James J. Purdy to 10 years in the state penitentiary Saturday afternoon. Purdy pleaded guilty to a morals charge, waiving his grand jury indictments.

MODERN FIREPROOF HOTEL SUTTER SUTTER AT REAR 815. SAN FRANCISCO ROOM WITHOUT BATH $15.00 per day ROOM WITH BATH $20.00 per day GEO. WARREN HOOPER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels. It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced. Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars. But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost. For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense. We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change. We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us. Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed. Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933. In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak. The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you. By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable. Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it. The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.
