With selling pressure increasing, railles from early breaks in grain quotations failed to hold, and at so time did the markets set up to yesterday's closing flue ures. PORTLAND. July 28, (P)— Late advance in the price of egg: was not being fully maintained, although prices were fairly well held by leading distributors. Some of the smaller units were shading values to force a movement which was proving more or less unwilling.

Trade in eggs during the last 24 hours suggested that there was again a slight surplus of fresh offerings, and especially as regards everything except extreme top quality and size.

The market was burt most however, by the open selling of short-held storage stock as fresh.
