

Lon Stiner Goes to Work

New Beaver Coach Gives Conservative Outlook for Conference Play. 12 Lettermen Lost. Schedule Plans Complete. Kitzmiller Back With Oregon.

Lonnie Stiner, the big Nebraska, will turn to work on Bell field next month in as admirable a position as any first year head coach could possibly be.

This was Stiner's conservative description of the Oregon State football prospects in the 1933 Pacific Coast conference.

Stiner, you will recall, succeeded Paul J. Schiesler, head coach for nine years. Stiner, a great linebacker at Nebraska, came out here as Schiesler's assistant, and for eight years played a subordinate part in conditioning the Beavers for their annual campaign.

The Beavers lost 13 lettermen with graduations in June. The amount was sufficient to dismay Stiner, but he immediately cast his eyes upon the new material and discovered a few men who undoubtedly will find high places when the strength of the entire conference is judged.

The coast will miss Keith Davis, left end, who did practically all Oregon State's punting and passing. Some of the coast members, however, will not regret his departure for he was a brilliant offensive and defensive weapon.

Carly Miller, one of the region's outstanding linebacks, will be gone. Miller, playing either at tackle or guard, will be missed as much as Davis. The best defensive backfield man on the coast last year, Harold Moy, will be absent.

Some of the other Beavers who made for the strength in Schiesler's final team and who will not be in the lineup this year are Loren Tuttle, guard; Tommy Ward, backfield; Everett Davis, Herman East and Fred MacDonald, all ends; Wayne Harn, tackle; Ted Hermann, quarterback; Frank Little, fullback; and Hugh Stanfield, guard.

The Beavers have a nicely balanced schedule but it gets pretty difficult as the season moves along. An inter-sectional game with Fordham at New York will be one of the high spots of the year.

Stiner's team will open against Willamette at... and then move into its first conference game against Montana at Bell field.

The season will be closed with the shot at northern on November 15, just seven days after the Oregon contest and after a week of traveling across the nation.

Johnny Kitzmiller, the flying Dutchman of Captain McEwan's Oregon team, has spent the summer in Pennsylvania, his home. He'll be back on the coast soon to start his second year as backfield coach with Prink Callison and the Webfoots.

Kitz was successful as a coach as he was as a player—and he was the best backfield ace produced in this section for many seasons.

PHILADELPHIA BLASTS YANKS

New York Four Games Behind Leaders in American Race

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer) The Philadelphia Athletics, ten games or more out of the American League pennant race, has caused some bad moments for the contending New York Yankees and Washington Senators, as the leaders moved toward the opening of another "crucial" series.

After handing the second-place Yankees three straight defeats to knock them four games out of first place, the A's swung their bludgeon against Washington Sunday and helped reduce the margin to three games.

The Yanks, meanwhile, downed the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4, largely because of Boston errors and George Piggars' lack of control. The victory left the Yanks three games behind Washington and ten ahead of the A's, who in turn increased their third-place margin to 2 1/2 games as Detroit's Tigers captured the remaining first division berth from Cleveland with a double victory.

After pounding Oral Hildebrand to win the opener 7 to 3, the Tigers took the second game, 2-1, on a five-hit pitching job by Fred Marberry. Charley Gehring hit a homer in each game. Chicago's White Sox and the St. Louis Browns divided the other American twin bill. The Sox won the first game, 6-5, in eleven innings, when Red Kress drove in the odd run but George Blasholder's four-hit fling evened the count with a 7-3 St. Louis victory.

The Cincinnati Reds, the day's sensation in the National league, as they took a pair of brilliant extra inning pitching duels from the St. Louis Cardinals. Red Lucas went 11 innings to beat Tex Carleton 2 to 1 in the opener, then Paul Derringer, a former Cardinal, held St. Louis to three hits in 12 frames to win the second clash from Jess Hatnes 1 to 0. Chick Haley, another ex-card, scored both winning runs, with Clyde Manion and Jim Bottomley driving them home. The double victory advanced the Reds to seventh place.

The league-leading New York Giants got no better than an even break with the Brooklyn Dodgers losing the first game, 6-3, when Carl Hubbel weakened in the eighth, then winning, 3-2, with the aid of some brilliant relief pitching by Adolf League. But they increased their lead over Pittsburgh to 3 1/2 games, as the Chicago Cubs and Pat Malone handed the pirates a 6-0 white-washing. Malone pitched six-hit ball, while the Cubs found Steve Swetonic for five runs in the fifth. The Phillies and the Boston Braves waged a pair of close duels that got them nowhere. The Phillies won the opener, 1-0, when Spud Davis' homer in the second decided a struggle between Ed Holley and Dutch Brandt. Boston came back with a 2-1, ten inning victory as Buck Jordan smacked a single with the bases loaded to break up a battle between Fred Frankhouse and Austin Moore.

Portland Scores Four Wins Over Reds; Sacs Beaten

(By Associated Press) Sacramento's long summer reign over the Coast league was at an end after a week-end that saw San Francisco's battered Seals wallop the league leaders four straight and send them down to fourth place. Portland succeeded to the pace-setter's berth with four week-end triumphs over the Missions, 5-3 and 3-2 Saturday night and 8-7 and 4-3 Sunday. Tony Freitas, pitching his first game since his return to the Coast league after more than a year with the Philadelphia Athletics, hurled the first Sunday victory for the Beavers. Portland captured the series, 4-3.

Sunday Bruce Cunningham did some effective mound work for San Francisco, beating Sacramento, 8-3. Ken Douglas followed him in the box to twirl the fourth win, 12-0, as the Seals made their 13 hits count for six runs with a pair of timely four-baggers. San Francisco took the series, 5-3.

Hollywood trimmed 6-3 Saturday night and 7-3, 19-8 Sunday to climb into second place. Cedric Durst and Ray Jacobs backed up Archie Campbell's steady tossing with home runs in the opener. Jacobs added another in the nightcap, his 25th of the season, and Vince De Maggio, Hollywood outfielder, drove in six runs with timely four-baggers. The Stars finished the series with a 6-1 edge over Seattle.

Sweeping its three week-end games with Oakland, Los Angeles moved up into third place, half a game behind the first place Beavers. The Angels outslugged the Oaklanders, 9-4, Saturday night and in both ends of yesterday's doubleheader, 13-3 and 7-5.

Bend went in to a 4 to 0 lead early in the game, but the Portlanders pounded Murphy, Bend hurler, hard in the latter stages for their win.

Taking advantage of five Salem errors, the Albany Alcons took a 6 to 5 victory from the Senators. Salem lost a golden chance in the seventh when Gracie homed with the bases loaded, but failed to touch second and his tying run didn't count. The Eugene-Schapps contest was postponed.

Scores: R. H. E. Federals 10 15 3 Bend 8 8 5 Charles and Richards; Murphy and Eubanks. R. H. E. Albany 6 7 3 Salem 5 12 5 Covert, Hampton and Wilkinson; Wilson and Moy.

San Francisco Golfer Takes National Title

PORTLAND, Aug. 7. (AP)—Charles Ferrera was more excited today over the possibility of getting his job back in a San Francisco foundry plant than he was over winning the national public links golf crown for the second time. "I'm glad to have won the championship again, but I'll be a lot happier if the old cup helps me get the job back which I lost a year ago," said the Californian, who scored a neat 4 and 2 triumph over the defending titlist, Robert Lee Miller of Jacksonville, Fla. in their 36-hole skirmish at the East Moreland municipal course here Saturday. Ferrera is the second golfer to capture the championship more than once, but he is still behind the record of Carl Kaufman of Cleveland, who won the trophy in 1927, '28 and '29.

The Stensby kept its propellers working and just as the freighter appeared to move a trifle, the hawser parted. It was believed the effort had failed.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7. In no immediate danger of dying, but in a serious condition, Hudkins will go on the operating table today in doctors' efforts to stop a hemorrhage by removing the bullets, one of which lodged in the right upper lobe of his lung.
