

County Teams Plan Active Season

Formation of Coaches' Association Strengthens "B" Division Teams. Tulelake to Produce Eleven. Washington State Title Hopes Brighter. Giants Accept Another Challenge.

Klamath county high schools, a little shadowed by the dominance of the Klamath Pelicans, rather took things into their own hands this week with the formation of an association of coaches. These schools, officially classed in the "B" division of intercollegiate athletics, should with attract more attention with this new organization.

Now, instead of working independently and fighting the Pelicans for prestige, they will automatically become "powers" in the sports of Klamath county.

Teams have been particularly limited here within the last few years. Football among the county schools has been developed only by Klamath Falls, Malin, Merrill and Bonanza. This year, however, there is an excellent opportunity for increasing the membership of the league.

All schools will consider the possibilities of entering teams. A survey of enrollment will be conducted this week to determine the number of youths available.

The Klamath Wildcats, Bonanza, Merrill and Malin will again enter the county football campaign.

Chiloquin, consistent producer of basketball and track champions, undoubtedly will find it possible to include football in its athletic program.

Fort Klamath, Keno and Henley, idle in the gridiron sport for a number of seasons, strongly consider resuming activity.

One of the most interesting developments in the athletics of the region will be the introduction of a new high school, Tule Lake. Tule Lake will form a football team this season and will be admitted to the Klamath league.

It will have no status in "B" basketball tournaments governed by the Oregon State Athletic association but it will enjoy participation in league games.

Washington State has one of the most cheerful outlooks of any school in the Pacific coast conference. This is self-predicted from Pullman, as it has the correct background.

Babe Hollingbery's Cougars will count strongly in the Pacific coast championship.

An abundance of material plus experience has been the basis for this high degree of optimism at Washington State. Eighteen of those young giants who moved through the 1932 season with but one defeat will report for the first practice next week.

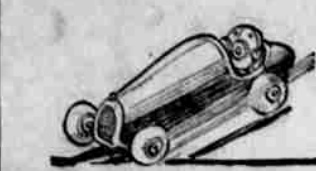

The only game Hollingbery lost was to the coast champion, Southern California, and that was by a comparatively slim score.

There has been but one loss in the backfield—brilliant George Sanders—Hollingbery already is confident he has discovered capable replacements.

It will be in the line where the Cougars expect the fine strength for victory. Veterans will return for every position and there will be any amount of candidates from the powerful and undefeated freshman squad. Some of these ex-yearlings, probably will find position in the backfield, too.

The New York Giants already have spoiled the pleasant hopes of two National league teams and now the third comes forward for a trial. This will be Chicago and the series will open after New York completes its Cincinnati engagement.

First it was Boston, then it was Pittsburgh and next it will be Chicago. Boston was knocked down from second to fifth place after tackling the Giants and Pittsburgh isn't progressing any too well in the first division after the series of last week.

A'S DISCOVER NEW PITCHER

John Marcum of Louisville Brings Win to Mackmen.

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Connie Mack's problem of finding a right handed pitcher to fit into the mound staff he is building for 1934 apparently has been solved by John Marcum, from Louisville of the American association.

While the New York Giants were strengthening their lead in the National league and the Washington Senators were adding to their advantage in the American circuit yesterday, Marcum, making his second major league start, pitched his second shutout as the Philadelphia Athletics trimmed the Chicago White Sox twice.

Lefty Grove wins After Lefty Grove turned in his 21st victory of the season with a 5 to 3 decision over Ted Lyons in the first game, young Marcum ran his big-league record to 13 scoreless innings with an 8 to 0 triumph. As in his debut against the Cleveland Indians last Friday, the recruit held the White Sox to five singles and struck out three. Al Simmons fanned twice.

The double victory boosted the Athletics into third place, one-half game in front of the Indians, who were the victims of Monte Weaver's effective pitching at Washington, the Senators winning 5 to 1.

Solons Boost Lead
Coupled with the Detroit Tigers' 5 to 1 decision over the New York Yankees, the Senators increased their lead over the world champions to nine and one-half games. They need only eight victories in their remaining 12 games to clinch the pennant even if the Yanks win all their remaining 13 contests.

In the National league, the Cubs and Pirates, rained out, increased their lead over Chicago to eight games and over Pittsburgh to eight and one-half by beating the heavily favored Reds, 3 to 1. It was the Giants' fifth straight victory. Ten victories in their 19 games will assure the Giants of the flag.

Hubbell to Rescue
Again Manager Bill Terry called on his ace of aces, Carl Hubbell, to save the game. Holding a two-run advantage but with Herman Bell showing signs of weakness, Hubbell was rushed to the rescue in the seventh after Red Lucas had led off with a single. In the last three innings, he allowed only one hit and pitched just 27 balls to ten batters.

It was the second time in as many days Hubbell, who defeated the Pirates Friday, had been shoved into the breach. It also was the 41st game in which he had taken part. He now has pitched 235 1-3 innings, more than 31 full games and fanned 145 batsmen.

The Yankees' defeat at the hands of the Tigers was largely the result of Fred Marberry's pitching. He held the champions to four scattered hits and only one man reached second after the first inning. The Tigers' Charley Ruffing for 11 safe hits, pushing over three runs in the seventh.

The Boston Braves retained their mathematical chance of winning the National league pennant by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 3 to 0 behind the six-hit pitching of Ed Brandt.

Indians Leave Oregon CCC Camps
ALTURAS, Calif.—Evidently Modoc and Lassen county Indians believe that the work of the President's Civilian Conservation Corps is taking their native woods too far from the "forest primal."

A considerable number sent up from both counties to work in CCC camps in Oregon returned home after a few days work with their only excuse the fact that they did not like the life. Many of the Indians' families are destitute and present a local problem of relief work.

World's Fair Trip Described at Meet
MALIN, Ore.—The Malin grange met in regular session on Wednesday evening, September 6, at the church, with a fair attendance. Plans were discussed for the coming season, and several suggestions made for social affairs.

As part of the lecturer's program for the evening, Mr. Street, grange master, gave an interesting account of his trip to the world's fair. The next meeting of the grange will be of special importance, and a large attendance is desired.

After a Momentous Rowboat Parley

The spectacle of two statesmen holding a momentous conference in a rowboat was afforded hundreds of onlookers at Riccione Beach, Italy, when Chancellor Engelbert Dollfus of Austria rowed out to where Premier Mussolini was swimming to discuss, it is reported, a central European pact. This was the scene as the little Chancellor (holding coat and hat) and Il Duce (in bathing suit) returned to the beach.

POWER IN LINE CALLISON'S WORRY ON OREGON GRID TEAM

EUGENE, Ore., Sept. 12, (AP)—If Prince Gary Callison, Oregon's football coach, can get his ball carriers to the line of scrimmage, the Webfoots should be in on the coast conference payoff this fall.

Callison, the driver, has a bag full of as good ball-carriers as anyone in the northwest, but the line—

A week after football practice opens, Callison will know the doubtful or gladsome news. Little Linfield college will be pitted against Oregon Friday night, September 22.

Like his predecessor, Doc Spears, Callison likes big beefy boys on his team, a trait probably developed the day he played center for Oregon against Harvard and saw the big eastern linemen take Oregon's offensive apart.

At least one of his backs is out for all-American mention—Mike Mikulak, the crashing fullback whose defense play won him all-coast last fall. The big Pole spent the summer in the Orient playing basketball so should get off to a flying start.

Co-Captain Mark Temple, the halfback New York scribes said was made of "tough rawhide" two years ago, when Oregon trimmed N. Y. U. probably will do the ball-carrying, teamed with Leighton Gee, another two-year veteran.

A lot of power was graduated when Bill Bowerman, quarter, Red Bailey, end, and Bill Moran, captain and tackle, got their sheepskins. Callison's main worries are over those vacancies. He still has Biff Nilsson for one tackle, Alex Eagle, 201, and Charles Bishop, 218, are after all-coast Morgan's place.

If Ralph Terjeson falls to hold down quarterback, Callison may have Temple call signals and use Stan Kostka, 200-pound half, or Pepper Pelejak at quarter to block the tackles.

A team without four or five good ends will find the going rough on the coast this fall—a predicament Callison is likely to find himself in. He has two two-stripe men in Bud Pozzo and Charles Wishard and may use Ray "Butch" Morse, former Portland ace.

Callison and Gene Shields, line coach, won't lose much sleep over center and guards, with Bert Hurdus, an all-coast center, and guards like Gardner Frye, Roy Gagnon, Bree Cappelletti, Howard Clark and Ted Giesecke.

Oregon's biggest weakness this year may turn out to be in her reserves. The Freshman team yielded little variety material. Callison has 22 letterman back and loses only four, but the situation isn't as cheerful as that sounds.

COACHES FORM ASSOCIATION

County Schools Banded Together by New Organization.

An association of Klamath county high school coaches was formed here Monday afternoon. The association, a permanent organization, will perform its first functions this week with the adoption of the county football schedule.

Leroy Coyner, principal of the Bonanza school, was elected president. Harold Ashley of Fort Klamath high school will be vice president. C. C. Chase of Henley, secretary-treasurer.

Tule Lake to Enter
The organization will represent Henley, the Klamath Falls Wildcats, Malin, Bonanza, Chiloquin, Keno and Fort Klamath. The new high school at Tule Lake probably will be brought into the organization this week.

A schedule committee of three coaches was named. The schedule, however, probably will not be announced until late this week or early next inasmuch as several schools not entered in the league may consider developing football teams this season.

The membership in the league will be largely determined by the enrollment. If schools can muster a sufficient number of candidates, they will put teams in the field. Tule Lake undoubtedly will be in the competition against Klamath county outfits.

The schedule committee will be composed of Roland Parks of Malin, H. Getman of Bonanza and C. C. Chase of Henley.

Many of the schools held their first football practice of the season Tuesday afternoon.

Clingman Drops Match To Parks On Owen's Card

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12, (AP)—Herb Parks, Canadian middleweight star, outwrestled Otis Clingman, the clever little middleweight from Oklahoma City, in the main event of Herb Owen's weekly wrestling show at the Labor Temple here last night and took two of the three falls.

Parks, from Vancouver, B. C., took the first fall after 10 minutes of clever grappling, with a firing scissor and gained the third when Clingman was counted out after being thrown from the ring. Clingman had previously taken the second in eight minutes with his flying key arm scissors.

Hulldog Jackson, the tough one from Klamath Falls, gave his box with Dorris Dettis, Salt Lake City middleweight, called no contest after each had gained a fall. Jackson slammed Referee Elliott but in an ensuing melee was tossed out of the ring and then battered by spectators until police intervened and stopped the fight and the match.

Thor Jensen, Elktion 160-pounder, defeated Jack Mitchell, Lonsview, two of three falls in the opening bout.

"The Penguin Pool Murderer" a laugh-packed, fast-moving comedy-mystery.

PINE TREE
"Tomorrow at Seven," RKO Radio Pictures' thrilling murder mystery, lines up a brilliant talented cast to enact the Ralph Spence comedy-drama for the Pine Tree theatre patrons today.

Chester Morris and Vivienne Osborne head the cast, which includes such character performers and comedians as Henry Stephens, Allen Jenkins, Frank McHugh, Grant Mitchell, Charles Middleton and Corneille Keefe. Morris will be remembered for his prominent roles in "Alibi," "Redhead Woman" and "Blondie Johnson"; and Miss Osborne appeared in "Sailor Be Good" and "Men Are Such Fools" recently.

RAINBOW
Edna May Oliver and James Gleason comprise a joyous comedy pair who sprinkle a tense pynstrey melodrama with snappy fun and solve two murders, two love affairs and several other serious matters of crime and romance in "The Penguin Pool Murderer," now at the Rainbow theatre.

BUCS' BUTCHER

When "Butcher Boy" Ralph Birkhofer stalks to the mound with a meat cleaver in his hand, he simply slays 'em. The new Pirate pitcher, above, brought up from Toronto to aid the Pittsburghers' last bid for the pennant, has hurled two brilliant ball games for George Gibson, winning both. He's a southpaw, weighs 213.

Hunting Season On Game Birds Cut in America

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12, (AP)—The department of agriculture announced today that the open hunting season for waterfowl, quail and jacksnipe would be limited to two months this year as it was last.

Until the department became alarmed because of the growing scarcity of wild fowls, the hunting season for ducks and geese ordinarily was three months.

The daily bag limit on ducks was reduced from 15 to 12, not more than eight of which may be canvasbacks, redheads, scaups, pintails, shovellers or mallards. The possession limit for ducks was reduced from 30 to 24 and on the accepting species, from 20 to 16.

The amended regulations provide no open season for brant on the Atlantic coast, although hunting them on the Pacific coast is permitted. For the first time since 1929 cackling geese may be hunted.

The new open season for ducks (except wood ducks, ruddy ducks, and bufflehead ducks) geese, brant and jacksnipe was set for October 15 to December 15 in Kansas, Oklahoma, Utah, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, (except in the five northern counties and the northern zone of New Mexico); September 21 to November 20 in the five northern counties of Idaho; November 1 to December 31 in California; October 1 to November 30 in Montana.

California Rider Takes First Prize

ALTURAS, Calif.—Lady Luck is smiling on Charles Russell of Alturas for the first time in years. The young cowboy, a rider of the first water, has, during the past few years, made some wonderful rides at various rodeo contests in California and Oregon only to lose out on the prize money through some painful injury in the arena.

At the recent rodeo in Lakewood, competing against some of the finest riders of the west, Russell won first prize in the bucking contests. Jack Meyers of Oregon came second and John Slater of Colorado third.

Goldstein Wins Over Perlick

NEW YORK, Sept. 12, (AP)—Rudy Goldstein, veteran New York welterweight, scored his second straight victory last night starting his latest comeback campaign by knocking out Herman Perlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., in the first round of their scheduled eight-round main event at Fugazy bowl.

Goldstein weighed 144; Perlick 147.

PELICAN GRID PRACTICE SET

Klamath Squad to Workout on Modoc Field Wednesday.

The Klamath Pelicans will scuffle the dust of Modoc field for the first time this season on Wednesday afternoon. Nearly 75 youths are expected to report to Les Avritt head coach, for the opening drill.

The candidates met informally Tuesday afternoon. Equipment was issued and talks given by Avritt and Al Sinclair, the line coach.

The strength of the Pelican team for the season still is of uncertain quality. A number of men from the 1932 team have graduated, and several more have withdrawn from school.

Among the leading players from 1932 who will not be in the Pelican lineup this year are Rex Hankaker, halfback; Jones, halfback; Bill Mahew, halfback; Louis Macanulch, quarterback; Jack Kniel, guard and tackle; Chan Berry, center; Clemont Sigford, tackle and guard; Ray Allen, end, and others.

Willamette Team Will Open Grid Year On Friday

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 12, (AP)—Football practice at Willamette university will open at Sweetland field Friday, Coach Spec Keene announced today.

Keene expects six experienced backs and 12 linemen from last year's squad to form the nucleus of the team which plays Oregon State at Corvallis, September 25. Ashland Normal meets the Beavers in the second game at the night's double-header bill.

More than 50 men turned out for opening practice at Oregon Normal school, according to reports from Monmouth. Coach Larry Wolfe started working hard for the first game, Friday night, September 22, against College of the Pacific at Portland.

Alonso Stags, long-time coach at University of Chicago, now coaching the Stockton college, opens his first season in the West with the Monmouth game.

Game Commission Sets Bag Limit For Bird Season

PORTLAND, Sept. 12, (AP)—Co-operation between Pacific Coast states to set a uniform bag limit on migratory birds moved a step nearer when the Oregon game commission set a limit of 30 birds a week.

The action conforms with federal regulations, and is contingent upon adoption of similar limits by California and Washington.

Although a hunter may shoot 30 birds a week, he will not be allowed to have more than 24 in his possession at one time. The daily limit is 12 birds.

Closure of the Tillamook area to hunting this fall because of the recent disastrous Wilson River forest fire, which killed thousands of wild birds and animals, will be discussed at an open game commission meeting at Tillamook Tuesday.

Racing Season Ends Saturday

SEATTLE, Sept. 12, (AP)—The horse racing season at Longacres will end with next Sunday's program, the Washington Jockey club announced here today. The club will have finished its announced 40-day meeting at that time.

HOP YARD CASE MEETS DELAY

WOODBURN, Sept. 12, (AP)—Trials of two groups charged with vagrancy as a result of recent hop yard turmoil were delayed when the first group came up before Judge Hiram Overton in the justice court here this morning.

Frederic E. Walker, George Berglund and Elton Manning, all of Portland, and Walton Foster of Newberg, had their cases continued until 10 o'clock October 6.

The charge against the second group consisting of A. A. Bristol of Eugene and G. I. Wilson and Joe Sigrist of Portland, was dismissed without prejudice upon recommendation of Judge J. P. Page, deputy district attorney. This was done in order to make the way clear for a direct appearance before the grand jury.

Seven Fights End With Knockouts

PICO, Calif., Sept. 12, (AP)—Six knockouts in seven bouts was the record set at Pico arena last night, while the seventh bout between Frank Goldstein, 153, and Jack Massey, 150, was called a draw.
