

RELIEF WORK ORGANIZED BY NEW DIRECTOR

Retail merchants of Klamath Falls have received but few requisition orders from the Klamath county relief office since the system was started Monday because of the large supply of goods on hand at the commissary.

The commissary goods are expected to be completely used by October 1 when every order will be issued to local merchants.

The requisition orders are made out by Mrs. Harry Ackley and Mrs. Elizabeth Sanders, workers from the relief office, who call at the home of each person on relief lists at least every two weeks.

Working Aid Housewives After talking with the heads of each household, the unemployment in the family and the physical condition of each member of the family, the two field workers from the relief office help the housewife to plan balanced meals for a week in advance.

No particular store is designated on the order. Those receiving relief are permitted to take the order to any grocery store or meat market in the city or county.

The field workers suggest, however, that trade be given those stores where those receiving relief have previously shopped and received credit.

Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Ackley have carry price quotations issued each week by the retail grocers' association on all goods.

The price quoted at all stores to the relief office is 15 per cent above the wholesale price for the goods.

No Changes Permitted A duplicate of the order is returned to the relief office and kept on file for checking with the monthly bill from each store.

The purpose of the home calls is to keep a closer check of families on relief and to prevent the relief office from being continually swamped by those seeking relief.

First Monday, Hillside and Old Fort districts; first and third Tuesdays, homes along Bend Highway; second and fourth Tuesdays, district between East street and Blinn street; Thursdays, Mills Addition districts; Saturdays, canal and railroad districts; at unscheduled times Mrs. Ackley will remain at the relief office.

District visits of Mrs. Sanders follow: Monday morning, Fairview; Monday afternoon, North Klamath; Tuesday morning, Ewauna district; Wednesday morning, Altamont and Homedale; Thursday morning, Stewart addition and G. C. & E. district; first Friday of each month, Bonanza; second Friday, Merrill; third Friday, Keno; fourth Friday, Lakovlevsky highway district.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21. (AP)—The governing committee, president and other officials of the New York stock exchange have agreed to direct the affairs of the proposed New Jersey stock exchange. It was announced today following a meeting of the governing committee.

It was understood that present plans call for the opening of the new exchange October 2 with a trading list including from five to ten of the more active issues now on the New York exchange.

Wall Street expects a general exodus of security exchanges and dealers to New Jersey following the lead of the stock exchange. The curb already has made tentative plans to organize the New Jersey curb exchange, and dealers in unlisted securities and other dealers with no exchange affiliations are said to be contemplating flight to escape the gross profits tax New York City proposes to assess.
