By HILL BRAUCHER (NEA Writer) Something of the muscular quality that Cecil Smith brought all the way from Texas to astound polo, plus some of the linguistic effects that Art Shires bestowed upon big league baseball, now appears on the Harvard gridiron in the person of Cliff Jackson, from Houston.

After two years of service as a scrub—two years that have willed the stout heart of many a young man—good old Cliff is right back in there again, crying for more. His shout takes the form of that ear-piercing rebel yell making the stadium reverberate as scrubs and regulars maul one another in scrimmages.

Cliff was sent in at end one day last fall against Capt. Carl Hageman. He introduced himself to Hageman, "You may be captain up here in the north, Carl, but down where I come from I'm a kannel, and a kannel is better than a captain in any man's army."

"Not just yet, coach," was the Texas' surprising reply. "What's the matter, don't you feel well?" asked Knox. "Oh, I feel fine," Cliff came back. "But give these fellows a chance. Wait until we're behind and then put me in. We don't want to win by too many. Whether he gets into a variety

DID YOU KNOW THAT— Sharkey says he doesn't know whether he'll quit or not, and that his bout with Tommy Loughran will tell the tale. The award for the most attractive grid outfit this year should go to Manhattan's Jaspers. . . . who'll wear glistering gold pants of sheer silk, and bright Kelly-green and white jerseys. . . . topped off with snow-white helmets. . . . Pete Reilly, the guy who has had a share in nearly every fighter to don the mitts, reveals that he has a piece of Kingfish Levinsky. . . . and that the wallop is the next crown wearer because he has started to fight with his head as well as his roundhouse right. . . . Pete says he's gunning for a bout between Kingfish and Schmelzing for the New York Milk Fund.

game this year or not, Cliff Jackson is pretty sure to be a big help to his squad. Football players often become jittery or discouraged, but this won't happen with Cliff around. He's tonic for the Casey-men's morale.

FIVE PERSONS DIE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

SEATTLE, Sept. 30. (P)—With one wheel caught in an unfinished culvert on a new pavement job, an automobile hurtled out last night in Snoqualmie Pass and crashed head-on into a speeding motor bus and five persons, three women and two men, were killed.

The victims, all of Tacoma, were: Dr. George Diekmann, 55, Katherine Diekmann, 46, his wife. The Rev. Ralph C. Sargent, 60, a Baptist minister. J. E. Tuttle, 50, a public works employe.

Mrs. Tuttle, 50. Four of the victims were killed outright, and the Rev. Mr. Sargent died while state patrolmen were preparing to place him in an automobile to race with him to a Snoqualmie hospital.

Youth Sentenced For Taxi Holdup PORTLAND, Sept. 30. (AP)—Willis Percy, 19, of Salem, was sentenced to a one-year jail term Friday for the holdup of a taxicab driver here August 12. He pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of simple assault. Oran Polk, also of Salem, who was involved in the same case, recently was given a similar sentence.

Eugene Awarded Bar Convention BEND, Ore., Sept. 30. (P)—Moving toward adjournment of their 1933 convention, members of the Oregon Bar association today accepted the invitation of the University of Oregon law school and the Lane County Bar association to hold its next meeting in Eugene concurrently with that of the Pacific Coast Institute of Law and Justice.

Ohio Fighter Beats Carlton JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 30. (P)—Joey Ferrando, 132, Ash-tabula, Ohio, won a 15-round decision over Harry Carlton, 135, Jersey City.

WORLD SERIES OPENS TUESDAY

Managers Keying Players for First Contest at Polo Grounds.

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (P)—Most of the stress and strain for the rival world series contenders will revolve around the box offices between now and the opening blast of baseball warfare at the Polo Grounds next Tuesday afternoon.

Joe Cronin and Bill Terry well may be concerned about "keying" their players to the desired concert pitch. Old Gus Fan may be worried over who the Senators will nominate to hurl against Carl Hubbell in the opening game, as well as his chances of squeaking into one of the scant 5,000 bleacher seats at the polo grounds for $1.10. But the club owners today were more deeply involved in the job of trying to unload the high-priced tickets that mean profits for the climax of an otherwise lean year.

Sell Out Unlikely The chances of sell-outs, especially at the Polo Grounds, appear unlikely, although officials of both contending clubs insist the advance sale is "satisfactory" and a reflection of widespread interest.

However, there are some 44,000 seats altogether at the Polo Grounds, exclusive of the small centerfield bleachers, to be sold at prices of $3.30 and $6.50 before the "S. R. O." sign or its equivalent can be hung out. And they don't sell standing room for world series games, anyway.

The capacity at Washington, including extra stands erected in the outfield, is around $6,000. The prospects of a full house at the capital seem proportionately better than in New York, where the big series is no novelty.

Seven Games Decide Title Nine years ago, when these same rivals last fought for the world championship, the top crowd at the Polo Grounds was 49,243 for the fourth game. The biggest turnout at Clark Griffith stadium numbered 35,922 cash customers, at the second contest.

It took seven hard-fought games to run the gross receipts above the million dollar mark in the 1924 series. The magnates will give three rousing cheers if they can show anything in proportion to that total this year. It has been mostly bad news financially for the club owners in the past few years. This has been due mainly to the disconcerting Yankee habit of making the world series just as short as possible.

Giants Praise Hubbell The battle between the Giants and Senators will be no less keen because of the financial stakes involved. The player pool ran close to $250,000 nine years ago in similar surroundings and with a similar impulse to conduct a knock-down-and-drag-out fight. That meant close to $6,000 for each winning performer and around $4,000 for each loser. Since then certain well known developments have caused these sums to be very well regarded in every walk of life. There is no exception among ball players, whose salaries have been well trimmed in the past two years.

The Giants believe they have the big "money pitcher" of the series.

OFFICIAL SCORER NAMED NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (P)—James Kahn of the Daily News was chosen today by the New York baseball writers' association as official scorer for the world series.

Cliff Jackson will be given each day until the world championship has been determined.

This will be Mr. Poole's 12th annual series event. For a number of years they have been held at the Pine Tree and in previous years at the old Liberty theater.

The Pine Tree is capable of seating hundreds of spectators, and if other years can be used to estimate the attendance, the opening game Tuesday will be heard by a capacity house.

Jackson in Hubbell and there's nothing now to dispute the claim, pending developments next Tuesday afternoon when the star southpaw makes his first bid to halt the Senators. The opinion still holds that Washington will trot out Monte Weaver, young right hander, for the opener but gossip around the "cashhouse district"—otherwise known as world series headquarters—developed some belief today that Earl Whitehill, the strong-armed southpaw, may get the nod from Manager Joe Cronin.

"The Senators will not merely gamble on trying to beat Hubbell but will go out there determined to do it, with the best resources at their command," said one of the Washington board of strategy. "We figure if we can trim Hubbell, it will be all over but the shouting."

Elliot is no novice to the wrestling game. For several years he has coached University of Oregon wrestling teams and previously had gained recognition among amateur middleweights of the state.

Fonseca has signed a one-year contract at a salary believed to be approximately $15,000. He will be his third season at the helm.

In the face of opposition, Comiskey has kept Fonseca as Sox manager. It had been rumored for several weeks that Jimmy Dykes, Sox third baseman, and Babe Ruth were the leading candidates for the job.

PULL FOR PAPA BILL

If you don't think the Giants will win the world series, try your arguments on these two youngsters. They are sons of Bill Terry, manager. Kenn, five, shows how Carl Hubbell will whip that screw ball past the Senators, while Bill, Jr., 15, follows the team in the paper at the Terry home in Memphis, Tenn.

JACK FRANNEY WILL ANNOUNCE WORLD SERIES PLAY TUESDAY

Jack Franney, veteran announcer of Harry W. Poole's annual world series, will be on the stage of the Pine Tree theater Tuesday morning to tell the story of the opening game between the Washington Senators and the New York Giants.

Franney, who has been the announcer for many years, will again present the colorful description coming over the leased Associated Press wires of the Evening Herald. A broadcast will be given each day until the world championship has been determined.

This will be Mr. Poole's 12th annual series event. For a number of years they have been held at the Pine Tree and in previous years at the old Liberty theater.

Commerce Trims Franklin Team PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 30. (P)—Before a crowd of nearly 15,000, Commerce High defeated Franklin 7 to 0 in the opening game of the Portland interscholastic football league at Multnomah stadium last night. Brauti, a sub halfback, teaming with Jerry Donovan, veteran end, produced the winning touchdown. With fourth down and four yards to go Brauti tossed a forward pass to Donovan, who made a spectacular catch two yards inside the goal line.

Miss McDougall Wins Tournament PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 30. (P)—Marion McDougall beat the medalist Jim to win the Oregon Women's Golf association championship by defeating Florence Sellers, Oregon state titlist, 7 and 6. The new champion turned in a 39 on her first morning round to 42 for her opponent. On the second she carded a 41 and Miss Sellers a 42.

MISSION STAR TOPS BATTERS

Oscar Eckhardt Nearing Coast League Hitting Championship.

By The Associated Press In the final week of the 1933 season Big Oscar Eckhardt of the Missions continues to demonstrate he is the Coast league's batting champion as convincingly as he did in the opening series.

Topping his nearest rival, Frenchy Bordagaray of Sacramento, by more than 40 points, the big Texan is a cinch to wear the circuit's batting crown for the second straight year and seems likely to set a new Pacific Coast hitting record.

Missions Beaten The Red outfielder hit safely in half of his eight tries to the plate Friday night as Hollywood captured a twin bill from the Missions, 7-3, 7-3. His four hits included his twelfth home run of the season and boosted his average to .414 and his total hits to 311 in 185 games. The present league batting mark is .407.

John Mills bested Johnny Babich, Mission pitching ace, in the opener, and Tom Sheehan out-hurled Wayne Osborne in the nightcap.

Los Angeles held its championship margin over the Stars at six and one-half games with its third win of the week from San Francisco, 11-2. The pennant winners pounded Stine, Douglas and McDougall for 23 hits, while their rookie moundman, Charles Lightfoot, held the Stars to 11 blows after a period of wildness in the early innings.

Sacs Lost Oakland made its own and lost percentage an even 500 with its fourth straight victory at Sacramento, 3-2. Lou McEvoy gave the Solons only five bingles and led the Oakland attack on Ed Bryan with three singles, Cookie Lavagetto, Oak second sacker, poled one out of the park.

Given a five-run lead in the initial inning, Lou Koupal held it to give Portland a 7-2 decision over Seattle and even the series at three all. Fred Berger, Beaver left fielder, and Pitcher Ulrich of the Indians cracked out four-baggers.

Fonseca Will Stay With Chicago Sox CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (P)—Lewis A. Fonseca, who already had been fired by the grandstand manager, will be retained as pilot of the Chicago White Sox for next season at an increase in salary. J. Louis Comiskey, president of the White Sox, announced today.

Fonseca has signed a one-year contract at a salary believed to be approximately $15,000. He will be his third season at the helm.

In the face of opposition, Comiskey has kept Fonseca as Sox manager. It had been rumored for several weeks that Jimmy Dykes, Sox third baseman, and Babe Ruth were the leading candidates for the job.

UPLAND GAME BIRD SEASON WILL OPEN With the novelty of deer hunting worn off, sportsmen of Klamath county were abating up their scatter guns Saturday and preparing to be out in the farming districts early Sunday morning when the Chinese pheasant season opens.

According to the official synopsis of the Oregon hunting laws Klamath is the only county wherein the state in which the pheasant season opens October 1. In all other counties where the hunting is legal the season opens on or after October 15.

Open for Month Here. The Klamath season opens Sunday morning and will continue until October 31.

The bag limit on pheasants is four in any one day or eight in any seven consecutive days. It is unlawful to take more than one female Chinese pheasant in any seven consecutive days.

States police and game wardens announced Saturday they would divide forces Sunday between pheasant hunters and deer hunters to see that game violations are not made.

Despite the fact that roosters from a shipment of 500 pheasants have been released this year in the Klamath basin by the Klamath Sportsmen's association, the supply is reported by farmers to be small.

Whitehead Scores Win Over Ketchell HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30. (P)—Vearl Whitehead, 159, of Santa Monica, won a close decision over Wes Ketchell, 163, of Portland, Ore., in a 10-round main bout.

Whitehead scored a no-count knockdown in the sixth round and then fought Ketchell on even terms until the final round. In this session he opened up, and his stirring finish caught Referee Frank Holborrow's eye.

BOSTON LEADS NATIONAL PLAY

Braves Spurt Toward First Division and Series Prize.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer Leading a little interest to the otherwise dull closing days of the major league baseball season, the Boston Braves have put on a spirited drive for a place in the National league's first division and a slice of the world series money.

Win Four Straight The Braves, pennant contenders only a month ago, have won four straight games in their belated bid for fourth place and were only half a game behind the St. Louis Cardinals with two games to go for each team. St. Louis still has a chance to beat Chicago out of third place and the Cubs, in turn, may move into second place ahead of Pittsburgh.

After running into various difficulties, the Braves finally won their second game from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 1, Friday.

With the New York Giants trying to get a line on their wild series rivals, the Washington Senators cut loose with some more heavy hitting and loose pitching against the Yankees. Aided by a five-run rally in the fourth, when they bunched three hits with two walks and an error, and led by Cardinals' pitcher Manush, the Nats pulled out an 8 to 5 victory even though Earl Whitehill was wild and yielded four runs in the fifth frame. It was their first triumph since they clinched the pennant.

DEER HUNTER SHOT AT FOREST GROVE FOREST GROVE, Ore., Sept. 30. (AP)—Henry Jansen of Gales Creek was near death today from a bullet fired by another deer hunter. The bullet passed close to the man's jugular vein. His companion, who carried him many miles through difficult country to a highway, believed he was dead when the party reached here, and called Coroner Sewell. The coroner, however, detected a spark of life, hurried the man to a hospital and his condition improved considerably.

Jansen was shot by John Huntley of Portland, a member of another hunting party, who fired at the moving brush in the belief a deer was his target.

An eagle, in Mesa Verde National Park, carried a yawling bobcat over a thousand feet into the air and dropped it. The cat was killed instantly. Its body is on exhibition at the park.

Kid Chocolate Defeats Rensa PARIS, Sept. 30. (AP)—Kid Chocolate of Cuba, recognized as world featherweight champion in New York and affiliated states, scored a technical knockout over Nick Rensa of France in the final round of their scheduled 10-round bout at Alle Wagram. Chocolate's title was not at stake.

The referee halted the bout in the 10th after Chocolate had battered Rensa about the ring and floored him. The crowd protested loudly because the official had stepped in before Rensa could be counted out. Chocolate had taken five of the previous rounds, Rensa fighting on even terms in four.
