

Ashland's Schedule Story

Conflict With Klamath Falls High School Aired. Dr. Spears Takes Beating from Illinois. Beavers Display Power Against Dons.

The schedule dispute between Klamath Falls and Ashland high schools apparently has an undiscussed side. It's the Ashland point-of-view, perhaps, that may have been neglected.

At any rate, here is a letter from a football follower at Ashland who knows the details of Ashland high's schedule making.

"Klamath failed to keep its agreement. There has been much said in your paper about Klamath Falls high school blaming Ashland high school for not having a satisfactory football schedule. Klamath officials should not try to make Ashland take the blame when it should fall upon them.

"At the time the conference games were arranged Klamath was to play Ashland on November 11 and 15. The first game at Klamath. No games to be scheduled before this time. On October 3 Klamath wished to withdraw from this agreement due to the fact that Klamath officials wanted to play Bend and disregard Ashland. Ashland consented gladly, so as to help Klamath, and the game was set for November 15, the place to be decided by Ashland. Ashland and Klamath both wanted two games, so Ashland tried to shift the Lakeview game to some other time, but Lakeview could not come except on October 14. Klamath was to be notified if the shift could be made. Klamath Falls simply regarded her own schedule and no other and went ahead with the game, although no agreement had been made.

"You can see that no fault can be placed upon Ashland, but that Klamath officials are trying to make Klamath people believe that it is Ashland's fault. You can also notice that Ashland was doing everything so as to help Klamath, and as yet Ashland has no game for Armistice Day, November 11 and to have two of the home games postponed just merely to rectify the poor management of the Klamath officials.

"If you will try to clear up the matter we are sure that the Klamath officials have not played square with Ashland, when Ashland was merely doing them a favor.

"SPORTS LOVER."

The high quality of the Oregon State team in its victory over the University of San Francisco Dons is not indicated in the 12 to 7 score. The Beavers, led by Norman Franklin at the back, the Dons on the field from the first quarter to the last.

The defense was stronger, more yardage and first downs were won, and there were fewer mistakes from the Orangemen.

The showing gives the Beavers a little more confidence for their important struggle against Troy at Portland Saturday.

The difficulty of beating competition on the Pacific coast, plus inability to establish pleasant relations with the University of Oregon officials, sent Dr. C. W. Spears to Wisconsin.

Dr. Spears, long accustomed to successful coaching at Dartmouth, West Virginia and Minnesota just couldn't swallow that 53 to 6 defeat the Trojans gave the Webfoots two years ago. That was a catastrophe never happening to Doc before.

His outlook at Oregon appeared pretty gloomy, and he began to believe his excellent reputation would be eventually smothered in defeat. So back he went to the Big Ten, where the chances of victory were a little brighter.

Dr. Spears had a very successful year at Wisconsin in his first year. That first year started keying Wisconsin for a championship this season.

Saturday's score, however, was Illinois 21, Wisconsin 6. Dr. Spears is learning he can be beaten by husky scores whether he is at Oregon on the Pacific coast or at Wisconsin in the Big Ten.

Klamath Girls Gain Positions On O. S. C. Paper

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Ore., Oct. 16.—Evelyn Wilkes, freshman in Journalism, and Shirley Erdanson, freshman in lower division, both of Klamath Falls, have been appointed to the circulation staff of the Oregon State college student directory.

The student directory is one of the major publications on the campus. It contains the name, address, and class of every student at Oregon State college, and also information concerning faculty members and campus organizations.

MIGRATORY BIRD SEASON IS OPEN

Many Ducks Bagged on Klamath Waters Yesterday

The opening of the migratory water fowl season—as important a day as the Fourth of July in the Klamath country—left the city strangely quiet and vacant Monday afternoon. Scores of hunters were on the lakes and marshes at noon to fire the opening shot.

Birds were reported abundant in all the Empire country's most attractive hunting grounds. Great Trek Starts. Automobiles laden with khaki clad hunters, eager and excited bird dogs, and boats of all types began leaving the city early Monday in order that the sportsmen might reach the firing lines in plenty of time and lay down a heavy barrage on the migratory fowls.

It was rumored in the more suspicious circles that a few overzealous hunters opened the season a day or two in advance of the official time, and booming shot-guns were heard echoing over Upper Klamath lake about 8 o'clock Monday morning.

For two whole months sportsmen's families will be fed upon the succulent meat of water fowl. "Hunting widows" will keep the home fires burning, and exorbitant bills for ammunition will be explained away by the reduction of butchers' bills.

On December 15 the season will close and the scattered bands of ducks and geese will be free to go their way once more. Some changes in the laws governing birds have been announced for the 1933 season, and the most important of these are printed as follows:

Seasons, bag limits and other regulations for 1933. Ducks, geese, brant, rails, coots, Wilson snipe or jacksnipe, and greater or lesser yellowlegs—Open season October 16 (12 o'clock noon) until December 15 (dusk).

Bag limit for all such birds excepting geese and brant, 12 in any one day and not to exceed 30 in any seven consecutive days, with the possession limit at any one time not to exceed twice the daily bag limit or 24; provided further, that the daily bag limit shall not be less than eight each or in the aggregate of canvasbacks, redheads, greater or lesser scaups, ring-necked teal, Gadwall or shovellers, and such ducks included in the daily limit of 12. No open season on wood, elder, ruddy or bufflehead ducks. Bag limit for geese and brant, 4 in the aggregate in any one day and not to exceed eight in possession or custody at any one time.

Waterfowl decoys, number lawful to use—it shall be unlawful to use more than ten live goose decoys or more than 25 live duck decoys, either loose or confined, at any one stool, set, gunning stand, blind or floating device. (All foregoing migratory waterfowl regulations conform with combined state and federal regulations for 1933.)

Shooting Ducks—Restrictions Devils, Whoo-hink, Silitecos and Tahkenitch lakes. It shall be unlawful to hunt, pursue, shoot at or kill ducks on the waters of Whoo-hink, Silitecos or Tahkenitch lakes, situated in Lane and Douglas counties in the state of Oregon, from any boat or any floating contrivance whatsoever, at a distance greater than one hundred (100) yards from the shore or shores of said lakes at any time, or upon any portion of said lake or lakes whatsoever, from any boat or contrivance propelled by mechanical power. It shall be unlawful for any person, at or kill ducks or any other waterfowl on the waters of Devils lake, situated in Lincoln county from any boat or from any floating contrivance whatsoever.

Pelicans May Scrimmage With Roycroft's Team

Klamath high's competition for this coming week end still is undecided. Officials at the high school, however, still were attempting to bring Lakeview to Modoc field next Saturday.

Les Avritt, head coach, was going ahead this week preparing his squad for the Medford contest here a week from next Friday. Grants Pass and Bend remain as the only other teams of the schedule.

Tuesday night the Pelicans probably will scrimmage with the Klamath Townies. Lynn Roycroft, Klamath town team coach, has asked his squad to report to the field Tuesday at 5:00 o'clock.

JR. CHAMBER BOOSTS GAME

The junior chamber of commerce football committee, headed by Orth Stzemore and Rudy Jacobs, this week began bending its efforts toward building up interest in the contest between the Oregon Freshmen and the Southern Oregon Normal school.

The game will be played on Modoc field October 28. Howard Ralph, chairman of the ticket committee, said Monday sales would open shortly. Tickets will be on sale at several business houses down town, the chamber of commerce and at the high school.

Howard Hobson, coach of the Ashland school, announced the Normal band would be sent to Klamath Falls for the contest. Scores of Ashland students probably will be in Klamath Friday night before the game, and it is likely a huge rally and football parade will be staged down town.

The chamber announced all concessions at the game would be under its control. Both the Freshmen and the Sons remain undefeated. Ashland smothered Mouthouth Normal last week and the Frosh scored a thrilling upset over the Oregon State Rooks.

BEAVERS MEET TROY SATURDAY

Victorious Oregon Team Clashes With Idaho On Friday

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16. (AP)—Having squared accounts with St. Mary's Gaels through a 14-7 victory last Saturday, Southern California's Trojans swing back into the Coast conference football race this week-end against Oregon State.

Cold facts and figures forecast a Southern California win over Oregon State on a neutral field at Portland. Rain or a wet field may hamper the Trojan drive, but the crushing power shown in five games at home thus far is expected to be effective in any kind of weather.

Troy Wins Twenty-Five

The win over St. Mary's was the highlight of Southern California's present bid for coast and national honors a second successive season and revealed the true strength of the gridiron machine Coach Howard Jones has assembled this year.

The 25th consecutive Trojan triumph since early in 1931 saw St. Mary's defense hurled back for a 63-yard drive and again for 95 yards, the second thrust being given the 21-0 impetus of a 15-yard penalty.

While Southern California's offense was clearly superior, the 30,000 fans were still mulling over the question of whether the 15-yard penalty cost St. Mary's a tie. The count was 7-7 in the second quarter when Ed Gilbert, guard, came in as a substitute for St. Mary's. He shouted a few words of encouragement to his teammates before the next play was started. The Trojans had the ball on the 23-yard line, but after the 15-yard penalty had been exacted there were only eight yards left to go. The second and winning touchdown was scored from this point.

Golden Bears Stronger

Oregon State will be Southern California's second conference opposition. Two Saturdays ago, Washington State fell a 23-0 victim to the Trojan battering. Oregon State has won one conference encounter, 3 to 0 at Livingston, 29-0. Last week the States defeated University of San Francisco, 12-7.

California's Bears, increasingly formidable since their opening game 7-0 loss to Santa Clara, make their conference debut on the home field of Washington State's Cougar at Pullman. Since they defeated St. Mary's 14-12 two weeks ago, the Bears have gained a new outlook on life. Last Saturday they came through with an impressive 23-0 victory over the strong San Francisco Olympic club eleven, powered by former college stars.

The victory proved costly, however, as Lloyd Blower, sophomore halfback, received a couple of cracked ribs. The injury is expected to keep him on the sidelines for several weeks. Blower was mainly responsible for the win over St. Mary's.

Oregon Meets Idaho

Despite the loss of the star half carrier, California is favored to take the measure of Washington State. The Cougars were pressed to beat Montana, 12-7, last Saturday. In other games next Saturday, Washington will meet Puget Sound; University of California at Los Angeles will take on Loyola; Montana will play Montana State and Stanford faces San Francisco.

A Friday night conference game with Idaho against Oregon at Eugene, Oregon became the main thrust of the week last Saturday by defeating Washington, 6-0.

ROOSEVELT CALLS FOR NATIONAL AID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—Every citizen today was called upon by President Roosevelt to support private charities relieving human distress.

His appeal from the White House last night opened the four weeks mobilization for human needs under the direction of Newton D. Aker, former secretary of war. Mr. Roosevelt said the government's promise to let no one starve was "predicated on the assumption" that every individual would "continue to do his or her part."

The president described those who would put all relief work on the government and "deny the civic responsibility of the individual" as "buck passers."

Chicago Bears Holding Lead In Pro League

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. (AP)—High scores predominated yesterday as the leaders held their positions in the national professional football league.

The Chicago Bears, unbeaten defending champions, remained in first place, while the Portsmouth Spartans continued in second, due to their one defeat at the hands of the Green Bay Packers.

The Bears renewed their civil war with the Chicago Cardinals and turned in a 12 to 9 victory; the Spartans beat Boston, 12 to 0; Brooklyn rolled up 27 points against Cincinnati's 0; New York smothered Philadelphia, 56 to 0, and Green Bay blanked Pittsburgh, 47 to 0.

The Bears came from behind in the second half to win their fourth straight game. After matching nearly 75 yards, a pass Hewitt to Johnson was good for a touchdown and Manders added the extra point. A safety and a field goal by Manders gave the Bears five more points and the game in the final quarter. Joe Lillard scored the Cardinals' only point in the second quarter.

Juan De Fuca Swimmers Fail

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Oct. 16. (AP)—The icy waters of the Straits of Juan De Fuca foiled the first attempt at a swim from Victoria, B. C., to Port Angeles. Roland Tegmeier of Tacoma, Paul Chouteau of Paris, France, and Stan Witty of Victoria, tried it yesterday and gave it up. Tegmeier managing to stay in the water 2 hours, 19 minutes, before cramps and the cold put him out. The temperature of the water was 48 degrees above zero.

The three started with an escort of boats. Witty was the first to leave the water, after 34 minutes, during which he covered 13 miles. Chouteau swam for an hour and a half, actually covering seven miles in the ebb tide before he quit.

The swimmers said they would go into training and try again in a few weeks.

Drunk Driving Brings Charge

John Jackson was fined $100 in justice court Monday morning when he pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated on the Greenuprings highway. Jackson was arrested by state police Sunday after an automobile accident involving a car driven by Gus Miller. Miller's automobile was badly damaged, but no injuries were reported as a result of the wreck.

GAMES LOOM FOR TOWNIES

Bend, Corvallis Willing to Meet Klamath Grid Team

The Klamath town football team, now assured of strong competition this fall, completed its practice session on Modoc field Sunday confident of moving successfully through its schedule.

Two powerful Oregon teams, Corvallis and Bend, probably will be on the Townies' schedule for the first games of the season. Word has been received here by Lynn Roycroft, head coach, that both those cities have independent organizations and will be willing to meet Klamath.

Klamath Confident

The Corvallis team is composed almost entirely of former Oregon State college players. The Corvallis team has started practice with such candidates as the following:

Tommy Ward, Frank Little, Cecil Sherwood, Rod McDonald, Wayne Harb, Loren Tuttle, Curly Miller, Ed Englestead, Peter Miller, Chief Thompson, Don Masterson, Hal Diney, Bill Head, Phil Small and Keith Davis.

The Bend team sponsored by the 20-30 club there is managed and coached by Lyle Fletcher. It includes some exceptionally strong former collegiate players and a number of prominent high school stars.

Despite the reputation of the Bend and Corvallis teams, Roycroft was still positive his Klamath Townies were among the strongest independent outfits in Oregon. The candidates showed an abundance of enthusiasm and promise in their workout Sunday.

Panthers Sink Football Hopes Of Midshipmen

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 16. (UP)—The Panthers of Pitt were on the pawl at Pitt stadium and even the United States Navy, highly touted as a football team, was not able to stop them from a 34-6 victory before 45,000 fans.

Five times Pitt backs broke away for scores and four times the extra point was kicked. Navy was able to score only in the fourth period when Gordon Chung-Roon, swift Hawaiian back, broke through a line made up of second, third and fourth team players.

After being outplayed in the first scoreless period three consecutive into the Navy ranks when Mike Sebastian threw a long forward pass from his 13-yard line to his running mate, Howdy O'Dell, Sioux City, Ia., standing on the Navy 10, O'Dell ran seven yards before he was tackled. That blow proved a tremendous jolt to the future admirals and Izzy Weinstein dived over for the first goal several plays later from the one-yard line.

Substitute Wins For Yale Eleven

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 16. (UP)—After Curtin, Yale backfield substitute, put the spark into the Eli eleven again as Yale won from Washington and Lee 14 to 0.

After the Southerners had held Yale scoreless in the first period, Curtin went in and immediately the Yale attack began to function. With aid from Callen and Fuller he moved the ball from midfield to the three yard line and Callen went over.

A fumble led to Yale's second touchdown, Fuller scored.

Football Dinner Set for Tuesday

The junior chamber of commerce will have a special dinner meeting Tuesday at 6:30 o'clock in connection with the Southern Oregon Normal school football game with the Oregon freshmen. The meeting will be at the Pellican grill. The chamber will sponsor the game which has been set for Modoc field Saturday, October 28.
