The Recall Movement

HERE is an important sentence from a news story on the proposed movement to recall Governor Meier: "Dave O'Hara, election clerk in the state department, estimated that a special election would cost the taxpayers of the state approximately $75,000."

This, regardless of any other factor, is sufficient to throw a strong doubt into the advisability of the recall proposal.

That is a lot of money to spend on a recall election. Unless the situation under Governor Meier is absolutely insufferable—which it is not—a good way to save money would be to permit the matter to drop and let the governor's fate, if it is in the balance, be decided at next year's regular elections.

Reports have it that the recall movement is being used by the truck owners' organization to emphasize its fight against the state bus and truck law, although this is denied by the agent for the recallers. It strikes us that the recall movement, with its possibilities for stirring up the state needlessly and costing the taxpayers a lot of money, is a mighty selfish way to push a fight of this kind.

Bringing the recall threat from behind the door for political purposes, or because of minor peevishness, is one of the things that is helping to discredit the "Oregon system" of direct voter action—the initiative, referendum and recall. The recall should be used only when, through malfeasance in office or utter neglect of duty, the situation under an official becomes no longer sufferable and demands action for his removal.

Such conditions do not exist in the case of Governor Meier. His chief trouble seems to have been absenteeism. It is true that he spends little time in his office at Salem. The governor, it must be admitted, has not made good on all his election promises, but there would be a flood of recalls every year if that were cause enough to throw an official out of office.

On the whole, the governor has been turning in a good job. He at least has done nothing to hurt the state, which would be the only just cause for recall. He has only a year and a quarter longer to serve in this term. Let him stay in office.

Problems of Juvenile Delinquency

JUVENILE delinquency is a problem for others than the parents of the children involved, and the public officials delegated to handle such situations. It is a matter of concern for the entire community.

There is the immediate danger of destruction of property through juvenile crime. There is the even more serious danger of laying the groundwork for adult criminal careers. There is the problem of relationships between delinquent children and others. For these, and other reasons, it is extremely important that the right methods be employed in coping with this serious problem.

And it is a serious problem; perhaps more serious in this community than many others. Juvenile officials here have been mighty busy in the past year and a half. They say there are unusual temptations and pitfalls here. The youth of the community is constantly in danger.

There is a good deal of discussion at this time of the methods of coping with juvenile crime and delinquency, employed by public officials. One hears considerable criticism.

It is well for the public to know the truth of this situation. If mistakes are being made, they should be corrected. If new and better methods are advisable, they should be employed.

For the purpose of throwing light on the situation, the Herald and News will publish a series of articles shortly dealing with juvenile delinquency and methods of handling the problem here. These articles will include a report of the criticisms of the way the work is handled, discussions of the problem by the juvenile officers and others interested, and suggested changes in methods.

It is the hope of these newspapers that these articles will serve to clear the atmosphere, and will lead to a sympathetic understanding by the public of juvenile problems, so that they may be solved in the best way possible.

The Oregonian, in an interesting Sunday article, named an all-time, all-star Pacific coast football team. The story told of the prowess of the football notables on the gridiron, but it neglected to tell us what these men are doing now. What their fate has been, after the glamorous years of heroism on the campus, would be an interesting addition to that story.

It is expected the services will continue two weeks. There will be special music and orchestra.

A fall rally preaching campaign will be conducted by the Community Congregational church, starting on Monday evening. The preacher will be Rev. George V. McClure, minister of the Congregational church of Ashland. Mr. McClure is also city attorney of Ashland, and has practiced and taught law.

This special series of preaching services, according to the minister of the church, Rev. T. Davis Preston, is in the nature of a rally to start the fall and winter work, and will not be of the usual revival type. Mr. McClure is a forceful, direct preacher who has had a wide experience in the ministry, recent pastorates being in Denver and Portland. Among the topics of the addresses to be given the first week are the following: What good is the

News Behind the News

The Inside Story From The Capital

By PAUL MALLON
Copyright, 1933, by Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—You cannot believe much of the news you get from Germany these days. Hitler has the press by the throat.

His regime lets out only what it considers favorable and lets in virtually nothing at all. The average German knows less about what is going on in the outside world than the average darky in darkest Africa. Similarly, we know that little about the true condition there.

A fairly authentic inside survey of the situation can be pieced together from several confidential reports recently received here. These come from official and unofficial persons whose names cannot be divulged, but who have lately come from Germany and know whereof they speak. Their views can be summarized as follows:

LIP SERVICE

Hitler commands wildly enthusiastic lip-service from 99 per cent of the German people. There is no opposition. Traveling through Germany you would think he is as popular as Mussolini in Italy.

That situation is amply illustrated by a letter from a Berlin Jew to his cousin in New York. The Jew said:

"Hitler is a fine man. Everyone is fine here. We are all very happy. I, S. Brother Isaac, here hold a contrary view. We buried him yesterday."

FALSIFICATIONS

To read the unemployment figures in the German newspapers you would think that Hitler has done better than Roosevelt. They say the unemployed army has been reduced from around five millions to two millions. The trick in that is that Hitler has transferred most of the jobless into an organized army where they do a little work for the state and receive the equivalent of about 10 cents a day in black bread and poor food.

The fundamental private employment situation is thus temporarily quieted but not cured. The business situation is suffering from the Jewish boycott. Germany's unfavorable trade balance is an ever-widening gap. Exports are running increasingly below last year.

This has caused Hitler to try easing up on the Jews. Many Israelites are being saved by the intercession of prominent Nazis. So often have Nazi officials come to the dictator with private appeals for Jewish friends that Hitler recently remarked privately:

"There must be sixty-five million Jews in Germany because fully that many have sought intercessions with me through my associates."

GAS

War preparations are supposed to have been started in German laboratories long before Hitler came into power. He has accelerated them. Chancellories throughout Europe suspect the Germans are probably better equipped in chemical science than any other nation now.

They know this talk about battleships and guns is largely international political hooey. Those are obsolete weapons. However, the ingenuity of man has never been able to devise a weapon for which there is no defense. The French, Italian, English and even our own chemical laboratories have not been idle. They also have secrets. The French particularly are supposed to have developed a deadly gas which would do the work of an army corps.

Germany has no credit. She has no money. Hitler has succeeded in surrounding himself with international enemies with whom he cannot hope to cope in the long run. He is losing the friendship of Italy. Austria has successfully barred the door to him.

No person and no nation can live and prosper the way he is going about it.

The day cannot long be delayed when reason will supplant prejudice in the minds of the German people. Anger cannot long be maintained.

That means Mr. Hitler will moderate himself as Mussolini did or else he will be tossed out.

Most observers believe he will be tossed out.

JEWS

The anti-Jewish campaign is really very popular in Germany. The root of it lies in Jewish control of big German business. But it goes even deeper.

Most Germans suffered severely in the depreciated currency days. For instance, some had to save up for a week to buy a glass of beer. When they went to the beer gardens they saw evidence of inherent Jewish financial shrewdness and thrift. Apparently the average Jew handled his money more wisely than the average German. It was the

Beauty Hints

EXERCISE TO KEEP YOUR HEAD HIGH

A lump of flesh on the back of the neck and a bad head carriage usually go hand in hand with a hollow back.

Don't walk with your head thrust forward. Hold it up straight and keep your chin in.

Here is an exercise which helps straighten your spine at the same time it gets rid of a back-of-the-neck lump. It is splendid also for giving firmness to the muscles which hold the breasts in place and it gets one in the habit of carrying the head straight and high.

Lie on your back flat on the floor, knees bent and weight of the legs on the balls of the feet.

Raise the end of your spine just enough so that there is no hollow in your back. Turn your thighs outward just a little bit, allowing about ten inches of space between your knees.

Square your shoulders until they are resting flat on the floor and try to dig the back of your neck right into the floor. Raise your chin a trifle, keeping the back of your neck in position.

Retaining this position (make sure that the end of your spine stays just off the floor), place the tips of your fingers on your shoulders. Your wrists and elbows should touch the floor at the same time your fingers touch your shoulders.

Now raise your arms above your head, palms facing each other. Try to feel the muscles of your back and chest pull and stretch as you raise your arms. Lower them slowly, keeping your elbows on the floor, until you are back where you started with your finger tips touching your shoulders and your wrists touching the floor. Repeat several times.

THAT sounds good, but it ISN'T TRUE.

With the exception of this country, and the possible exception of Russia, the great powers have been UTTERLY INSINCERE when they have said that they will disarm.

They have been getting together in conferences and TALKING disarmament, and all the time going ahead and arming more heavily than ever before.

That's the plain truth of the matter.

Inner Japanese sources say war with Russia is inevitable and the sooner it is brought about the better for Japan because Russia is getting stronger every minute.

If war SHOULD COME in Europe, we should do nothing about it at all. We fought one war, at frightful cost, to make the world safe for democracy, and accomplished NOTHING in that direction.

If Europe insists on going to war again, the thing for us to do is to stay in our own yard and mind our own business.

Pelican Theater Presents State Opportunity Contest

Has Klamath Falls a match in popular favor to Bing Crosby and Eddie Peabody, famous northwest entertainers, who have acquired radio, stage and screen glory?

Mr. Harry Poole, manager of the Pelican theatre, is determined to find out through the medium of the big McKesson Drug company's radio and stage opportunity contest sponsored by them to discover new talent.

The contest is open to anyone and everyone. It will climax with a big elimination contest at the Pelican theatre on November 17, 1933.

Preliminary tests of radio and stage material will start at the Pelican theatre on Friday, Oct. 20th, and will be held thereafter on each Friday night.

Valuable rewards await the winners. Klamath Falls victors will be heard over KEX following the city finals here, at which time NBC officials will select the best of the three finalists. This one will compete in December with winners from over forty Oregon and Washington cities on the stage of the Broadway theatre in Portland.

The judges' final choice there will be given a trip to Los Angeles, all expenses paid; chance to try out at the National Broadcasting company's studio and in addition, screen and video recording tests at the Fox Film studios in Hollywood.

Second prize winner will also journey to Los Angeles with try-outs at NBC studios.

Third prize is a trip to San Francisco and auditions with NBC studio there.

Fourth and fifth prizes are vaudeville contracts with pay on the K & R Empire circuit.

Acts offered must not run more than six minutes nor call for more than four people. Anything suitable for radio or stage fare may be presented with the understanding that those having material suitable for both amusement mediums will be given preference by the judges. All entrants shall supply their own accompaniment and properties.

Preliminary contests will reduce the number of Klamath Falls entries to 10 acts and on November 17th, Skipper Don Mills with his mate Bosco, will arrive in Klamath Falls with his Opportunity Ship to act as master of ceremonies in staging the final contest.

Three winners will be chosen and sent to Portland to put on a broadcast dedicated to Klamath Falls over Station KEX. The time of the broadcast is 4:15 to 4:30 p. m.

The three winners will be housed at the hospitable Congress hotel, having all expenses paid—meals, room with bath and everything.

The winners representing their respective home towns will return to Portland in December to stage the final contest at the Broadway theatre, at which time the lucky ones will be chosen by judges.

Those interested in this contest should fill out the entry blank appearing in the Pelican theatre ad in this paper, and mail or bring it to the Pelican theatre, or the office of H. W. Poole theatres at once.

GENERAL COMPANY OFFERS NEW PRIZE

First came the cross-word puzzle, then the jig-saw; now it's the scrambligraph.

Adopted by General Petroleum corporation as a feature of its fall sustained advertising program, the scrambligraph is fully as fascinating as its two predecessors, but less tedious in the working out and far more entertaining, in the opinion of those who have tried it. The puzzle consists of a line-drawing cartoon of the faces of well-known people. The faces, however, are scrambled, features belonging to one person being transposed on another. Solution to the puzzle consists in folding the cartoon in such a way that the proper features are restored to their rightful owners.

General Petroleum corporation, producers and marketers of General Four-star gasoline, is offering cash prizes for those who turn in the most accurate solutions. Every week for the next eight weeks General dealers everywhere will be supplied with these scrambligraphs, which may be obtained free of charge upon application. In the series, the faces of well-known generals are portrayed, and the first prize offered is $500.

Sponsors of the contest predict that this new puzzle is destined to replace the jig-saw craze in popular favor.
