

Northwest Sees New Football Day

Oregon State's Scoreless Tie with Southern California Brings Optimism. Beaver Team Destroys All Precedent. Washington State Comes Next at Corvallis.

Something pleasantly new in northwest football came out of Oregon State's magnificent scoreless tie with the national champion, Southern Calif. Trojans, on Multnomah field at Portland Saturday.

Howard Jones ever comes from that single, rugged game, Oregon State Saturday had a team unsurpassed by anything produced in this section.

Oregon State may never again this season play so splendidly. That possibility, however, can never remove the thought that Len Stiner has a team of incomparable power if it can be maintained at its peak in every coming Pacific coast conference encounter.

Howard Jones, coach of the Trojan team which had spent through 25 undefeated games, undefeated and only occasionally scored upon, accepted the outcome of Saturday's contact with typically good sportsmanship.

Lennie Stiner, the young giant from Nebraska, who is coaching his first year at Corvallis after succeeding Paul J. Schissler, turns out to be one of the real heroes of the Beavers' stand.

"I am proud of my men and think they played a great game against Southern California. Southern California has one of its greatest teams and even more to its credit is the fine sportsmanship of the Trojan players.

The 11 Beavers, playing through Saturday's game without a single substitution, more against Washington State at Corvallis Saturday. Oregon State will now be the favorite.

Here is the Beaver record for the season: Oregon State 21, Willamette 0, Oregon State 21, S. O. N. 0, Oregon State 0, Gonzaga 0, Oregon State 12, S. F. U. 7, Oregon State 9, U. S. C. O.

The story of Saturday's game can be told in a very few lines for every minute of the four quarters was a repetition of the previous one. It was an intelligent, fighting line, one of the most brilliant pass defenses ever uncracked on a northwest gridiron and Norman Franklin, Franklin, the red-headed halfback, ran back punts, picked perfectly, aided through the powerful Trojan line and intercepted passes that eclipsed any like performance on Multnomah field.

Troy outgained the Beavers, but it was in mid-field and the Orange made several goal line stands that stopped the mighty Griffith and halted the hard running Warburton. The Beavers tackled with a fierceness that left the Troy backs gasping with pain. They cracked two of Wotkyn's ribs and fractured Rosenberg's cheek bone, but it was just hard clean football and fans hail the Beavers as the start of a new era in Oregon State football history.

Were it not for Homer, the Greek poet, the society he decries would have vanished from human knowledge.

SEASON'S MAJOR GAMES LISTED FOR NEXT SATURDAY

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23. (AP)—In a wide open scramble for Pacific coast conference standing, the ten members of the big far western circuit will square off Saturday with some of the most important games of the season scheduled on the football fronts.

Five conference clashes on that same day will pit Southern California's Trojans against California's Bears at Berkeley; Stanford against Washington at Seattle; Oregon against the University of California at Los Angeles; Washington State against Oregon State at Corvallis and Montana against Idaho at Moscow.

Positions at both the top and bottom of the ladder as well as the intermediate stations will be at stake. Oregon and Stanford have clean slates. Southern California and California each have a tie listed but no defeats. Idaho and Montana, each defeated twice and with no wins, will try to jockey the other into bottom place.

With the myth of a super-powerful eleven exploded, Southern California journeys to the stronghold of the Bears for the annual classic that is expected to attract a capacity crowd of 80,000 fans to the Berkeley Bowl.

Trojans Upset When the Trojans were held to a scoreless tie by Oregon State's Beavers last week at Portland, the biggest upset of the current season was written into far western records. Pre-game dopesters had sharpened pencils merely to try to calculate by how many points Southern California would win. The Trojans made the yardage and first downs as expected but in the pinches were unable to penetrate the defense of an Oregon State team of eleven players who started and finished the game without a substitution.

The tie game closed the Trojans' consecutive victory record at 25 games since early in 1931. California opened its conference schedule last Saturday with a 6-0 tie with Washington State. The Bears went into the game as favorites but were lucky to pull out with an even count against a team that previously had been defeated 33-0 by Southern California and barely beat Montana, 13-7.

Webfoots Meet U. Clans On comparative records therefore, Southern California rates the favorite's rule over California.

Oregon, with victories over Washington and Idaho, faces a stern assignment in trying to overcome the U. C. L. A. Bruins whose one conference loss was a 3-0 defeat by Stanford. The Bruins beat Loyola, 20-7 last week.

Stanford, likewise, is expected to have a real battle with Washington Huskies. Neither showed much in non-conference wins last week. Stanford was hard pressed to beat San Francisco, 20-13 while Washington's varsity strength was necessary to subdue Puget Sound, 14-6.

Warm Battle Looms Oregon State's fine performance against Southern California and Washington State's inspired play against California forecast a red hot battle when the two northern rivals pair off.

For the first time in many seasons, Montana may line up as the favorite over Idaho. The Montana squad clicked nicely in defeating Montana State, 32-0 and also three several scores into Washington State a week earlier before losing by a touchdown margin. Idaho was swamped under by 19-0 score by Oregon State Friday.

CHAMPION CARNERA OVERCOMES PAULINO UZCUDUN IN WORLD'S TITLE BATTLE AT ROME SUNDAY

ROME, Oct. 23. (AP)—Primo Carnera's first heavyweight title defense, successful though it was, added little to the mammoth Italian's prestige in his native land today.

A crowd of 70,000, strongly predisposed in Carnera's favor, watched the huge champion punch out a decisive 15-round victory over Paulino Uzcudun yesterday, cheered him for a while, and then booed him just as heartily in the last two rounds for his failure to stop the 34-year-old Spanish veteran of more than ten years' warfare against the world's best heavyweights.

Paulino Never Floored There was no question whatever as to the ultimate winner after the first couple of rounds. Carnera smashed the Basque woodchopper all over the ring with a zipping left and ponderous rights, yet never could floor a rival whose courage alone carried him through the full 15-round limit.

Of the attributes that once made him feared throughout the heavyweight division, Paulino took with him into the fight only a rock-ribbed chin and the constitution of an ox. He was on the receiving end from the start, his rushes were smothered in the Italian's arms, he was bleeding from the fifth round on yet he never quit trying, never stopped coming into his bulky opponent, never was floored. At the finish, bloody and bruised, Paulino still was carrying on as aggressively as ever, taking the best Carnera could offer.

The crowd, which included Premier Mussolini, other officials and James Roosevelt, eldest son of the American president, couldn't understand how a man could take such a beating and still remain erect. That, perhaps, explained the chorus of boos that greeted Carnera as he vainly sought to bring his small antagonist down.

Angered by the demonstration against him, Carnera tried everything he knew in the last two rounds but his own wildness, plus Paulino's adamant chin, could not bring a knockout nor end the crowd's booging.

Paulino looked like a fly-weight by comparison with the champion when they entered the ring. Carnera's weight was announced as 265 pounds, Paulino's 202 pounds.

As the crowd began to boo Carnera for his failure to end matters in the 13th round, the champion opened up with both hands, vainly seeking a spot for a knockout punch. But Paulino was still erect at the finish, as same and aggressive as when he started.

After the bout was ended, Carnera's handler announced he had suffered a badly bruised hand but that there was no fracture as the referee had announced earlier from the ring. The champion will remain in Rome a few days, then proceed to Paris for a series of exhibitions.

REINHART DRILLS FRESHMEN ON SOUTHERN OREGON PLAYS

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 23. (Special)—After viewing Southern Oregon Normal's crushing 39 to 0 defeat of the Oregon State rooks, Bill Reinhart, Oregon Freshman mentor, called his charges together Saturday afternoon for the first of a week's intensive practice sessions to prepare them for the coming battle with the Sons at Klamath Falls next Saturday.

Reinhart reported that Howard Hobson's eleven displayed great offensive power against the rooks and announced a week of thorough work on defensive tactics, with fundamentals getting a lot of attention. In their game against the rooks, the Webfoot Yearlings presented one of the strongest forward walls developed in freshman history.

Line Well-Balanced The Frosh have a well balanced line, with John Farrar at center and Joe Murray and Alan Wilson at the end berths standing out. Two tackles weighing close to 200 pounds each keep the weight average up. Pat Fury, ex-Sandpoint, Idaho, all-star, and Del Bjork, former Astoria lumbar, are the Yearlings getting the call for the tackle posts as present.

Four outstanding guard prospects are making it difficult for Line Coach Irv Schultz to pick the first pair. Dale Hardisty, Wendling, Or., and Del Burchard, Tillamook, are leading the team of Bill Estes, Klamath Falls, and John Augustinus, New Jersey, at present, but the fight still rolls on.

Work With Varsity The Yearling line has been getting plenty of fire as the big varsity eleven tries out its new plays in the nightly scrimmages.

For the coming week Reinhart and Schultz will work the line against Southern Oregon Normal formations, hoping to build a defense that can stop the plunging of Elmer Brown, Lewis McAninch and Powell Lancaster, star Son backs.

FROSH-SONS GAME NEARS

Junior Chamber Pushes Campaign for Huge Attendance.

The Klamath Junior Chamber of Commerce this week was pushing its campaign to bring out a record attendance for the Southern Oregon Normal school and University of Oregon Freshmen football game on Modoc field Saturday afternoon.

Howard Ralph, chairman of the ticket committee, announced Monday the advance sale had been particularly high. He expected the attendance would reach the 3,000 mark.

Band to Come The Junior chamber, sponsor for this first major game for Klamath Falls, has completed plans for pre-game demonstrations. The normal school band from Ashland will arrive here Saturday morning for a noon parade through the town districts.

The Klamath Union high school band has volunteered its services for Saturday and will head a parade to Modoc field.

Both bands will present stunts before the game and between halves.

Billy Reinhart, coach of the undefeated Freshmen team, may bring his squad to Klamath Falls for a brief workout on Modoc field following the Medford-Klamath high school game Friday afternoon. This, however, was not definite as until the Frosh will not arrive until Saturday morning.

Sons Favorites The unbeaten Sons will complete their training at Ashland Friday afternoon and then motor to Klamath Falls Saturday. A large contingent of students will accompany the squad.

The Sons continued to stand out as a pre-game favorite. They defeated the Oregon State Rooks by seven touchdowns last Friday. The Oregon Frosh won from the Rooks, 7 to 3.

PUGET SOUNDERS MAINTAIN LEAD IN NORTHWEST

SEATTLE, Oct. 23. (AP)—College Puget Sound's two wins and no losses in the Northwest conference grid race kept the Loggers at the top of the heap after last week's games, but three outfits, tied for second place, were in a position to take command if and when the Tacoma school slips.

Whitman, Pacific and Linfield were the teams with an eye on the lead, each with one victory and one defeat.

Puget Sound tossed a scare into the Hawks' camp Saturday when the University of Washington had to call out its regulars to come out on the long end of a 14-6 score. It was one of three non-conference engagements for the weekend, Williams bowing to Columbia Saturday in a double main event, Albany took one on the chin from Pacific Lutheran 6-0 the same evening.

Pacific lifted itself into the upper division with a 14-12 victory over Whitman at Walla Walla Saturday, ability to convert after its touchdowns giving the visitors the edge.

All but Whitman will see action this week. Albany will enter Pacific Saturday, and Williams will meet Linfield at McMinnville Friday night in a pair of contests with conference rating. College of Puget Sound is scheduled to meet Bellingham Normal at Bellingham Saturday, with College of Idaho tangling with La Grande in the Oregon city the same day. The latter two games will be nonconference affairs.

Estes, Hamaker First For Jobs On Frosh Eleven

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 23. (Special)—Two former Klamath Falls high school stars, Bill Estes and Rex Hamaker, are making strong bids for regular places on the University of Oregon Freshmen eleven.

At present both players are being used as alternates on the first string team, as positions were thrown open following the first game with Oregon State Rooks.

Estes is included in the four guards being used in the strong Frosh forward wall. Hamaker ranks number three in the list of halfback prospects, with only Bill Nye, formerly of Harrisburg, Pa., and Elmore Borden, ex-Olympia, Wash., flash getting the call ahead of him. Both men are sure to get action in the coming Frosh-Southern Oregon normal school game at Klamath Falls next Saturday.

Medford Defeated Klamath has progressed thru the schedule winning over Weed, Alturas and the town team and playing a scoreless tie with Corvallis, Medford lost to Crescent City, 7 to 0, two weeks ago.
