By Bill Braucher (NEA Writer) Jack Sharkey is thoroughly dependable. You can count on him every time to do the erratic. His newest gesture is in keeping with the quaint wonder of his entire boxing career.

DID YOU KNOW THAT— Harvard probably has the speediest back field in the country. . . with four 13-second men in Locke, Lane, Pesky and Dean. . . But they're not nearly as fast as that large and dignified looking gent who wore a badge and directed the crowd at one of the gates during the San Francisco-Oregon State game. . . after the crowd was all in, the badge-wearer walked over to the gate and remarked. . . "All right, boys, I'll take the money over to the box office." . . . Whereupon he was handed $76 bucks. . . and is still on the go. . . and several other guys wearing badges are following him.

Changes His Mind Sharkey drove to Boston, and as he whipped his snappy roadster out along the Post road, the writing ringiders expressed the belief they never would see him returning to the glove wars. But he wasn't in Boston a week before he announced that he was beginning the most ambitious fighting campaign of his career. He would tune up with Levinaky, Loughran and maybe a couple of others, and come back for another crack at Carnara.

He started his tuning up in a decidedly off-key. The Kingfisher untuned him with fortississimo flourishes at Chicago. . . that writers expressed a doubt that Jack would get through with the Loughran match. But he did—and down he went before a pizzicato Loughran tap, which you must admit is light enough.

Don't Officially That would be the end of him early. But no! He says he is ready to battle Don McCorindale, and after that he will take on Max Baer in Miami for the privilege of being pushed around by the Big Glacier from Geneva.

What's more, he says he lost to Levinaky and Loughran through the dumbness of the officials—though what part the officials played in that swishing burmacker of Levinaky's, remains undemonstrated. Maybe Jack wanted the referee to do his ducking for him. And did he expect the officials at Philly to rule that all those Loughran lefts that peeked away at his battered features didn't count? As has been said, year after year, Sharkey is a strange man. And in this, the last chapter of his book, he is showing himself stranger than ever. A little too strange to understand.

U. S. C. DEFEATS BEARS IN SPURT

Warburton Goes 63 Yards For Lone Touchdown; Score 6 to 3

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 28. (UP)—Irvine (Cotton) Warburton, 147-pound quarterback, ran 63 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter here today to give Southern California a 6 to 3 victory over a fighting University of California eleven.

Conversion Falls The cotton-hatched speedster of U. S. C. started on his long run with the fourth quarter only six minutes old and with 60,000 spectators believing the Golden Bears had at last broken the Trojans' undefeated string of 26 games.

The Golden Bears struggled desperately to regain the lead. For nine minutes they rushed the Trojans viciously. They finally got their break when Warburton fumbled Williams' quick kick and McNeigh finally recovered for U. S. C. on their five-yard line after three California men almost had the ball.
