

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN SOCIETY, CLUB GROUPS AND FRATERNAL ORGANIZATIONS

Closing Week of October Varied And Interesting In Its Social Activity

INDIAN summer still lingers over the valley, and while nature seems hushed, the faintest whisper awakes the furies of winter, human activity seems even more feverish, fearing to lose a moment of autumn glory.

No lack of diversion is felt during these gorgeous fall hours, each-filled to the brim with verve and life.

The past week has been one of the most brilliant of the season, reaching its climax with the lovely Goeckner-Anderson wedding at St. Paul's church Tuesday.

And still further plans for a gay social season are progressing, although the annual dance set for Saturday evening at the Reames Golf and Country club, will close festivities for the week.

With the close of October, the Halloween spirit which has prevailed party decorations for the past fortnight will give way to the November harvest home and Thanksgiving motif.

Meanwhile, the heart rejoices in the beauty of autumn, and ecstasy is vividly portrayed in the poetry on one of the greatest living poets, an American woman:

O world, I cannot hold thee close enough!
Thy winds, thy wide grey skies!
Thy mists, that roll and rise!
Thy woods, this autumn day, that ache and sag
And all but cry with colour!
That gaunt crag
To crush! To lift the lean of that black bluff!
World, World, I cannot get thee close enough!

Long have I known a glory in it all,
But never knew I this:
Here such a passion in
As stretcheth me apart,—Lord,
I do fear

Thou'st made the world too beautiful this year;
My soul is all but out of me,—let fall
No burning leaf; prithee, let no bird call.
"God's World," Edna St. Vincent Millay.

MISS ROGERS AND HUNTER HOSTESSES AT BRIDGE EVE
Miss Jean Rogers and Miss Harriett Hunter were hostesses at a delightful evening of bridge Friday at the Rogers home on Pacific Terrace. The Halloween motif was carried out in decorations and refreshments, and fall flowers were used in profusion throughout the house.

Seven tables of bridge were in play during the evening. First prize was awarded to Miss Neva Palmer and low to Miss Jane Garcelon.

Invited guests of the evening were: Mesdames: Scott Warren, Lawrence Bertram, William Hayden, Dean Houston, Don McLucas, Joe Pigney, and Ronald La Forge; and Mesdames: Esther Veatch, Dona Weiss, Katherine Walton, Kathleen Livingston, Hazel Leonard, Neva Palmer, Betty Zimmerman, Berenice Hartenbower, Alexis Lyle, Jane Garcelon, Gertrude Maguire, Mary Dougherty, Marjorie Richardson, Dorothy Eberhard, Mary-ellen Bradford, Harriett Holbrook, Hope Gordon, Betty McConnell, Alissa Massey, Lois Robinson, Nadine O'Flaherty, Ethelwynne O'Flaherty, Helen Cofer, and Ruth Cofer.

St. Paul's Scene of a Beautiful Church Wedding Service

On Thursday, October twenty-fourth, at high noon, the marriage of Helen Delores Anderson, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Anderson of Merrill, to Edward Goeckner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Goeckner of Wendell, Idaho, was solemnized in the chapel of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The altar was banked with palms and yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The beautiful service was read by the Rev. J. Henry Thomas, of St. Clement's in Berkeley, California, who came to this city especially for the wedding, assisted by the Rev. Robert Lee Baird, rector of St. Paul's.

The impressive ceremony was performed on the fortieth anniversary of the groom's parents, and the service was read from a Bible belonging to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Martin. This Bible and prayer book is nearly seventy years old.

Presiding the service, Mrs. T. R. Gillenwaters sang "Because," and Miss Marie Obenchain, who also played the wedding march, played a suite of bridal songs.

The bride, a charming girl of the petite blonde type, was gown in a beautiful bridal costume of white velvet cut with the high neckline in front, and a youthful décolletage in the back. The gown swept the floor and was made with a train. The sleeves were of the Empire model, and her veil, caught about her head with a coronet of orange blossoms, is one which has been worn by brides in the Anderson family for many years.

The bride's bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley, gardenias and Pernet roses tied with a white lily of the valley chiffon bow.

Mrs. Charles Snyder of Chillicothe, (nee Thirza Anderson), sister of the bride, was her matron of honor, and wore a charming frock of maize yellow crepe, with a tiny matching turban and nose veil. She carried Talisman roses tied with a matching satin bow.

The bridesmaids, who wore floor length gowns of alternating green and orchid satin also wore matching turbans with tiny veils and carried tight little Colonial bouquets. They were: Mrs. Robert Fulton, Mrs. Bryson Cooley of Tacoma, Washington, Miss Neva Palmer and Miss Dorothy Knowlton of Corvallis. Little Ann Gillenwaters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Gillenwaters, was flower girl and wore a tip-toe

Mrs. Goeckner (Helen Anderson) and her bridal attendants. Reading from left to right at the top: Miss Neva Palmer, Mrs. Edward Goeckner, the bride, and Mrs. Charles Snyder, of Chillicothe, matron of honor. Seated are: Miss Dorothy Knowlton, of Corvallis, tiny Ann Gillenwaters, flower girl; Mrs. Bryson Cooley of Tacoma, Washington, and standing at extreme right is Mrs. Robert Fulton.

International Questions Reviewed at Round Table

One of the most interesting study groups to be formed in the city this year is a branch of the Marathon Round Table for the Discussion of International Affairs.

This group met Thursday evening of the past week at the home of Mrs. Karl Urquhart at 322 North Ninth street. Mr. R. C. Groesbeck, prominent local attorney, addressed the meeting on "Money."

The Marathon Round Table is sponsored by the committee on Cause and Cure of War, of which Charles Chapman Catt is national leader. Miss Evangeline Philbin, of Portland, has been appointed Oregon representative, and Mrs. M. J. Young is leader for Klamath Falls.

Literature for study is sent out from New York, and the department of documents in Washington, D. C. The organization is non-partisan and each round table group must have not less than ten, nor more than fifteen members.

The yearly program is outlined by the national headquarters.

The benefit is headed by Mrs. George Myers, chairman. Assisting Mrs. Myers will be Mesdames Kenneth Moore, C. B. Sweet, George Gardiner, Richard Smith, Lloyd Goble, R. C. Woodruff, Robert Thompson and Miss Ruth Floyd.

Women of Reames Elect Officers for the Year

Friday, October twenty-seventh, marked the end of the active golf season for the women of Reames Golf and Country club, as well as the completion of the tournament for the Wetherly cup. Mrs. W. L. Quinn was the winner in the tourney, and the beautiful trophy presented to her.

Mrs. W. E. Baldwin was elected captain for the ensuing year, and Mrs. R. R. Macartney, secretary, at the annual election which followed luncheon at the club house Friday.

In the Wetherly tournament, which was won by Mrs. Quinn, Mrs. H. E. Hauger was runner up, and of the defeated eight in the tournament, Mrs. C. C. Kelley was winner, and Mrs. P. A. Alberson runner up.

Mrs. Guy H. Hancock was winner in the third flight, and Mrs. Charles Riley, runner up.

Mrs. H. E. Hauger won a prize put up by Mrs. Guy Hancock for the first flight in the day's play, and Mrs. Carl W. Hornbrook was winner in the third flight.

Luncheon was served in the club house at noon, and the most enthusiastic golfers continued their play in the afternoon, while the others enjoyed an afternoon of bridge before the huge open fireplace in the attractive club.

A pleasant occasion last week was a golf party, luncheon and bridge afternoon at which Mrs. W. E. Lamm presided as hostess at the Reames Golf and Country club. Forty guests enjoyed splendid golf in the morning, and luncheon was served at 1:00 o'clock at a long table attractively decorated with fall flowers.

Following luncheon bridge was enjoyed throughout the afternoon, and prizes were won by Mrs. Ralph R. Macartney, Mrs. C. C. Kelley, Mrs. W. L. Quinn and Mrs. Guy H. Hancock.

Mrs. O. L. Williams, Mrs. Frank Humphrey and Mrs. Neal Stewart will preside as hostesses at St. Paul's parish house Wednesday evening, when the members of the Wednesday club will entertain their husbands and friends at 6:30 o'clock dinner. Contract and auction bridge will be enjoyed during the evening.

Women's Library Club to Hear Reading of "Green Pastures"

A treat is in store for members of the Klamath Falls Women's Library club and their guests at the November meeting of the group, Monday afternoon the thirteenth, when Mrs. Mortimer Hartwell of Portland and Mrs. Charles N. Bilyeau of Dallas, Oregon, will share guest honors of that day.

Mrs. Bilyeau is president of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs, and will be presented to the club while here. She will speak briefly to all members and will have a longer visit with the board of directors of the club while in Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Hartwell is well known throughout Oregon as a fascinating reader and she will present "Green Pastures" by Mark Connelly, the famous negro play which was received with such applause throughout the country.

Mrs. Leslie Avritt, program chairman of the Library club, has announced that Mrs. Hartwell will be introduced with a word or two of greeting. Mrs. Hartwell will then explain why she has chosen to read "Green Pastures." She will then pause, and under the arrangement of Mrs. Avritt and Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt, music chairman, a group of negro spirituals, will be sung, to be followed by no comment, applause or interval before the reading is begun.

Following the reading of the play, a tea will be enjoyed in compliment of Mrs. Bilyeau and Mrs. Hartwell. Mrs. Cecil Adams, assisted by a group of Library club members, is in charge of the informal tea hour to follow the meeting.

Several changes have been made in the program for the year, according to Mrs. Avritt. Mrs. Horace M. Manning will be in charge of the program on "India" it was announced, and Miss Martha Fennell, who has been scheduled to give a paper on "The Balkan States" will be presented April the ninth. Miss Fennell has lived in the Balkan states and her program promises to be full of keen and interesting personal observations.

An old-fashioned Halloween evening will be held Monday evening, October 30, in the Memorial hall at eight o'clock, sponsored by the Welfare committee of the American Legion auxiliary. Members of the Legion and auxiliary are cordially invited.

Games and stunts will comprise the evening's entertainment. Each lady is asked to bring lunch for two and coffee will be served by the auxiliary. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. G. B. Conrad, chairman, Mrs. R. C. Dale and Mrs. C. L. Sparks.

A. A. U. W. Inaugurates Year's Work With Luncheon

The first fall meeting of the American Association of University Women was held at the Pelican grill Saturday, when 35 members and guests attended a 12:30 o'clock luncheon.

Officers for the ensuing year, who were elected at the meeting, are Mrs. George Gardiner, president; Mrs. Robert A. Thompson, vice president; Mrs. R. C. Woodruff, secretary; Mrs. Herbert Landis, treasurer; and Mrs. George Myers, social chairman.

The membership committee, composed of Mrs. Robert Thompson, chairman, Mrs. R. C. Woodruff, Mrs. Louis Serrano, Mrs. George Gardiner and Mrs. Herbert Landis, announced the following new members: Mesdames Russell Andrews, Don MacLucas, W. Heaver, Lawrence Slater, Joe Pigney, John Fowler, C. A. Henderson and C. C. Seelye, and the Mesdames Jean Rogers, Alexis Lyle, Hollis Swingle, Dorothy Eberhard and Mary Sinclair.

After the luncheon and business meeting the members and guests enjoyed an interesting talk by Mr. Frank Jenkins, who spoke on "Inflation."

The local chapter of A. A. U. W. was organized nine years ago. Its aim is largely educational, with two groups of study classes being conducted throughout the year. A scholarship of fifty dollars is awarded an outstanding graduate of Klamath Union high school each spring. The scholarship was awarded this year to a girl now attending Ashland Normal.

In compliment to her birthday, Marcell Newman, daughter of Mrs. Phelma Newman, was honored with a Halloween party followed by dinner served at the Blue Bird Saturday evening. Mrs. Newman's guests assembled at her home at the Royal Arms apartment for fun and Halloween games, and later adjourned to the Blue Bird where dinner was served to the following: Shirley Trotter, Karlene Schubert, Virginia Bubb, Elsiebeth Daggett, Dorothy Teed, Inez Stanley, Patricia Peyton, Lillian Davis, Jane Durbin, Lela Shelley, Lella McAdams, Beverly Reed, Evelyn Zumwalt, Betty June McKnight, Mary Jane Eitel, Marie Samson, and the hostess, Marcell Newman.
