

F. R. ATTACKED BY REPUBLICAN NATIONAL BODY

ment by the ballot upon what is being done.
The republican booklet leads off with a roundup of Mr. Roosevelt's sound money declarations and cites as contrasting sections, the president's alleged sponsorship of the Thomas inflation amendment, the gold anti-hoarding order, abandonment of the gold payment clause in government bonds and contracts, and refusal to stabilize currency internationally.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—In what may be the fore-runner of an anti-administration campaign similar to that directed from democratic headquarters through the Hoover presidency, the republican national committee has undertaken its first attack on Roosevelt actions.

Copies of a pamphlet charging violation by the president of many democratic campaign and platform pledges have been circulated among members of the committee and republican legislators. It is said to be the result of "an increasing volume of requests from all sections."
G. O. P. Writer Unknown.
How or whether it will be followed up could not be ascertained today. It is remembered in political circles here, however, that the work of Charles Michaelson as publicity director for the democratic committee from 1928 onward attracted much notice.

Republicans made the charge that a "smeared Hoover" was being conducted, and steps were taken to counteract democratic publicity.
Michaelson now is public relations director for the NRA. The republican pamphlet, which has not been given general distribution as yet, does not carry the name of any author. It was obtained, by reporters from Earl Venable, executive secretary of the republican congressional committee.

Monetary Plans Assailed.
The national committee organization which issued it is under the direction of Everett Sanders, national chairman for Herbert Hoover.
He has carried on in office since the 1932 election, with a skeleton organization here. He was personally picked for the post at the outset of the last national campaign by Mr. Hoover.
There has been talk of a drive by the anti-Hoover faction to reorganize the national committee. "Let's look at the record," is the title of the pamphlet, which hits particularly at Roosevelt monetary actions since March and contends the administration has set up a system of "tricky (treasury) bookkeeping."
"Despite all this, the committee deprecates manipulation in handling the fiscal affairs of the nation the budget is not balanced," it says.

Ford Will Submit To Recovery Code

lations on the part of the Ford Motor company.
After a meeting of a committee of strikers from the Ford assembly plant here, Hugh V. Daily, labor organizer and strike representative, said specific charges and a petition for action had been drawn up.
Transmission of the documents was entrusted to Harry L. Tepper, chairman of the legal division of the state NRA. The allegations were kept secret.
Daily said, however, the Ford company "has violated the principle of collective bargaining and resorted to coercion . . ."

CHALLENGES FACED
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Directors of the government's recovery drive faced challenges from three directions, each arising behind legal points yet to be decided.
Upon the doorstep of the comptroller-general there rested for decision the complaint of a local Ford dealer, low bidder upon a contract for trucks from the civilian conservation corps, contending that it should not be denied because Henry Ford has not signed under the NRA.
From the District of Columbia supreme court came a temporary injunction restraining the secretary of the treasury from awarding a contract to other than the low bidder for a New York post-office annex, who was claimed not to have met NRA requirements.

In the supreme court of the United States there stood a promise to review the first challenge received by it of the wide recovery legislation, a case arising under the New York milk control law. Argument has been set for December 4.
There was speculation today first as to whether the comptroller-general would give a ruling in the Ford case, and next whether the president could override his decision should he rule that the lowest bidders should receive all contracts.
Mr. Roosevelt has made clear his stand that the government should not buy except under the blue eagle.

For Growing Girls and Weak Women
Portland, Ore. — "For growing girls and weak women I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," said Mrs. C. B. Blodgett of this city.
"When I was developing into womanhood I would go through every month. The pains in my limbs were severe, I had constant bearing pains and headaches. I was not able to do any work. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and had no more trouble."

KLAMATH RESIDENTS LOSE FEDERAL CASE

PORTLAND, Oct. 31. (AP)—A group of Klamath Falls residents who three years ago sued to regain money they subscribed several years ago for purchase of right of ways and terminal property for the Oregon, California & Eastern Railway, lost their case in federal court here Monday.

The court ruled that the citizens had "made a contribution for the purpose of building up the city, and they must find their reward in its future prosperity and wealth."

Failures Pointed Out
The case was heard by Federal Judge James Alger Fee. The plaintiffs had contended that the fund to which they subscribed was a trust fund and that since real estate purchased with the money was not devoted to use as a terminal property by the railroad, the trust failed and the money should be returned.

Judge Fee ruled that "the subscribers are the ones who failed to carry out the obligations which they assumed. Klamath Falls and its citizens have the benefit of a railroad running to Sprague river." The court said further, that the subscribers first failed to purchase the whole terminal and had the obligation cut to $50,000, and that they failed to get the right of way from Upper Klamath Lake to First and Klamath avenue and between Dairy station and Sprague. The subscribers contributed less than half the amount specified in the modified order, the court held.

This case dates back to 1915 and 1916, when the G. C. and E. line was started here under the direction of Robert Strahorn. As a part of arrangements made between Strahorn and the citizens, the latter offered to provide rights-of-way and terminal property for the new line. They raised approximately $27,500 of the $50,000 obligation, and with it Strahorn bought a terminal site on Seventh street, on part of which the new postoffice now stands.
Later, the railroad attempted to construct a terminal on the Seventh street property, but it was denied permission to cross the street with the railroad line. A few years after that, the O. C. and E. was taken over jointly by the Great Northern and Southern Pacific railroads.
About four years ago, a group of subscribing citizens, with J. W. Siemens the active leader, brought action in federal court, contending the property had not been used for the purposes intended when they subscribed to the fund, and they should have their money back. Five or six citizens sued on behalf of the approximately 200 subscribers to the fund.

R. C. Groesbeck, local attorney, was associated with outside legal counsel in representing the railroad in this case.

Airplane Crash Kills Navy Man

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 31. (UP)—Ensign Cleus H. Felton, Pensacola, Fla., was killed and Chief Machinist Mate Jack Ware, San Diego, slightly injured today when their naval scouting plane crashed 2200 feet into Mission bay.
A navy inquiry court convened afterward, determined that a broken propeller caused the accident.

Kidnaper Faces Death Sentence In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 31. (UP)—George McGehee, charged with the kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy, a crime for which his brother has been sentenced to hang, went to trial here today, carrying a Bible in one hand and the other hand chained to a deputy sheriff.
The youth, who will face a possible death sentence if convicted on the kidnaping charge, has read his Bible studiously in the weeks that he has been in jail, his guards said. His "hardboiled" attitude which he maintained immediately after his arrest, when he boasted about how easy it was to get out of jail, was changed when he faced the court today.

Prosecutors said they would demand the death penalty for George, whose older brother, Walter McGehee, is to be hanged for his part in the abduction of Miss McElroy, 25-year-old daughter of City Manager Henry F. McElroy.

REFINERY PLANT BLAST KILLS ONE

MT. PLEASANT, Mich., Oct. 31. (AP)—One man was killed and another painfully burned in a fire and series of explosions today at the refinery of the Roosevelt Oil company near here.
The body of Clyde Yeager, 27, employe of the refinery, was recovered about 8 o'clock this morning. Albert Ashley, refinery watchman, was painfully burned.
The fire, which was discovered by Ashley, threatened the entire plant of the Roosevelt company, covering 15 acres and including thirty-nine storage tanks, and three agitators. Firemen were fighting to keep the flames back from a 27,500 barrel tank.

PARIS FINDS NEWS IN LINDBERGH HAT

PARIS, Oct. 31. (AP)—When Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh appeared with his tattered head covered, that was news—in Paris!
It was news today when, for the first time during his and Mrs. Lindbergh's visit the famous American aviator sported a cap.
He took a mysterious drive in a taxi and walked a block from his hotel, wearing the cap.
Meanwhile, Mrs. Lindbergh again strolled in the shopping district.
It was said at their hotel today that the Lindberghs' fan mail has increased to 100 letters a day.

JOBS, PAYROLLS UP FOR OREGON

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Substantial increases in Oregon employment and payrolls during September are shown in the monthly survey made by the federal reserve bank of San Francisco.
The bank found gains of 17 per cent in the number of workers and 10 per cent in the aggregate weekly payrolls, after checking reports from 118 representative firms. These gains are larger than the customary September increases over August.
"Employment in the food products industry rose sharply," the report said, "and moderate increases were reported by the metals, textiles, paper and printing, and lumber and wood products groups."

WIGGIN DESCRIBES BIG STOCK LOSSES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Albert H. Wiggin told senate investigators today he began selling short in stock of the Chase National Bank through personal companies about a month before the market crash of 1929.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Albert H. Wiggin told senate investigators today his personal corporations had a net loss of more than $5,000,000 from participating in pools and syndicates with the Chase Securities Corporation.
Earlier, the retired chairman of the Chase National Bank, with which the corporation was affiliated, described loans by his personal companies to officers of the bank.
It also was brought out that the personal corporation of Wiggin had loaned $724,000 to Gerard M. Dahl, head of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit.

NATIONAL BANKS MUST MAKE REPORT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—The comptroller of the currency issued a call today for the condition of all national banks at the close of business Wednesday, Oct. 25.
The text read:
"J. P. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, has this day called upon all national banks in continental United States, Alaska and Hawaii and all savings banks, trust companies and credit unions in the District of Columbia for reports of condition as of the close of business Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1933."

U. S. REQUEST FOR FUGITIVE TURNED DOWN

request seeking the return of Insull, former Chicago utilities operator, to Cook county, Illinois, to face charges arising from the collapse of his enterprises.
Decision Unexpected
The decision today in the case, which has been dragging through the Greek tribunal since August, came unexpectedly.
It had been assumed further argument would be heard when the court reassembled this afternoon.
The trend of the case, however, had indicated the probability the Chicagoan would be freed, since court observers expressed themselves as believing the Greek jurists were not satisfied a case for extradition had been made out in accordance with Greek law.

Samuel Insull, monarch of a utilities kingdom that failed, was living in Paris when a Cook county, Illinois, grand jury, September 4, 1932, indicted him for larceny, embezzlement and larceny by baillee.
The United States government immediately took a hand in the proceedings, and one month later, on October 8, the American embassy in Paris handed the French foreign office a request for his provisional arrest.

Action Too Late
But the action came too late, Insull already had quietly left Paris. He went to Italy, but remained there only a short time, then went on to Greece.
The United States asked the Greek government to extradite the Chicagoan, but encountered difficulties, due to the fact that extradition treaty with them only in process of negotiation between the two governments.
Greek courts refused the American request in a verdict returned December 28, 1932. In that decision, the court took consideration that the transfer of money in the Midwest Utilities company by Insull to the brokers of Martin J. Insull, his brother, was a loan, the purpose of which was to save the price of stock in which the loan company was greatly interested.

Fight Renewed
The ruling held that Insull had no fraudulent intention, that he committed no offense, and that, therefore, the petition for extradition should be rejected and the arrest warrant annulled.
The United States department of justice renewed the fight, however, August 25, 1933, with the formal request to the Greek government for Insull's extradition upon a new indictment.
This indictment charged the former utilities operator with violation of the bankruptcy laws.
The present hearing was based upon this request.

ATTORNEY DISAPPOINTED
CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Although disappointed by the refusal of Greece to yield Samuel Insull to the United States, District Attorney Dwight H. Green indicated today the prosecution of others indicted would proceed.
"Naturally it is a disappointment," Green said, "We were confident our case would be successful."
Proceedings for the removal of Martin Insull, Samuel's brother, from Canada are still pending. Green was uncertain today whether any other step to gain custody of Samuel Insull, Jr., as usual refrained from any comment on his father's case today. He, too, faces prosecution on the indictment affecting the officers and directors of corporation securities.

POLICY LAID DOWN ON POWER PROJECTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—A policy that municipal power projects, if "generally desirable, engineeringly practicable and legally sound," should be approved by state public works boards and forwarded to Washington for consideration, notwithstanding "interested opposition," was laid down today by Secretary Ickes as public works administrator.

MOSCOW, Oct. 31. (AP)—Restoration of press relations between Soviet Russia and Germany was announced today in a dispatch from Berlin published by the newspaper Pravda.
The settlement involves reassignment of soviet correspondents in Germany and their admittance to the reichstag building fire trial, and return of expelled German correspondents to Moscow.

REPLICA OF FIRST TELEPHONE SHOWN

A replica of Alexander Graham Bell's first telephone. A bar of steel which floats in the air.
An artificial larynx which enables certain mutes to speak. Teletypewriters which send and receive typed messages across a room or across a continent.
These and a score of other interesting exhibits will be on display the last four days of this week at the telephone office on Seventh street, according to A. G. Goehring, manager here for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.
The displays have been brought to Klamath Falls especially for Telephone Progress week this week. The last four days of which will be visitors' days at the telephone office. All residents of Klamath Falls and surrounding communities, whether or not they are telephone customers, are invited to visit the office, see the displays and learn how telephone calls are handled.

The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily during the visitors' days, and guides will be on hand to show the equipment and answer any questions.

STATE BRIDGE PLAN WITH WORKS BOARD

SALEM, Oct. 31. (AP)—Plans for all five bridges for the Oregon Coast highway, are now in the hands of the public works administration at Washington, D. C. This information was contained in telegraphic communication today from Senator Charles L. McNary's office at the national capital.
The program quoted Colonel Clark, deputy administrator of the national public works department, to the effect that plans for the Siuslaw and Umpqua spans had just been received. These were the last two submitted, those of the Alsea, Coos Bay and Newport having been forwarded previously. The request as to definite information on the whereabouts of the bridge plans was made by state highway officials.

GOLD PRICE DROPS ON FOREIGN MARKETS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—The world price of gold abruptly slumped today in spite of President Roosevelt's announced intention of buying the metal in foreign markets, but nevertheless, the domestic price the RFC will pay was advanced to another new high.
While awaiting assurance from London that Mr. Roosevelt's approaching operations would not arouse retaliatory action and precipitate a monetary war, the administration set a price for the day of $32.12 for the yellow metal when fresh from domestic mines. The world price was $31.95. Yesterday's domestic price was $31.96.
The dollar strengthened today as against both the pound and the franc.

MILLIONS GET AID FROM WORK OF RED CROSS

Red Cross volunteers who are perfecting their organization for the annual enrollment of members, November 11 to 20, Monday learned from Chairman Glen Hout of the Klamath county chapter that more than 25,000,000 persons in the United States have received flour and clothing through the Red Cross distribution of these government surplus commodities.
The local chapter has taken a prominent part in this nationwide unemployment relief program by aiding men, women and children in distress.

Many Do Part
Chairman Hout says hundreds of women have given hours of service in making garments from cotton materials and in placing other ready-made articles of clothing where they will do the most good. The men, also, have done their part in handling the flour.

Since the beginning of the relief program the local chapter has placed $15,953.92 worth of ready-made clothes and piece goods, and $9,190.00 worth of flour where they were most needed in Klamath county.
James L. Fleser, vice chairman of the Red Cross at Washington, D. C., on a recent tour of the Pacific area, stated that every state and practically every county in the nation has shared in the distribution of 85,000,000 bushels of wheat and 844,000 bales of cotton.

Millions Receive Aid
Flour was placed on the pantry shelves of 5,502,000 families in 3,075 counties. Flour distribution amounted to 10,688,307 barrels. In making the distribution of clothing the Red Cross in-

STRIKERS BLAMED FOR FACTORY BLAST

APPLETON, Wis., Oct. 31. (AP)—A dynamite explosion attributed to farm strikers today damaged the Five Corners cheese factory, 13 miles west of Appleton.
The factory door was smashed, a dozen windows were broken and all residents of the little community were aroused. On a post near the factory was a note which read: "Close up, or we'll be back."
John Steiner, manager of the factory, and members of his family who lived in the building were unhurt.
Walter M. Singler, president of the Wisconsin cooperative milk pool, expressed belief the explosion was an isolated instance of violence.
