

STATE POLICE SEND WARNING TO MOTORISTS

State police officers here have received instructions from Superintendent Charles P. Pray to increase their vigilance for violators of motor laws, especially those pertaining to lights in anticipation of winter weather.

"Foggy weather, wet, slippery roads and other weather hazards make it imperative that motorists strictly obey laws. My men have been notified to enforce all rules," Pray said.

"During September state police have halted 2,400 machines which had only one headlight burning and 4,600 motorists were stopped because their automobiles had some lighting defects."

Pray said that the number of violators increased sharply during October and that further gains were expected this month. He said state officers work under the handicap of poor cooperation from justices of the peace.

"My men frequently arrest a flagrant violator, only to discover that the justices refuse to fine him, or levy only a 50 cent or $1 fine," said the police superintendent.

"The number of motorists who operate machines equipped with faulty brakes and improper lights is alarmingly large, especially in the mountainous regions. Reports received here indicate many machines are seen nightly operating with only one, and in many cases with no headlights while crossing the Siskiyou."

K. Sugarman has more reason than ever to assert his famous business slogan, "I ain't mad at nobody."

Mr. Sugarman, announcing an upward turn in the clothing business along with the "new deal" and the N.R.A., said Wednesday he had increased the number of employees in his firm over 133 per cent. The enlarged staff was compared with the one at work this time last year.

Rhennard F. Greening, formerly of Salem, has been the latest addition to the Sugarman staff. Mr. Greening has had many years of experience in this type of business and his employer considered his services a valuable asset to an already highly experienced staff.

The Sugarman store now employs seven regular workers to handle the increased business. Mr. Sugarman said. One of these has been engaged to make window displays and another as full time tailor.

A series of diphtheria immunization clinics will be held at the Mills community house on Garden street November 21 and December 5, under the sponsorship of the local 40 et 8 organization.

Miss Alice Campbell, school nurse, will be in charge of the clinics. A small charge will be made for each child immunized to cover the cost of material used. If parents are unable to pay the fee, they are asked to notify the school nurse and the deficit will be met by the sponsors.

The clinic is intended especially for children of pre-school age, since at least 90 per cent of the fatal cases of diphtheria occur in children under six years of age, according to Miss Campbell.

Sexton Visits
Four-H Clubs

Frank Sexton, county club leader, visited 4-H clubs at Illy, Sprague River, Beatty and District Number Three Tuesday, addressing club members and encouraging the organization of new clubs.

Sexton declared that club enrollments were increasing rapidly, and that new clubs are being organized in each community.

Sexton is accompanied on his trips over the country by Mrs. Sexton, who assists in the 4-H club work. They plan to cover the county within the next few weeks.

Women To Oppose Pension Changes

The Klamath League of Women Voters has gone on record opposing any move to repeal or modify the Oregon Old Age Pension law at the prospective special session of the state legislature.

This action was taken by the executive board of the league at the request of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, one of the original sponsors of the Old Age Pension law.

The League has forwarded copies of its resolution relative to the pension law, scheduled to go into effect January, 1934, to Representatives Ralph Horan, Henry Semon and to Senator Jay Upton.

Unemployed workers in England have been assigned to small "subsistence farms" in return for which each man puts in about six months a year on forest improvement work. At the same time 160 million acres of national forest in the United States would employ 650,000 men.

The Pelican—Now playing, "The Power and the Glory," with Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore and Ralph Morgan.

The Pine Tree—Now playing, "The Past of Mary Holmes," with Eric Linden and Helen MacKellar.

The Rainbow—Now playing, "Bondage," with Dorothy Jordan and Alexander Kirkland.

At the Vox—Now playing, "Tugboat Annie," with Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery.

AT THE PELICAN

Spencer Tracy plays the most important role of his career in "The Power and the Glory," new Fox film produced by Jesse L. Lasky.

"The Power and the Glory," new Fox production playing at the Pelican today, is one of the major experiments in the dramatics of the screen since the birth of motion pictures.

AT THE PINE TREE

Your emotions get a terrific battering from many intensely dramatic angles in "The Past of Mary Holmes," RKO-Radio Pictures at the Pine Tree theatre today.

Here is a drama bound to give your heart a twist. It's fundamental. It analyzes the torn soul of a woman who has fallen from fame and glory—a woman who nourishes a hatred for her son and then finds, when her testimony has acquitted him of murder, that she loves him.

AT THE RAINBOW

"Bondage," the Fox drama with Dorothy Jordan and Alexander Kirkland in the featured roles, plays at the Rainbow theatre today. The supporting cast, headed by Merle Tottenham, who made her screen debut in "Cavalcade," includes Lydia Westman, Jane Darwell, Edward Woods, Isabel Jewel.

Dorothy Libaire and Rafaela Ottiano.

AT THE VOX

Paget Sound tugboats, built to withstand the terrific storms of winter in the northern port, cameras slung from cables, or from their booms, to film them in churning seas, a great liner, chartered for a picture, and placed in the center of a raging storm at sea—these are among the amazing technical feats accomplished in the filming of "Tugboat Annie," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid drama, co-starring Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery for the first time since "Min and Bill," which comes back to the Vox theatre today.

An elaborate cast appears in the new picture, including Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan, Willard Robertson, Tammany Young, Frankie Darro, Jack Pennick and Paul Hurst.

MRS. HALPENNY SPEAKS MONDAY

At the Monday Fellowship Luncheon group, which meets weekly at the First Presbyterian church, Mrs. W. J. Halpenney, wife of the local Salvation Army captain, and a ranking captain in her own right, spoke on a text found in Job and also in Proverbs, "Remove not the landmarks." Mrs. Halpenney spoke of her early life in England and her conversion in a Salvation Army hall, when she was but a girl and the ears of service that followed.

Among the landmarks mentioned was the landmark of Christian brotherhood and comradeship, which has been characteristic of Salvationists the world over and which manifests itself in inquiring after the spiritual welfare of fellow comrades who might chance to meet, even though strangers to each other. Then there was also that landmark of seeking the goal that General William Booth, the founder of the Army, had laid at the very beginning of his career and had been one of the great characteristics of his life even to this close. The final landmark mentioned was that of witnessing for Christ. There was just as much value in Christian service attached to a good witness as there is in a court of justice.

Cyclist Describes Journey To Weed

"I've never covered so much distance in half an hour in my life," said W. S. Hands, Canadian bicyclist, in a letter to the chamber of commerce describing his cycle trip from the summit of the range between here and Weed, to the latter point.

Hands, writing from Weed, said he arrived at that place around 6 o'clock, after leaving Klamath Falls at 10:30 a. m. He is on his way from Penticton, B. C., to Santa Barbara, Calif.

PRIZES OFFERED IN BRIDGE PLAY

More than 25 per cent of those participating in the National Bridge Tournament to be held at the Elks temple on November 24 are going to win valuable prizes, according to announcement made by the tournament committee.

In addition to the national and local trophies and prizes for the best scores, and the gold plated emblems for the local champions, the Elks lodge has decided to make an additional award of one of the decks of the patented tournament cards to each table, the winner of these cards being decided by cutting.

These patented cards were especially designed and manufactured for the Elks National Tournament. They are probably the most interesting and educational deck of cards ever printed. A total of 64 different hands can be dealt from the key deck. In addition to the 16 hands which are to be used in the tournament, and which were prepared and furnished by 16 leading experts of the bridge world, there are 48 other very interesting hands which can be used for duplicate play.

At the conclusion of the tournament the experts' explanation of the bidding and play of the hands will be delivered to each table.

Plans Take Shape For 40 et 8 Meet

Plans are shaping for an interstate "wreck," to be held in Portland late in the winter, according to Grand Chief de Gare Dewey Powell of the Oregon 40 et 8.

Powell said February 8 has been set as a tentative date for the event, which is expected to

1 JAR RESINOL HEALED SEVERE ECZEMA

"More than 35 years ago, when I was a child, I developed a severe case of eczema behind my left ear. In spite of all the remedies used the disease spread rapidly over my head. Finally our doctor, one of the best in Kansas City, told Mother to try Resinol Ointment, as he knew it was good. It was wonderful and after using a full jar the affection was entirely healed. Since then I have been an ardent user of Resinol for burns, cuts, and all manner of skin affections, and have never known it to fail. There is nothing like it for the skin disorders of babies, it is so soothing and healing." (Signed) Mrs. O. S. F. (Name on request. Cincinnati, Mo.)

ACCIDENT VICTIM'S CONDITION BETTER

The condition of Mrs. Hazel Grider who sustained critical injuries in an automobile accident Monday night, was reported to be somewhat improved Wednesday afternoon, according to attendants at Hillside hospital where she was taken after being pulled from beneath the wreckage of the car in which she was riding when it left the road and turned turtle in a pile of rocks near Fremont bridge. Mrs. Grider operates Lakeshore Inn on the west side of the Upper lake.

Mrs. Grider sustained a fractured back, pelvis bone and arm, as well as severe shock and bruises, and will probably be unable to move for many months as a result of these injuries, according to attendants.

Your Membership Dollar May Save a Life

Yes, This Is Red Cross Week—It Only Comes Once Each Year

Your Federal Government recognizes Red Cross as the one best agency through which relief may best be administered.

Have you joined? Have you contributed the small amount which as a citizen you feel is your solemn duty to do? One-half your membership fee, 50c, goes to the National Association—the other 50c remains in Klamath county. Last year Klamath county contributed to the National Association the small sum of $800.00.

Through this agency 2700 barrels of flour valued at over Ten Thousand Dollars have been turned over to the County Relief, and cotton clothing valued at over Fifteen Thousand Dollars has been received and is still being distributed here.

In the last year over fifteen hundred families have been supplied with Red Cross flour and more than thirteen hundred families have received clothing.

About 100 volunteer workers have assisted in the production of garments and the distribution of same.

The value of flour and cotton alone received by Klamath county through the Red Cross during the past year is Twenty-Six Thousand Dollars.

Red Cross Relief Nation-wide In 1933

The Red Cross completed in the past year the greatest relief task in its 52 years of existence. Supplied with Government wheat and cotton, it distributed 10½ million barrels of flour to nearly six million families; 104 million garments to more than five million families. Flour was provided in every state, all but six counties. More than 25 million people were aided. In over 2,500 communities Red Cross Chapters engaged in unemployment relief. Ninety-two disasters in the U. S. and insular possessions called Red Cross into action; aid was given in four abroad. For disaster and other relief the national Red Cross organization expended $1,625,000.

Three of the major disasters were in the Pacific area and included the Southern California earthquake last March, and floods at Kelso, Washington, and Bonners Ferry, Idaho.

This Chapter was called upon to meet a quota of Three Hundred Seventy-Five Dollars to help in these Pacific Area Disasters. The Board of Directors of Klamath Chapter were reluctant to make an extra drive for these funds at that time when our people were already vexed with numerous solicitations of all sorts and they believed we would obtain a more hearty response to our coming annual Roll Call were we to make our contribution from the treasury, which was done.

While conversing with Chairman Houte, yesterday, he made this statement: "We never know where disaster will strike, and I urge the people of this community to renew their membership in the Red Cross that it may be equipped to cope with any disaster situation."

This week the Red Cross steps forward in a National Campaign—asking only a mere pittance from each community for what it may do for them during the next twelve months.

Klamath county will do her part, of course, but now is the time to do it.

Yours for Humanity's sake—

E. W. "Ed" VANNICE.
