Notable Event Sunday

MEDFORD will be the scene of a notable event Sunday, of interest throughout the country. On that day a memorial will be dedicated there to the late H. Chandler Egan, famed golfer and golf architect of the Rogue Valley metropolis.

Mr. Egan won the national amateur title when 20 years of age, and still a student at Harvard. He was western champion four times. He became a Medford fruit grower, but he continued to play golf. In 1915 he won the Pacific northwest championship. A few years ago, although he was 50 years of age, he was a member of the American Walker cup team.

Gathered to honor the memory of this fine sportsman at Medford Sunday will be a number of the country's leading golfers—Bobby Jones, Lawson Little, Horton Smith, Jimmy Thompson and Johnny Lawson.

Mr. Jones and Grantland Rice, the famous sports writer, will speak at the memorial dedication. The others will play an exhibition match.

The event is one which should attract visitors from throughout Southern Oregon. It offers rare opportunity to see four of the greatest American golfers in action, and to pay tribute to a Southern Oregonian who won fame and friendships the nation over.

Result of Abusing Privileges

ELSEWHERE on this page is a letter to the editor in which the correspondent suggests drastic measures to bring an end to traffic carelessness and its attendant tragedies.

This discussion is indicative of the trend the law may take if motorists do not take upon themselves the responsibilities of more careful driving.

In Oregon, for instance, motorists are permitted considerable freedom under a basic speed law. But continued abuse of that freedom has already brought about serious consideration of re-establishment of definite limits.

Other more drastic regulations and such severe penalties as those listed in our correspondent's interesting letter, may follow if there is continued disregard for the rules of common sense on the highways.

The esteemed Klamath Falls Herald editorially wonders where the politicians get their money for continental jaunts and expenses to Grange and Townsend club picnics. They seem to have an inexhaustible supply of both wampum and wind.—Medford Mail Tribune.

Telling the Editor

REMEDY FOR TRAFFIC ILLS

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—(To the Editor)—Last night's issue of the Herald, contained your editorial under the heading, "Traffic Difficulties Causes," in which you made reference to the lax regard for traffic regulations.

You particularly referred to your own practice of violating traffic rules, and inferred that such violations and practices were due to the influence set up by others, who were getting away with it. You should of went further and stated, that such condition of mind and influence is not confined to the city limits of Klamath Falls, but prevails over the entire nation.

You have, and others are constantly making certain suggestions, towards a better condition of operation, towards better regulation and the elimination of the constant slaughter which takes place daily on our highways. You and others have made suggestions and recommend better laws with a bite in them, that will force our present crop of maniacs to reverse themselves; change their arrogant ideas of driving, and display a better regard for human life.

Towards this end, I likewise, desire to express myself, and suggest a remedy. Please permit me to offer:

First—In each case where a person is convicted of drunken driving, the automobile or vehicle operated by him at the time the offense is committed, shall be confiscated by the state, regardless of any other condition affecting said automobile; and such person prohibited by law from ever operating an automobile within the state.

Second—Following the third offense and conviction of all other traffic regulations, regardless of nature, minor or major, such conviction will be sufficient, and the state shall confiscate the automobile in which the offense was committed, regardless, and said person prohibited by law from ever operating an automobile again within the state.

Third—Applicants shall be required to pass a strict physical examination, and those afflicted with heart trouble, near-sightedness, mental disorders, etc., shall be denied the right to operate an automobile within the state.

Permit the state to possess such powers of confiscation, and I have no hesitancy in stating that things will be properly regulated. Owners and operators will automatically take care of that phase.

Yours very truly, E. H. CRAWFORD.

Vasa Picnic—The annual picnic of Klamath lodge No. 450, of the Vasa Order of America will be held Sunday, August 22, at the gravel pit above Fort Klamath. Members are asked to bring lunches. Black coffee will be furnished free. Members are also informed that the next regular meeting, on August 21, will be followed by a dance. Vasa members, their families and friends are cordially invited to attend both picnic and dance.

There are enough motor vehicles for everyone in the United States to take a ride at the same time, according to registration figures compiled by the United States bureau of public roads.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Hypocrisy in politics—although it is virtually universal—seldom blooms into its quintessence more voluptuously than at times when a national administration insists it is taking no part in the major political of New York City.

This year's New York fight also indicates what a mess politics is coming to, when you recall that Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia probably will be running on the republican, fusion, American labor party and communist tickets. And that the Roosevelt administration covertly will be working for LaGuardia—probably openly in case anti-administration Senator Royal S. Copeland, Tammany's candidate, should win in the city's democratic primaries. Copeland has also entered the republican primary.

OUT TO BEAT COPELAND

From now on there will be amissaries shooting in and out of Washington with various assurances that the president is sincerely backing Judge Jeremiah T. Mahoney or that he is really behind LaGuardia, whom he sees as an important cog in the anticipated big progressive-conservative split of 1940. No one will ever suggest that there's any chance that the president or Farley will wholeheartedly support Copeland, although some tipsters will assert that Roosevelt will keep hands off if Copeland becomes the democratic nominee.

The hottest tip this writer gets is that Roosevelt is for LaGuardia and will quietly help him—or certainly not get in his way—in any event, whereas he would do everything in his power to beat Copeland. The senator "took a walk" in the last campaign and his wife made pep talks to republican groups, so administration opposition will be more than a mere reprisal based on Copeland's prominence in the fight against the court plan.

SEES COURT REPRISALS

Copeland has no illusions. He publicly declares that Roosevelt is breaking up the democratic party, and he demands a constitutional amendment limiting a president to two terms. Although Vice President John Garner told opposition senators that in ending the court plan fight there would be no reprisals by the administration, Copeland knows better and is publicizing the fact that there will be. He has made the majority fight, although it seemed sure to anyway, a test of new deal strength in America's largest metropolis.

NEW DEAL IS ISSUE

Four years ago Farley, Ed Flynn and other leaders ranged up behind "Holy Joe" McKelvey and backed him against the Tammany candidate on an "American party" ticket. La Guardia won in a three-way fight. Since then it has always been a question in the minds of politicians and political students as to whether Roosevelt allowed Farley, who sincerely wanted to anyway, to back Tammany leadership and bring the machine under his control, to back another strong ticket so that LaGuardia could slip through to victory by virtue of a division of the opposition vote.

There has been much happy, childish excitement among the new dealers ever since it became known that Copeland might run. Few anti-new deal senators are so distinguished as objects of administration hatred as he. Roosevelt made a point of laughing up-roariously when he was asked about the senator at a press conference.

But Copeland has a big record as a vote-getter. One of his strongest supporters in the present contest is Al Smith.

SIDE GLANCES

—by George Clark

"At the rate Joe has been pinching 'em we'll get our city hall repaired after all."

The Family Doctor

In this, the twelfth of 14 articles Dr. Morris Fishbein discusses a common form of allergic disease in which the individual's sensitivity to certain foods brings on unpleasant skin reactions.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Fortunately it is possible to desensitize some babies. By eliminating from the diet all of the foods which cause symptoms of allergy and then, beginning with small amounts of the food concerned and gradually increasing the dosage day by day, the child may be desensitized.

If the child is sensitive to feathers from chickens or geese, pillows stuffed with these materials should be removed from its environment. In such cases kapok pillows are often substituted.

There are other conditions of the skin which manifest themselves by redness or by the development of inflammations under the skin, supposedly due to sensitivity. Sometimes minute hemorrhages or bleeding into the skin may be associated with allergy.

Certain people become sensitive to serums of animals which are used in the treatment of disease. They develop a condition called "serum sickness" when injected with the serum of a horse. In this condition there is an eruption on the skin, fever, swelling of the joints and other disturbances. The physician is able to relate these symptoms quite definitely to the injection of the serum.

Some people have sick headaches which are quite definitely related to the eating of certain foods. Associated with this sick headache there may be colic and diarrhea. People who have these sick headaches are frequently members of families in which there is a good deal of allergy. In these forms of sick headaches everything possible must be done by skin tests and by elimination diets to determine the substance to which the person is sensitive. If he will then avoid this substance, he is not likely to have another attack.

Ten Years Ago In Klamath

CONCERNED over what he termed inadequate sewage facilities in Klamath Falls, Dr. Fredrick Stricker, Portland, has written Mayor Walters urging all possible steps in pushing the municipal improvement to a successful end. Voters at a special election turned down a new sewer construction proposal last spring.

Because Oregon statute states that only one special election may be held in one county in one year, a cloud has been cast over the $300,000 road bond issue election of June 26.

That an expert farm advisor will be sent from Washington, D. C., to assist Tule lake homesteaders was the announcement brought by the Klamath county land settlement board by George Kreutzer of the U. S. reclamation bureau today.

"Crater Lake, the Land of Gaywas," was the title given a motion picture of winter scenes shown at the Crater lake lodge last night by John Mabon. Many words of surprise from guests who had disbelieved tales of the great depth of the snow last winter.

Wooden Boxes Get Boost

Don Bentley, pictured above, is making a swing through northwestern forests under sponsorship of the lumber employes of the Klamath basin. He is boosting for wooden boxes, as is evidenced by his cowboy shirt back. Bentley appeared at Goldendale, where he won high money. He will be at Caldwell, Ida., August 19, 20 and 21; Boise, August 25 to 29; Ontario, Oregon, September 4, 5 and 6; Pendleton, September 16, 17 and 18.

BLY

BLY—Mrs. Charles Stump and small daughter, accompanied by Mrs. James Dixon, motored to Lamson's camp, Aug. 12, where they attended the birthday party of Marie Tibbets, age 4.

Joseph Wallis is spending a week visiting with his cousins, Roma and Dale Wallis of New Pine creek.

Bly planer mill was closed one day this week due to a breakdown. Parts were rushed to Klamath Falls and speedily repaired so that work could be resumed as usual.

Madge Dixon was a guest at the Dixon ranch last week. She is the sister of James Dixon. Many stock cars are being loaded and shipped daily from Bly to various markets. Cattle are being trailed from Paisley to Bly for shipment. The ZX ranch, it is understood, has sold 5000 head of mixed cattle, purchased through George Carpenter, cattle buyer, representing eastern buyers. Many sheep are also being shipped.

The stock records are being revised by a crew of men who work and flush small sections of the corral between the times stock is held there.

The Ladies' Aid of Bly is holding a cooked food sale at Canning's drug store this Saturday, August 21. It will be open all day. Many house goodies will be there and proceeds are being put in a sinking fund with a $100 goal for the new church soon to be constructed at Bly.

Maudine Keffler, proprietor of the Bly Laundry and Cleaners has had such an increase in business that more personnel has had to be added to her workers.

Jack Griffin has greatly increased his stock of men's clothing at K. K. K. store and has also opened a ladies' dress department.

Having it in full swing throughout the valley. All the ranches report a short crop this year due to such a late and rainy season.

Mrs. George Boyd has as her guest her mother, Mrs. J. O. Hamacker from Bonanza, one day last week.

Mrs. Grace Griffith, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, was able to be brought home Tuesday of this week from Klamath Falls.
