be impossible to adjourn before tomorrow and Barkley had agreed with him.

"Before Sundown"

"I want to adjourn the house tomorrow before sundown," Barkley said. "I hope we don't have a night session for the last session."

He spoke of a possibility of winding up the work of the house somewhere between 2 and 3 o'clock tomorrow.

Both houses were nearly ready for an unspectacular adjournment after a long, unproductive session begun in January.

All major bills on the pre-adjournment calendar have passed both houses, except for the third deficiency appropriation measure which the senate took up today.

The appropriations committee approved the inclusion of $20,000,000 to start the farm tenancy program, funds which the house already had voted.

A bill to seal loopholes in the revenue laws as a means of preventing tax avoidance and evasion received final congressional approval and went to the White House for the president's signature.

Not for many years has there been so little major legislation in the mill at a session's close. It happened this time only because most of the controversial problems were postponed until the next session.

House acceptance of a revamped sugar control bill sent the converted legislation to the White House to an uncertain fate.

Ditched in the rush to adjourn were not only the wage-hour and farm bills, but a crop insurance measure and a lot of less important bills.

May Salvage Census Bill

House leaders believed they might salvage from the wreckage a bill already passed by the senate for an unemployment census and some senators were seeking a vote on a natural gas regulation measure which the house has approved.

Before quitting, house leaders also planned to approve a senate resolution making farm legislation the first order of business at the next session.

Because so many of the president's measures have been postponed, this year's accomplishments added up to little of significance aside from the routine

BANK AT MERRILL TO BE ENLARGED

MERRILL.—A re-construction program that will enlarge quarters of the Merrill branch of the First National Bank of Portland, increase efficiency of employees, and bring the present building into the circle of the most up-to-date bank buildings of smaller towns of southern Oregon, began this week, under the direction of a Portland contractor.

Plans call for a modern, larger vault for which concrete is now being poured. The entire interior is to be changed, a back wall is being removed to permit adding six or eight feet to the main part of the building and the stairway to the second floor is being placed to the rear.

The door opening from the main street is to be moved east toward Sanford and company's building and the glass front is to be flush with the side wall.

Complete modern fixtures will be placed, according to Warren F. Pruitt, manager, and work is to be completed it is expected by the latter part of September.

SHELL STRIKES AMERICAN SHIP IN CHINA PORT

China merchants' lower wharf on the Yangtze river which the Japanese occupied on the 19th. Japanese bombers dropped seven bombs on Kiangnan near the south station next to the French concession. A Chinese anti-aircraft battery repelled.

Meanwhile the investigation into the shelling of the Augusta, causing the first major international incident involving the flag-ship, Frederick J. Faigout of Haealand, La., was killed and 17 seamen were injured, five seriously.

A Japanese spokesman denied that a Japanese shell struck the cruiser. He regretted the disaster and said it was caused by a Chinese mortar near the north station of Chapel. Japanese anti-aircraft guns were silent at the time, he said, because Japanese planes were over the Yangtze area.

The Chinese blamed the shelling on the Japanese.

Rear Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, supreme American naval authority in these waters, reprimanded both the Japanese and Chinese after consultation with the American consul-general, Clarence E. Gauss.

LAVA BEDS SHOW BIG INCREASE IN TOURIST TRAVEL

TULELAKE.—Travel into the Lava Beds monument is increasing with each year, according to Leon Fisher, superintendent of the monument. Good roads and advertising are contributing factors in drawing tourists into the sector.

Up to August 1 a total of 16,933 persons in 4584 cars had registered, almost double the number registered for that time in 1936.

At the close of the 1936 season, September 30, only 13,904 visitors had been registered.

This year's travelers have come from 38 states, Alaska, Washington, D. C., Canada and one car was registered from India. California outnumbers every state with the exception of Oregon, holding the lead with 2433 cars and 9099 guests. California can boast of 1390 cars and 6347 persons.

Roads into the monument are constantly being improved. Fisher says.

MANILA DARKENED BY EARTHQUAKES AS REFUGEE LAND

the 376 refugees arriving aboard the President Jefferson to a supposed haven after their terrifying experiences in Shanghai.

One girl among a score of screaming refugee women and children undergoing rigid inspection in the customs house, cried:

"Is that another war?"

The refugees had scarcely landed when the quake struck. Delayed more than an hour and a half at the breakwater, the eyes of many of the women refugees brimmed with tears of joy as the liner pulled into its pier.

They had left a city of death behind and were greeted by the lively tunes of a United States army band and the blaring lights of Manila.

A score or more were still in the customs house when the very earth roared, the building swayed and creaked and the welcoming lights blinked out. Terror reigned.

Seismologists said the quake was centered three and a half miles from Manila. They were unable to determine the direction of the epicenter because the recording instruments were knocked off their shelves. Additional, but less severe, quakes were forecast.

Escolta, Manila's main street, suffered much damage as plate glass windows of many leading stores were shattered.

The foundation of the Great Eastern hotel sank four inches below the pavement level. Guests fled in panic into the street, some in night clothes.

Hospitals treated many injured, including some hurt as audiences fled from movie houses.

Several water mains were broken, including one of the city's largest running across Ayala bridge. It fed the southern half of Manila.

DRUM CORPS PARTY SET FOR MODOC FIELD POSTPONED

The "victory party" for the American Legion drum corps, scheduled for Saturday night on Modoc field to celebrate their triumph at Albany convention, has been postponed until a later date, according to word from Dewey Powell, drum major.

The absence of a large number of the members of the corps on vacations and the reconstruction that is under way on the grandstand on the field make it inadvisable to hold the party tonight, Powell said. A new date will be set as soon as possible.

FLIERS MASS IN ARCTIC TO HUNT SOVIET AIRMEN

planned to take off for Fort Smith, N. W. T., 1200 miles distant.

Mattern Still Grounded

The huge silver flying boat, purchased by the Russian government for the expedition, will then fly north to join other aviators in the search for Sigismund Levanevsky, who, with five companions, was last heard from a week ago today, several hours before his four-motored plane was reported in Fairbanks to refuel for a United States dash.

Meanwhile, Jimmy Mattern, grounded for three days by bad weather, continued preparations here today for an exhaustive search of the northern Alaska coast and beyond to the polar ice cap in his sleek, aluminum colored plane.

Barrow, Alaska's northernmost tip, Pilot Bob Randall, veteran Canadian northland aviator, planned to resume his quest for information concerning the lost fliers through interviews with scattered Eskimos in the sparsely populated Arctic area, from Barrow east to Herschel Island.

He reported two days ago Eskimos told him they heard what might have been a plane's engine about the time the soviet fliers had been expected near the northern Alaska coast.

A Vartanian, soviet representative here, said latest radio advice brought news Pilot Zaddock, with Navigator Padalko, arrived at Barrow late last night and were expected to continue their flight today to Aklavik, N. W. T.

Vartanian also said he was informed the Russian ice breaker Krassin, carrying four Russian planes to be pressed into the search, was within 10 miles of Barrow late last night and was expected to cruise around there as contact point for the searching planes.

Activity of the Russians at Barrow led to erroneous reports (carried by the Canadian press) that Levanevsky and his companions had reached Barrow. The U. S. signal corps headquarters in Seattle said it had checked the reports and that "Levanevsky and his companions definitely did not reach Barrow." The signal corps expressed the belief the reports probably arose from belated wireless dispatches telling of Zaddock's and the ice breaker's arrivals.

F. R. APPROVES FUND FOR NEW STATE LIBRARY of the block already have been closed and negotiations with other property owners are being carried on by Commissioner Harry Hanfield, who said he would be ready to submit further options to the commission for final approval next week.

Work on the detailed plans for the structure, the estimated total cost of which is $1,000,000 along with a central heating plant for the entire group of state buildings, is already under way by Whitehouse & Church, Portland architects.

Under the terms of an agreement with PWA officials they are to be submitted for approval by November 1 and construction operations are scheduled to start within 60 days from that date.

Completion of the library is set for not later than June 30, 1939.

"There is no reason why the library project cannot proceed uninterrupted now," said Ralph E. Moody, assistant attorney general and special counsel of the commission who recently spent several weeks in Washington ironing out details in connection with the grant application.

"We know what PWA requires of us and can shape our course to conform to their demands."

Besides the $300,000 provided for land purchase, the legislature appropriated $50,000 for the state's share of the cost of the building or buildings.

The new building will be primarily a library, but will also contain some office space for other state departments.

EAGLES TO FROLIC IN ANNUAL PICNIC AT LAKE O' WOODS

Members of the Eagles lodge and their guests will frolic Sunday at Lake o' the Woods at their annual picnic, with the feature of the day to be a baseball game between the members of the drum corps and the rest of the lodge.

Those attending the picnic are asked to meet at the K. G. hall Sunday morning at 9:30 for the trip to the lake. Transportation will be arranged for those in need.

An initiation will be held at the picnic ground as one of the first items on the program, at 10 o'clock. Following will be a lengthy program of sports and games with prizes for the winners.

Each party is to bring a lunch; but coffee, ice cream, lemonade and other sundries will be furnished for all. Boating and swimming in the afternoon will be followed by a dance in the evening.

"They will then discover in Mr. Roosevelt a host of political virtues which they were unable to see at this particular time."
