

OUTLINES EXTRA SESSION FOR NOVEMBER

Get-Acquainted Service Held At Tabernacle Monday Night; Bible Study Begins Tuesday

For the purpose of getting acquainted, services were held Monday night at the Rayburn tabernacle, North Eighth and Pine streets. The Monday night crowd, as was expected, was nothing like the throng of Sunday evening. Monday is always the evangelist's day of rest and will be so set aside hereafter. Every other day of the week, including Saturday evening, services will be held.

The afternoon meetings, held at 2:30 o'clock, are for Bible study. In fact for the next four weeks a Bible institute will be in session. Dr. Rayburn is said to be fully as good in Bible interpretation as in his popular preaching. These services are held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. There will be no Monday afternoon or Saturday afternoon Bible studies throughout the mission. Those attending are asked to bring their "work Bibles," if they have any, and, if they haven't any, to begin one now. They are also asked to bring pencil and notebook, as exceedingly useful information and outlines will be given in these studies. The first series will deal with "The Priesthood of Christ."

Tuesday night was to be Sunday school night. The officers and teachers in the various Sunday schools of the city were asked to be present, as the whole service was to center in their important department of the church's work. The topic was to be "Preparedness."

Monday night Dr. Rayburn spoke on the words from the 5th Psalm, "With Thine arrow Thou revivest us again, that Thy people may rejoice in Thee?"

The evangelist said in part: "There had been revivals before and that was the basis for the hope of the writer of this psalm, that there would be another. Revivals have had a great place in the history of the church, all down through the ages."

"In fact, if there had been no revivals, there would be no church today. Revivals have been and still are criticized. There are two kinds of critics and two kinds of revivals. There are the just critics, who are fair-minded and who object justly to much that has been foisted on the church in the name of evangelism."

"There was a revival on Mt. Carmel, when the 450 priests of Baal spent the whole day in fanatical frenzy, howling and dancing and cutting themselves with knives until they were covered with blood. They were endeavoring to work up a revival. There have been evangelists in the Christian church that have catered to fanaticism and emotionalism. These are justly condemned by right-thinking men and women."

"But all evangelists are not of that class, just as all pastors are not alike and all doctors are not alike. There are the just critics, who are fair-minded and who object justly to much that has been foisted on the church in the name of evangelism."

Night Session
The county committee discussed the relief costs at some length with Dudley Goudy's letter said that he believed the estimate of $49,000 for general public assistance was about $20,000 short, but it was believed he was not taking into consideration certain items budgeted elsewhere, such as for the county poor farm.

JAP WARPLANES SHOT DOWN IN RAID ON NANKING

travelled a different route from that of which the Japanese had been advised. A soviet car also was raked with machinegun fire from Japanese planes, the soviet consulate reported, and was forced to return to Shanghai.

The incident was regarded with extreme gravity in all quarters.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12 (AP)—Three automobiles belonging to the British embassy were machine-gunned today by two squadrons of Japanese warplanes. None of the occupants was injured.

The staff cars, in which S. S. Murray, the assistant air attaché of the British embassy was riding with several other Englishmen, were attacked by the raiding Japanese planes near Min-hong, 14 miles south of Shanghai, about 4 p. m.

Carried Union Jack
Although the three motor cars carried the union jack, the British officials said, the Japanese warplanes continued their machine gunning after the occupants jumped from the machines and sought cover.

The British asserted the cars could have been identified easily and added there was no doubt that the attacking planes were Japanese.

With Murray and the other Englishmen in the automobiles, British officials stated, was a soviet embassy secretary named Shabov. He had been picked up 10 minutes before the attack, when his car broke down.

Herbert Phillips, British consul general, said an immediate investigation had been ordered although no details of the assault had yet been received by his office.

NANKING, Oct. 12 (AP)—Five Japanese warplanes were brought down today during spectacular air raids on the Chinese capital and nearby cities, the Chinese announced.

Three of the planes were shot down during dogfights with Chinese aircraft over Nanking. The other two suffered destruction at the hands of enemy pursuit planes at Chingkiang.

Spectacular
Taking part in the raid on Nanking were 24 Japanese aircraft. Two bombers made an ineffectual attack on Soochow and attempted to attack Chingkiang. Before they reached the city, however, they encountered Chinese planes and were shot down.

High School News Notes and Comment

By HEINZ DIETSCHER
MISCHIEVOUS Jim Coon is beginning to wonder whether there's a limit to the penalties the school can inflict for questionable behavior. So far he has been allotted six nights detention and 16 hours of manual labor on Modoc field.

"There just isn't any justice," piped Jim as he lay peacefully reclined in a booth at the "Blas Bird."

From Jack Lindh we hear that of late he has been observing Caroline Daggett in study hall in an attempt to prove the much disputed subject of mental telepathy. And to think it didn't even bother Jack when Study Hall Teacher Peterson called him a physicist.

The Traditions committee held an important meeting in the auditorium Monday to defend the right of the upper classmen against the hordes of transgressing rooks and sophomores. Sum total of the handful of motions and business presented during the meeting was the erection of a student court where the culprits who persist in violating the traditions will be tried.

A little purse belonging to Carolyn Collier is taking a terrific beating. Nearly every day now the defenseless miniature suitcase lands on the hard corridor floor when Carolyn opens her locker. Incidentally the locker, itself, looks like an overstuffed olive, but perhaps Pat Gallagher has something to say about that.
