and coordinate credit and other machinery to "achieve and maintain an enduring prosperity, free from the disastrous extremes of booms and depressions."

The president, speaking at ceremonies dedicating the new federal reserve building, made no direct reference to the recent tumbling stock market or down swings in business barometers.

Partial Answer
A portion of his address, however, appeared to give a partial answer to those who have blamed administration policies for the stock market plunge.

Reciting that the government has made many changes in its monetary and credit machinery in the last few years, Mr. Roosevelt said that "it must continue step by step to make the banking system what it should be."

"We must not complacently suppose that we have achieved perfection," he asserted, adding: "No Longer 1913"

"By the banking and security exchange acts of 1933, 1934 and 1935, the federal reserve system was given increased power to improve banking conditions and to aid the government in combating practices which were evil in their results."

"Those powers have been concentrated to a greater degree than before in a single public body, so that they can be used promptly and effectively in accordance with the changing needs of the country."

The president served notice the administration plans no reversal of its banking policies, asserting: "1937 is not 1913; nor do we want to turn the hands of the clock back."

Earlier, the executive referred to creation of the reserve system in President Wilson's administration. He spoke, too, of "the courageous leadership in the congress for which the senior senator from Virginia, Carter Glass, will always deserve the nation's gratitude."

Glass was instrumental in creation of the reserve system. Re-outlining his often-expressed goal of gaining "for all our people the greatest attainable measure of economic well-being" and the "largest degree of economic security and stability," the chief executive continued:

Perfect Machinery
"To advance the country towards this goal is the real mission of the federal reserve system."

"It cannot be attained by that system alone, but neither can it be reached without the proper functioning of our monetary and credit machinery."

"That machinery must be steadily perfected and coordinated with all other instruments of government to promote the most productive utilization of our human and material resources."

"Only in that way can our economic system and our democratic institutions endure."

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Robert W. Bingham, American ambassador to Great Britain, said today there is no justification for the recent decline in the stock market.

He added it was "forced upon the country by the brokers and bankers in New York City and throughout the rest of the country."

"They are constantly attacking government and the credit of the government and also the unbalanced budget," Ambassador Bingham said. "I think they brought all of this on themselves."

GOVERNOR VISITS ALTURAS, PROMISES ROAD PROGRAM

ALTURAS—Governor Frank Merriam of California arrived here Wednesday afternoon from Susanville where he attended the meetings of the Shasta-Cascade Wonders association and the Three Flags highway association.

Governor Merriam spoke to the school children at the high school gym after which he attended a banquet in the Niles hotel.

The governor promised, if re-elected, a balanced budget and, after hearing the wants of Modoc county promised them if he is again elected to the highest office in the state, he would personally see that Modoc county will not be forgotten in the matter of roads and other wants of the county.

Agents of the federal bureau of identification immediately took charge of the case after the shooting. They would not comment on whether they believed the trio had any connection with the Ross kidnaping case in Chicago.

Patrolman M. C. Pease and Jack Hayson shot and captured the men after a speedy chase over the Montlake bridge, in the university district. The trio drove into Roanoke street, which comes to a dead-end. There the three leaped from their machine.

Earlier, Police Chief William H. Sears had been informed by the Chinese lines at dawn. The Central (Chinese) News Agency said that the Chinese communist army had "wiped out" $900 Japanese at Hsinchow in northern Shanai province on the northern front.

By JAMES A. MILLS
SHANGHAI, Oct. 20 (AP)—Chapel was mercilessly bombed for 15 hours today while I made a survey of this historic Chinese residence section on the northern edge of the international settlement.

This was the sixty-ninth successive bombing Chapel has endured without yielding to the might of Japan's war machine. I found Chinese forces strongly entrenched and in high spirits.

While square miles of wrecked homes, looted shops and shattered factories, interspersed with debris-strewn alleys, told a grim story of the frightful ordeal Chapel's million inhabitants endured.

Live Below Earth
Aside from the hosts of soldiers living below earth like ground moles, the only sign of life was starving cats and dogs, roaming through streets and alleys, whining for food and water.

I saw many animals wounded by shrapnel. Dead canary birds parrots and other feathered pets lay in their cages. Here and there were mangled forms of dead soldiers and civilians.

As I dashed from house to house, the death-like silence was broken by the sinister drone of squadrons of Japanese planes overhead. They dropped a number of bombs, but most of them fell wide of their marks.

Crisis-Crossed With Trenches
Two exploding bombs jarred the earth violently and covered my steel helmet with mortar and dust. Through clouds of debris and dust, I saw wounded civilians and soldiers nearby.

Boy Scouts were acting as stretcher bearers. They carried away the seriously wounded. I made my way through the ruin-tattered streets, hugging walls for scant protection. I found the city criss-crossed with miles of zig-zag trenches.

Great barriers, formed by barbed wire entanglements, stone pill-boxes and sandbags blocked streets, most of which were littered with glass from smashed windows and with steel shell fragments. These made walking difficult on the cobble streets.

Land Mines
But the greatest hazards were land mines planted in the middle of streets, ready to explode at the slightest touch. The Chinese also have devised ingenious tank traps designed to bring disaster to Japanese mechanized equipment.

Amid all the devastation, the famous administration building of the North railroad station stood like a fortress. Two shell-blasted upper floors of this towering concrete and steel building still were smoking from yesterday's fire, but below, on the first and basement floors, hundreds of Chinese troops were nonchalantly shooting dice. Others slept.

certain charges made for private automobile owners moving cars through nearby states after taking factory delivery.

A Klamath woman who took delivery in the east of a new car was forced to pay $7.50 in Nevada. Snell in a letter said that he could not understand the charge, but that he believed the money would be refunded when it was made plain to Nevada authorities that the Klamath woman was a private owner and was not "caravanning" the car to the west coast.

A Kansas man, bringing a car to Klamath Falls to turn over to a local man, was charged $22.50 for caravan license in California. This car was to be presented by a Kansas resident to a Klamath Falls man.

A memorandum of reciprocity agreements has been prepared by Ray Inzels, director of motor vehicles of California, and Secretary Snell. It follows:

1. Full reciprocity in lawful use of the highways of California and Oregon by private passenger non-commercial vehicles properly licensed.

2. Full reciprocity in lawful use of the highways of California and Oregon by small non-commercial trailers or semi-trailers licensed as and when required by bona-fide resident owner in the state in which the towing vehicle is licensed.

3. Full reciprocity in the lawful use of the highways by commercial trucks, trailers, semi-trailers, motor busses and bus trailers, properly licensed in the state in which the owner resides; provided such vehicle is operated exclusively in interstate commerce while operating as a non-resident vehicle.

4. Any vehicle operated as a non-resident vehicle in California or Oregon and engaging in any intra-state commercial operation shall become subject to all provisions of the law in the same manner as a resident vehicle.

5. This reciprocity shall apply to licensing of vehicles only and shall not relieve any class of non-resident vehicle from compliance with all rules and regulations of the public service or public utilities commission of the state of Oregon or the railroad commission of the state of California.

6. These benefits pertain to the states of Oregon and California only and residence is the determining factor. Non-resident of either of these states shall avail himself of these reciprocal benefits by the licensing of his vehicle in either of the states, without first having become a bona fide resident thereof.

7. Full reciprocity in lawful operation of vehicles upon the highways of California and Oregon under operator's or chauffeur's licenses of bona fide residents of either state; provided that a minor over the age of 16 years but under the age of 21 years shall apply for an operator's license if operating a motor vehicle in either of these states other than the state of residence. He shall apply within 10 days immediately following entry into either of these states.

8. Where vehicles are properly licensed in the resident state permission to be granted during current license period for gainful employment in non-resident state.

the low altitude of 10,000 feet before it struck an isolated mountain ridge in remote northwestern Utah.

It may show that the plane hit a sudden down-draft which pulled it into the mountain. Or, if it recorded a sustained low flight it would indicate that other of the airliner's instruments were defective, because Pilot Earl D. Woodgerd made a practice of flying extraordinarily high over the dangerous western mountains.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 20 (AP)
A county-sponsored investigation into the tragic crash of a luxurious "mainliner" was completed today even as bereaved relatives and United Airlines officials claimed the 19 broken bodies recovered from the splintered wreckage high in the Uinta mountains.

Joseph Hopkins of Coalville, Utah, coroner of Summit county, in which the accident occurred Sunday night, announced "that all the procedure necessary in an inquest was completed Tuesday at the scene of the crash."

"Death by accident" was his official verdict in the accident in which 16 passengers and crew of three lost their lives.

Throughout the night relatives of the victims visited a crowded mortuary in the southwestern Wyoming town of Evanston, identified bodies and arranged for their transportation to homes scattered throughout the nation.

"It is likely that all bodies will be sent out of here (Evanston) by late tonight," said Colonel O. D. Tuttle, United Air representative. He said relatives were permitted to view only one body at a time, as they sought to complete identification.

United Airline officials and department of commerce representatives remained today at a camp established near the crash scene. Harry W. Huking, Salt Lake City western division superintendent of flying for United, said Jack Hurley, operating engineer, is in charge of the camp, and, with Oliver Rosta of Oakland, department of commerce representative, is making the investigation.

Huking said no attempt would be made to salvage any part of the ship with the exception of instruments that might aid in the final hearing.

Three investigations are planned. A federal board appointed by Secretary of Commerce Roper is scheduled to meet here Saturday. United Airlines will conduct its own investigation. A third probe will be made by the U. S. postal department.

AMERICAN FARMER DEGREE AWARDED TWO OREGON BOYS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 20 (UP)—Oregon, with the second largest delegation, 43 boys, to the national convention of Future Farmers of America here, placed two boys among the 75 to win the coveted American Farmer degree.

Robert Stults of Cloverdale, Ore., and Verline K. Herman of Myrtle Point, Ore., were the two Oregon winners. Stults is past president of the Oregon Future Farmers, and runs a 54-acre dairy farm in Tillamook county. Young Herman rents a 153-acre farm in Coos county upon which he runs 199 head of his own Shropshire sheep. He was formerly secretary of the Oregon Future Farmers.

With the week-long convention closed, the boys will leave soon for Oregon where they will arrive Oct. 25. They plan to take the southern route home, stopping at El Paso, Texas, Oct. 22, where they will be entertained by the Texas F. F. A.

LEO CARRILLO TO SEEK GOVERNORSHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20 (AP)
Leo Carrillo, motion picture star, was preparing for a featured role in the theater of politics today.

The noted actor said he would be a candidate for governor of California at the 1938 election "to take this state out of machine politics and restore it to its rightful place in the sun."

The actor said he did not know on what ticket he would run.

The actor's great grandfather, Carlos Antonio Carrillo, was professional governor of California in 1835. Carrillo himself is a supporter of President Roosevelt and the new deal.

LONDON-HOOVER FISSURE LOOMS

by former Rep. William S. Bennett, brought this objection from Andrew J. Humphrey, a charter member:

"Mr. Hoover and Mr. Landon are on opposite sides of this question and there is rivalry of control of the next regular convention. We should steer clear at this time of any unscrupulous action."

The republican national committee will meet in Chicago November 5 to vote on holding the unusual convention, which would be a prelude to the 1938 congressional campaign.

Landon-Vandenberg Parallel
There have been reports Landon would prefer that the convention adopt a platform dealing specifically with current issues, such as he discussed last night in his first major speech since the 1936 election.

Observers noted a close parallel between Landon's criticisms of Roosevelt policies and those voiced from time to time by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.). Landon stressed demands for revision of the social security act and Wagner laws, which Vandenberg has been seeking.

As in the 1936 campaign, Landon said many of the Roosevelt objectives were good, but he objected to the methods.

Landon-Johnson Parallel
Congressional observers also noted a similarity between Landon's criticism of the Roosevelt policy with reference to Japan and that voiced in a statement by Senator Johnson (R-Calif.).

Both asked in effect how far the president intends to go in his eastern war.

These two expressions, together with similar comments from other republicans, foreshadowed an almost united republican attack at the coming special session on the administration course in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

FORMER COAST LEAGUE MANAGER GIBED BY INDIANS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 20 (AP)—President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland baseball club announced today appointment of Oscar Vitt, manager of the Newark club of the International league, as new manager of the Indians, replacing Steve O'Neill. O'Neill becomes a Tribe coach, Bradley announced.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 20—Oscar Vitt declared today that his appointment as manager of the Cleveland Indians baseball club culminated an ambition he had cherished for the last 15 years.

"I've been pointing for a major league manager's job for the last 15 years," Vitt said.

Vitt said he was sorry there was no chance of him taking Joe Gordon, Oregon university youngster, with him to Cleveland. He declared Gordon, second baseman at Newark last year, was the most outstanding player he had ever seen.

An attempt at mediation of the far eastern conflict will be the first task of the Brussels peace-seekers, according to authoritative sources, with the conference reporting the results of its efforts to the league of nations—in the role of a sort of "committee of reference" of the league—along with recommendations for further action in the event mediation fails.

The American delegation is expected to assume the role of an "influential observer," lending its weight without actually involving the country in any foreign entanglement.

Dr. Frederick Schmidt of Edina, who examined the body, determined that it has been embalmed and estimated that the man was past middle age and weighed approximately 150 pounds.

Prosecuting Attorney William Stewart said he had been informed that Crom did not fit the description of the dead man.

In Chicago, federal agents said they did not believe the body that of Ross because first reports said the man had only four lower teeth. Ross, they said, had a full set of teeth although some were false.
