Germans Claim Ships Destroyed

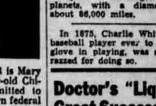

BERLIN, March 13 (P)--The suthoritative commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland asserted today that since the beginning of the war German armed forces have sunk more than 9,000,000 tons of British shipping space. The service, which raflects government opinion, sold the total British tonnage launched in 1938 and 1939 did not reach the total sunk by the Germans in the four months of "the winter pause."

TO LOOSEN DOORS THAT STICK ther Service of the House of Seagram

DCORS will stick when door frames are thrown out of square by the settlement of the house. The door is some-times adjusted by putting a piece of stiff cardboard or thin wood strip under one wing of a hinge. Or a little of the wood may need to be cut away from behind a hinge, so that it is set deeper into the door frame.

If the door is too badly stuck to be loosened by such methods, one or more of the edges must be planed off. This usually requires that the door be removed from the hinges. Edges that have been planed should be painted or varnished in order to elling through abs sorbing moisture.

To take off a door, open it part way, and support its outer edge by placing a book underneath. The pin that holds the two parts of a hinge together can be driven out with a hammer and acrewdriver. In taking a door off, the bottom hinge should be freed first; and in putting a door back, connect the top first.
