

BUTTE VALLEY TO ENTERTAIN SCHOOL ORDER

DORRIS—On Saturday, March 22, the Butte Valley high school will have the privilege of entertaining approximately 100 boys and girls from nine high schools of Siskiyou and Modoc counties, at the annual C.S.F. conference. A very interesting program has been prepared which will include an oratorical contest, a quiz program, dancing, ping-pong, softball, horseshoes, and community singing. Bill Spangus will play a violin solo; Dolores Sevits will give a tap dance; Lenore Stahn will recite a poem; Amy Bacchetti, president of the Butte Valley chapter, will welcome the delegates. A luncheon will be prepared and served by the girls in the home-making class under the direction of Shirley Luttrell. At the convention held last year at Weed, Dick Fenwick of the Butte Valley high school was elected president and Lenore Stahn elected publicity manager for 1940-1941.

Mrs. Rosemary Long was the winner of the six-tube radio prize from the Camera club and Mrs. Johnson won the second prize which was a box of candy.

The G.A.A. will hold a box social on Friday evening, the 21st, for the purpose of raising money to send delegates to the Older Girls' conference at Richardson Springs. The public has been cordially invited. As an added attraction a basketball game will precede the social, the games being between the Dorris and the Weed teams.

The grammar and high school students enjoyed the interesting program presented at the Dorris theatre last Friday afternoon in observation of Conservation week. The program was presented by District Ranger Peterson and his staff. The CCC boys from Camp Leaf contributed enjoyable music. The main part of the program consisted of a quiz and a true-false test of ten questions. Jean Motschenbacher was awarded a cash prize for answering all questions correctly. Two winners in the grammar school also won cash prizes.

The intramural sports program recently initiated for noon hour and after school activity is now well under way. Each class, both boys and girls, are working for a cup to be awarded for the highest number of accumulative points. A further stimulus was added by the ping-pong trophy for the individual and class winner; also a track trophy was introduced for the boys' class that carries away the banner in that sport.

At present, the senior girls have carried away honors in their interclass basketball tournament while the junior boys have done likewise in their play-offs. Boys' softball is still a highly contested affair. Boys' horseshoe and ping-pong have gone through the first elimination.

The success of the intramural program is due largely to the leadership of the student managers who handled each event, and the student participation in them. This program was organized by Coach Miller.

Red Bluff Makes Plans for Rodeo On April 19, 20

Riding hard on the heels of the first robin of spring, the directors of the Red Bluff Round-up are rapidly completing plans and preparations for the 17th annual Round-up that is scheduled to be held this year on Saturday and Sunday, April 19 and 20.

Managed and directed by stockmen during the past 17 years, the Red Bluff Round-up has become established as one of the leading western celebrations. Round-up fans have acclaimed the show for its fast moving action and thrilling encounters between the champion cowboys and rough, tough broncs and bulls.

Offering the biggest purses of any two-day contest in America, the Red Bluff Round-up attracts the leading riders, ropers and bulldoggers, and the stock used in the show is carefully selected to provide the kind of mean, rough animals worthy of the contestants' abilities.

A colorful array of trick riders and ropers, cowboy clowns and other special events, together with five daily thoroughbred running races, serve to round out two days of thrilling, exciting, western action.

Uniforms Better At Fort Lewis, Commander Says

FT. LEWIS, Wash., March 20 (AP)—So far as uniforms are concerned, being drafted in the Pacific northwest has definite advantages.

Although nearly half of the 3500 conscripts being given basic training in the 41st division cantonment are wearing uniforms that make them hate to come to town, none of these have been issued at the Ft. Lewis reception center.

The uniforms in question are of the 1917 issue, with a slightly bilious yellow hue and high choker collars. They have been issued at various places over the country where supplies of modern army uniforms have been exhausted. However, Col. Joseph W. Loeff, commanding officer of the Ft. Lewis reception center, pointed out last night that all the men passing through the center here have emerged clothed in the height of military fashion.

"We are even giving the boys the new style bellows back and roll collar," Colonel Loeff said. "We have equipment for everybody, from size 32 to 46. If they need any bigger than that, we wrap a tent around them."

'Mother of Mount Tacoma' Passes

TACOMA, March 20 (AP)—The "Mother of Mount Tacoma" died yesterday.

She was Mrs. M. G. Mitchell, 79, of suburban Larchmont, who spent the last 25 years of her life fighting, without success, to have the name of the nation's third highest peak changed from Mount Rainier to Mount Tacoma.

In her collection is a complete file on the grim but ludicrous fight over the mountain's name. She carried her battle to presidents, congressmen, governors and newspaper editors.

In tribute to the woman's battle, friends said her ashes would be scattered over "Mount Tacoma" from an airplane.

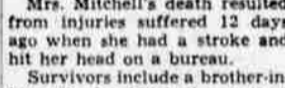

Mrs. Mitchell's death resulted from injuries suffered 12 days ago when she had a stroke and hit her head on a bureau.

Survivors include a brother-in-law, Charles Mitchell, a retired Methodist bishop living in California.
