Moans Bring Help But Woman Dies

LONDON, March 20 (AP)—Moans from the wreckage of a tenement in a Clydeside town, 132 hours after a bomb had shattered the building, sent a physician burrowing to the aid of a trapped woman Wednesday.

He administered hypodermic injections and the woman was rescued alive, nodding her thanks, but she died six hours later in a hospital.

Cost of Swift Kick Is $50

LOS ANGELES, March 20 (AP)—Dr. Earl Graham knows the cost of a swift kick, well placed.

It's $50. Municipal Judge Joseph Marchetti fined him that amount after Norma Norman, waitress, testified the Van Nuys physician kicked her in an altercation over a $9 meal ticket.

James Woodrow Porter, 223-pound, six-foot-four policeman in a hospital for a tonsillectomy, is getting more kidding than sympathy from brother officers.

Because of crowded conditions, the hospital quarantined Porter in the maternity ward. Moreover, the bed is too short and its pillows bear the torturing "burden."

Mrs. Ed Patzke and James Leon

BLY—The accompanying picture is that of James Leon Patzke and his mother, Mrs. Ed Patzke of Bly. The young man was born on Saturday, March 8, and weighed 8 pounds.

Young Patzke was evidently in a hurry to make his debut in this troubled world and made his initial appearance somewhere on the highway near the Merrill junction, while his father was speeding to Klamath Falls and the hospital with the young mother.

A state patrolman who was giving a motorist a ticket as the speeding car approached, ascertained the trouble and preceded the car into town clearing the way with siren screaming, as they threaded in and out of the early Saturday afternoon traffic on South Sixth street.

Meantime, Mrs. Patzke, who asserts that such a birth is much simpler than the usual routine and a great deal more exciting, had immediately cried out, triumphantly, "Oh, Ed, it's a boy." The doctors assert that the young woman was none the worse for the experience and she came home to Bly on March 11. Mrs. Patzke was formerly Opal Saunders. James has an older sister, Betty Jo.

Variety Store to Open in New Location on Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Eyerly, who on Saturday are opening their Klamath Variety store in its new, modern, more convenient location at 836-38 Main street, have been in business in this city since January, 1929, when they purchased the variety store.

At that time their store consisted of a 20-foot frontage, but they have had three expansions previous to moving to this new location due to the fact that they have added additional lines of merchandise not usually found in stores of this type. They are affiliated with the Consolidated Merchants Syndicate of New York City which handles buying for more than 1000 independent merchants.

The new store will allow 15 per cent more selling space than the old location and is equipped throughout with fluorescent lighting. The personnel consists of local girls who are especially trained, with the result that an experienced salesgirl is in charge of each department.

The Klamath Variety's personnel includes Porter Benson, assistant manager; Mildred Binney in charge of ready-to-wear, Brita Stride of gifts wares and stationery, Helen Hanks of the art department, Ann Livingston of miscellaneous dry goods, Wilma Lee of cosmetics, Ruth Poole of housewares, and Arlene Porter of candy and jewelry.

BLY SCHOOL HOLDS SEVERAL PARTIES

BLY—Several jolly parties have been given in high school circles recently. The student body drive party in which Ray Logan's side as losers did a grand bit of entertaining, was held early in the month. Practically the entire student body was present and cooperation in the matter of masquerade costumes was almost unanimous. Those who failed to mask were fined. Hot dogs with all the trimmings and chocolate were served.

The seniors won in the annual drive by turning in the largest per cent of subscriptions. They were treated to ice cream bars.

An early breakfast followed by skiing on Quartz mountain and later a swim at Paisley Hot Springs were enjoyed by the juniors and seniors group. A picture show at Lakeview wound up the day's round of fun.

A scavenger hunt afforded a lot of real thrills on Friday, March 14. The freshmen and sophomores were hosts to the juniors and seniors. They met at the high school gym at 7 o'clock and disbanded sometime in the wee small hours having returned the various articles which they were required to bring in. The students were divided into four groups with Snuffy Smith, Lenore McMillan, Ray Logan and Paula as leaders. Lenore's group won, having collected the heterogeneous list first, the prize being a box of candy. Ray Logan's group was given consolation in the form of all day suckers. Janet Protzman and Pearl Bowers were hostesses to the sophomore, junior and senior classes on Monday evening, March 17 at a St. Patrick's party. Pinochle and truth and consequences were the entertainment features. Dale Smith, won first honors and Lenore McMillan won consolation prize. St. Patrick motifs were carried out in decorated cakes, ice cream and green tinted punch. All class members were present but Barbara Hall, Bill Alcorn and Lyle Weaver who are out of school because of illness.
