Grocery Proud of Rosebush Record

In line with the current campaign to clean-up and beautify Klamath Falls, Walter Wiesendanger, manager of the Sunset grocery, maintains that the Sunset has done much in recent years to beautify Klamath Falls. Every year about the time of the clean-up campaign, Sunset has distributed rose bushes, never less than 600 a year, and Wiesendanger estimates that over 3000 of the roses have been planted in Klamath Falls in the past five years. The roses are of a hardy variety and do well in this climate, and bloom the same year they are set out. The Sunset has a shipment of the plants for distribution this week, he added.
