

KNITTERS FOR BRITISH AID GROUP SOUGHT

More knitters in Klamath county, as well as in other parts of the United States, are needed by Bundles for Britain units, and requests have been received here from England for more warm "woolies" for the fighting forces.

Mrs. Wales Latham, organizer of Bundles for Britain, received the following letter which has been forwarded to the local unit, showing the appreciation of those who have received the shipments from American women:

"Two wonderful cases have just arrived, the one containing 55 pounds of double knitting khaki wool, the other full of the most splendid knitted garments. "The weather is bitterly cold, the roads icebound, so that these lovely warm woolies will be tremendously welcome by the men the moment they are received. This time of year we get the garments away from the depot the moment they come to us with as little delay as possible, so you can imagine the delight this huge consignment from Bundles for Britain will give to countless recipients. We are all very much impressed with the way the garments are packed; they arrived over here in perfect condition. The label attached to each article conveying the sympathy from our friends in America will warm the hearts of the wearers as much as the wool itself will warm their bodies.

"Words cannot express to you our gratitude for your magnificent gift."

Any woman who will give several hours a week of her time to knitting for Bundles for Britain is asked to contact the local office at 419 Main street. Yarn is available there and may be obtained from those in charge. Knitting instructions will also be given.

PROGRAM GIVEN FOR 'FUN FESTIVAL'

Lower Draft Age Would Hit Colleges

PORTLAND, April 3 (AP)—Colleges would be put almost out of business if the draft age is lowered to 18, Dr. Earl Gordon Bill, Dartmouth college faculty dean, predicted yesterday. Most college students are from 18 to 21 years of age, he told interviewers.

SCIENCE ADVOCATED
CORVALLIS, April 3 (AP)—Continued scientific research is needed, despite the urgencies of rearmament, Governor Sprague told an Oregon State College audience yesterday. He advised science students to remain in school.

The present struggle involves not only our destiny as a world power but our ultimate position as a maritime and commercial nation.—Raymond H. Geist, state department commercial expert.
