

HARRY HOPKINS TO SUPERVISE AID TO BRITAIN

Aid to China

Later, Mr. Roosevelt and Morgenthau discussed means of expediting aid to China with Dr. Hu Shin, Chinese ambassador to the United States, and Dr. T. V. Soong, president of the Bank of China. Dr. Soong and the ambassador both indicated that Mr. Roosevelt had agreed to expand aid to China.

To date American aid to China has been limited largely to financial assistance. Steady increase in defense production may allow diversion of war materials now to help China in her struggle against Japan.

TRIAL STARTS FOR ANDERSON

First witness for the state was Joe S. Wilson, Sprague River, who said he saw the body of Zulkoski lying face down in a ditch at 8 a. m. the morning after the shooting as he was driving toward Klamath Falls. He said he did not get out of the car, but proceeded on and reported his discovery to state police. He said the body was about a mile east of Olene.

Sergeant Louis G. Johnson, state officer, testified he notified Sheriff Dale Mattoon and Deputy Sheriff Dale Mattoon as soon as Wilson called him. The three drove two miles past the spot where the body lay, not having seen it on the way out, he testified. A considerable distance from the body they discovered a brown hat believed to have been worn by the dead man. Johnson identified seven photographs which he said he had taken before the body was moved. The pictures were accepted as Exhibits 1 to 7. The only change made during the picture taking was the removal of a closed white pocket knife which lay about two feet from the body, the officer said. The hat was introduced as Exhibit 8.

Dr. George Adler, county coroner, testified he examined the body of Zulkoski (at the time unidentified) and said death was caused instantaneously by a hemorrhage from a gunshot wound. He said the bullet—a rifle bullet—entered Zulkoski's left arm at a point opposite the third rib, passed through the arm, through the body and out the right side of the body slightly toward the back. He said Zulkoski's left arm, in his opinion, could not have been raised, inasmuch as a probe thrust through the arm and body in the bullet's path necessitated the arm to be straight down.

Dr. Adler admitted there had been some discussion between him and Dr. George Massey, who aided in the autopsy, as to exactly which side of the body the bullet had entered, but he said the matter was definite after further examination showed the path of the bullet carried fragments of cloth inward on the left side. The examination also disclosed that bone fragments were carried from the left by the bullet, Adler testified.

Thurman A. Wilson testified he found the pickup truck alleged to have been driven by Anderson or Zulkoski the night of the shooting. He said it was stuck in a mud hole on a road to Anderson hay ranch. Wilson said he examined the truck and found blood in the seat, on the floor and on the running board. He left his own car and walked to the ranch house because he could not drive around the pickup, he said. It was not until later that he learned James Anderson had been involved in some difficulty. Wilson said he returned with Mattoon later and Mattoon took two rifles from the cabin. Wilson discovered a bullet in the mud on the pickup's running board, he said.

In cross-examining Wilson, J. C. O'Neill, who with Edwin E. Driscoll is representing the defendant, questioned the witness regarding any marks which were found inside the cab of the pickup. An indentation was found near the door at about shoulder-height, Wilson said. He described the mark as being possibly caused by a bullet, which may have dropped between the door and the seat cushion and dropped out on the running board when the door was opened.

Steel Wages Raised
The outburst in the coal fields came quickly after wage increases for hundreds of thousands of the nation's steel workers had averted a threatened strike against the industry. Many small steel mills were following the lead set yesterday by United States Steel corporation and other big producers in granting wage increases of 10-cents-an-hour.

While the wage hikes and other concessions swept away most of the rough spots in steel-labor relations, the soft coal tie-up remained in effect despite the appearance of Secretary of Labor Perkins before management and union representatives deadlocked on terms of a new contract.

About 432,000, or more than two-thirds of the steel workers in the nation, were informed by last night that their pay envelopes would be $4 fatter each week.

PANZERS BACK ALLIED FLANK 35-40 MILES

(Continued from Page One) Mount Olympus and the gulf of Salonika presumably were those reported smashing down across the Vistritza river in the region of Serbia, 60 miles inside Greece and about 20 miles west of Mount Olympus.

ATHENS, Wednesday, April 16 (RE)—German armored forces smashed through the main allied line and swept nearly 30 miles down across northern Greece in a great arc aimed at entrapping the British and Greek armies, it was stated officially early today.

The German "panzer" forces were said by the official Greek spokesman to be striking at the towns of Kozani and Statista and to have advanced to the vital Statista pass west of Kozani in the Vourinon mountains.

At Kozani, just north of the Vistritza river, the German spearhead of tanks was only about 40 miles from the eastern end of the allied line on the gulf of Salonika near Mount Olympus.

Trapped
(An Ankara radio broadcast heard in London said that the Germans had swept behind Mount Olympus and entrapped British forces holding the allied flank between Mount Olympus and the seacoast.)

The Germans, reporting a 60-mile thrust into the heart of the Anglo-Greek defenses, said their troops had crossed the Vistritza to the Serbia area only 18 miles due west of Mount Olympus and it may have been these forces, cutting a wide arc, which reportedly encircled the British.)

The Greeks have abandoned the Albanian town of Koritza "for strategic reasons" under German and Italian blows from two sides, it was stated by the Greek high command, indicating a surrender of all the Greeks' hard-won conquests on the northern Albanian front.

BRITISH RUSH EGYPT DEFENSE

From this distance, the British positions around Matruh, which Wavell made into a defense bastion when the Italians threatened Egypt last fall, appeared the strongest barrier to the axis advance on Egypt.

The town, approximately 130 miles east of Salum, is the western terminus of a railroad leading to Alexandria, some 160 miles further east.

The German-Italian threat to Alexandria and the Suez raised the possibility that Egypt, thus far a non-belligerent, might find herself at war any day.

New Croat State
Diplomatically, Germany also was vigorously active.

Adolf Hitler, acting with II Duce, personally recognized the establishment of an independent Croatian state from the old Croat province of Yugoslavia.

Authorized sources explained the state, as such, had been recognized without a final fixing of boundaries. This naturally could come as a result of friendly negotiations, they said.

The recognition was regarded as another step in the methodical establishment by the axis of a new order in the Balkans.
