Enriched Bread Seen Great Boon to Diet of Nation

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Last year England enriched flour and bread as part of its defense program. Now we are doing the same thing as a step in the improvement of our national nutrition.

The new enriched flour and bread have a higher vitamin and mineral content than ordinary white flour or white bread. Nutritionally, enriched flour differs from ordinary white flour in vitamin and mineral content. That is, it must have a certain amount of thiamine chloride (vitamin B1), nicotinic acid (pellagra-preventive factor), and iron. Two of the other ingredients that may be in the enriched flour are calcium and riboflavin.

Tastes The Same In taste and looks the new flour cannot be distinguished from plain white flour. These particular vitamins and minerals were selected because they are the food values we logically should expect bread and other flour products to contribute to our diets. They are all present in the original wheat, but are removed in making refined white flour. Bread that contains six or eight per cent of milk solids will often come up to the minimum standards for the riboflavin and calcium.

To be sure you're getting the new flour and bread at the store, read the labels carefully. It is only when a flour or bread is labeled "enriched" that you can be sure it contains at least the minimum amounts of thiamine chloride, nicotinic acid, and iron set by the standard.

A 1-pound loaf of bread must have at least: 1 milligram thiamine chloride; 4 milligrams of iron to be called "enriched."

During the worship service, there will be a gospel message and some gospel songs. Come and bring the little folks with you. All are welcome, and we will meet you with an open hand and a warm handclasp. Come one, come all.

Budget Diets Benefit Whole-wheat flour made from good, sound wheat already exceeds the minimum standards for at least two of the three required substances that are being included in the enriched white flours. Since all the nutrients of the wheat are retained in the whole-wheat flour there is no reason for further enrichment.

It is to low cost diets that the new bread and flour will probably make their greatest contribution. For these diets are the ones that are usually high in cereals, and most likely to be low in the vitamins and minerals that the enriched bread and flour supply.

Dollars "Going to Waste" for Many Klamath People

A lot of Klamath people may have one more dollar than they realize.

At any rate, they haven't called for their money, which is ready for them as a result of the abandonment of the federal art center project here.

When the project was given up, many people had already contributed $1 each. The directors in charge announced the money would be refunded if contributors would call at the First Federal Savings and Loan association offices.

Those who have failed to call were urged again Friday to do so.
