

YOUNG INDIAN SENTENCED TO 10-YEAR TERM

(Continued From Page One) The Charles Drew ranch after the killing. Recalling testimony that Zulkoski had been instructed to buy liquor with Anderson money at Bonanza but did not get as much as he was told to get, the judge said: "The defendant never told us when he got his money back from Zulkoski." Explanations Lacking "There is no explanation of the empty pockets of Zulkoski. He did not tell why the liquor permit and all means of identification were gone from the body. He did not explain what happened to his (the defendant's) coat, which disappeared after the killing." When Judge Vandenberg asked Anderson if he could give any reason why sentence should not be passed, the staid young Indian arose and replied: "No sir, can't." The judge then sentenced him to "not exceeding 10 years" in the state penitentiary. Anderson turned to Attorney O'Neill and said a few words, and then walked over to his mother, who had been weeping. He held her in his arms a few moments before returning to seat in the courtroom to listen to procedure in another case. In his remarks to the court, O'Neill cited the jury's leniency recommendation and said that while it is not binding upon the court, he felt it should have weight. He said there are mitigating circumstances in the Anderson case and that he believes Anderson would be a better citizen if given a parole rather than penitentiary imprisonment. In his remarks, Oriscoll said that the jury agreed within an hour after starting deliberations, and apparently the leniency recommendation was not a compromise but the unanimous opinion of the jurors. He also suggested a parole. Anderson was returned to the county jail and will be taken to Salem within two or three days. District Attorney L. Orth Sizemore spoke for the state in the case. Special Prosecutor Dayton Van Vactor, who handled the prosecution of Anderson, was in the courtroom but did not speak.

(Continued from Page One) permission to put up 20 street banners in connection with the state CE convention here this week. The council upped policemen's salaries $2.50 a month, to be paid with the understanding the officers will buy their own service shirts. Councilman Cantrall reported that during cleaning up operations in the cemetery, certain shrubs outside a curb had been destroyed. The council agreed to replace the shrubs at a cost of not less than $10. The council voted to transfer $14,000 from the general fund to the airport fund, in preparation for property purchases for the airport expansion. Mayor Houston said the city is assured it can borrow from banks for the airport fund, pending collection of taxes on the special airport levy voted earlier in the year. The general fund will be reimbursed when the bank money comes in, and the banks will be reimbursed when the airport tax money comes in.

Axe Handles Swung In Union Battle At Oakland Plant

OAKLAND, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Axe handles were swung and fists flailed today as 50 CIO union men charged through an AFL picket line at the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Steel company. Fifteen or 20 police, swinging baseball bats, broke up the fighting before it reached serious proportions. No one was hospitalized and there were no arrests. The 50 CIO men, members of the steel workers organizing committee, fought their way through a 13-man picket line set up by the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers. Last Wednesday the same groups engaged in a melee. The AFL claims to represent a majority of crane men in the plant; the CIO claims to represent a majority throughout the entire workings. The AFL union established a picket line in demands for recognition and wage increases.

Vichy Reports German Demands

VICHY, France, April 21 (AP)—It was reported, tonight in Vichy that German terms brought to Paris by Otto Aebetz, German ambassador at Paris, included a demand for free passage of German troops en route to Spain. It is accepted almost universally in Vichy governmental and diplomatic circles that a movement into Spain by Germany for operations against Gibraltar to close the western end of the Mediterranean is a matter of a few weeks at most and possibly only days. (Continued from Page One) the treasury's program "as we think it wise." In connection with the individual income levy, informed sources said that the treasury suggested retention of the present individual exemptions—$800 for single persons and $2000 for married persons—but proposed that the 10 per cent credit for earned income below $14,000 be eliminated. Other tax increases also were proposed as follows: Gasoline from 11 cents to 23 cents a gallon; whisky and other spirits from $3 to $4 a gallon; beer from $6 to $7 a barrel; wine, an increase of 16 2/3 per cent; cigarettes from $3.25 to $4 a thousand; automobiles from $4 to 7 per cent.

THE RECORD Facts That Concern You

ONE SOUR NOTE... but it's a great orchestra nevertheless
Even a great orchestra will make a musical mistake once in a while. And once in a while,... out of the thousands of decent, law-abiding beer retailers in Oregon... you'll come across one or two who operate disreputable establishments. These "black sheep" retailers constitute a tiny minority. Yet they tend to drag down the good name of beer. By arousing public indignation, such undesirable retailers endanger your right to enjoy good beer. They also endanger the benefits to the public that beer has made possible. For example, in Oregon beer has created 13,238 new jobs with an annual payroll of $11,541,550 and paid $617,020.86 in taxes last year. The brewing industry wants "black sheep" retailers eliminated entirely. You can help us by patronizing only the reputable, legal places where beer is sold. And by reporting irregularities to the duly constituted law enforcement authorities.

FOREST FIRES SWEEP NEARER NAVAL STATION

(Continued from Page One) was highlighted by a dramatic rescue of 80 soldiers from Fort Dix by an unidentified pilot who guided them from an area where they were trapped by flaming trees and brush. The pilot swooped low over the treetops and dropped notes with instructions guiding the men to a path that had not been touched by the fire. All of the soldiers reached safely. The fires, most of which broke out yesterday as Sunday picnickers and motorists crowded parks and forest preserves, had caused only two deaths. But scores of homes—an estimated 200 in New Jersey alone—were destroyed or seriously damaged, and hundreds of persons were left homeless and many were injured. Much livestock was lost. Damage will run into the millions of dollars. The fire in the Lakehurst area, only one portion of great fires extending along a broken front from Fort Dix across the central part of the state to the Atlantic coast, was reported within two miles of Lakehurst a town of 500, late Monday. Approximately 3000 soldiers from Fort Dix, 400 CCC workers and 500 regular fire fighters were battling the fire on a 12-mile front. All trees around the naval air station reservation north of the town were in flames shortly after 4 p. m. Blimps, Planes Moved Commander Sachse said no efforts had been made to move blimps and planes stored at the station to any other location. The fire in the Lakehurst area had advanced during the night from the eastern edge of the Fort Dix reservation. Late Monday flames in the Fort Dix area which had been brought under control during the night, flared again and threatened 10,000 additional acres. However, a few hours after the flareup, officials at Fort Dix said the "situation was well in hand." They admitted there had been numerous minor flareups in the impact area of the reservation's artillery range. Two other serious fires were raging in New Jersey, one in the area of Williamstown, Camden county, another, advancing toward several communities in the vicinity of Laurelton, six miles east of Lakewood where 60 homes were destroyed by the fire Sunday. This fire, which had left hundreds homeless in the Lakewood area, already had burned 40,000 acres of pine and brush. The homeless were being cared for by neighbors and the American Red Cross which provided food and clothing. On the outskirts of West Berlin, N. J., 50 children played ring-around-the-rosy while flames licked trees 300 yards away. All brush and grass had been cleared from the schoolhouse area and the building was considered safe. Reopening of Mines Asked By President

(Continued from Page One) ment until they have had "a little time to think it over." In New York, union officials promised a statement tomorrow. In part, the White House statement said: "... in the best interest of the United States and its citizens, I publicly recommend and urge that: 1. The miners and operators already in agreement resume coal production under the terms of that agreement. 2. The operators and miners who have not yet reached an agreement, enter into wage negotiations and at the same time reopen the mines, the agreement ultimately reached to be made retroactive to the date of resuming work. "This will bring about prompt return of a steady and needed supply of coal in the interest of national safety. I am certain that all groups concerned in the wage controversy will put the interest of their fellow countrymen above any other interest and immediately begin making arrangements looking toward the reopening of the mines. Bituminous coal production must be resumed, and promptly. The public interest demands it and the public interest is paramount."

GM's Strike Threat Talked In Washington

(Continued from Page One) tion of work tomorrow met no favor with any of the interested parties. The United Mine Workers replied that they were willing to resume negotiations with the southern operators in New York. The southerners insisted that they had definitely withdrawn from the Appalachian wage conference which included northern operators, but reiterated willingness to negotiate separately. They renewed last night an offer to reopen the mines with an 11 per cent wage increase.

NAZIS ASSERT 5 TROOPSHIPS SUNK IN ROUT

(Continued from Page One) was discussed by military strategists. Misgivings were evident as to the effect of Britain's present adversity upon the American administration's program of all-out aid. Public feeling in the United States was expected to year to greater caution. It was feared this might tie the hands of the administration which might otherwise go even more in an effort to counteract axis victories. Odds Too Big Pressure of popular anxiety was expected to make President Roosevelt recoil from naval convoys. Usually sound prophets predicted that the next jump forward in United States support for Britain may have to await the reappearance of British successes. Removal of British troops from Greece with a minimum loss of men and equipment was believed the best British can hope for in the face of overwhelming numerical superiority of German troops and mechanized equipment. German reports that naval planes already were sinking British troop ships starting an evacuation from Greece lacked confirmation here. But Adolf Hitler's legions were reported pouring across the plains of Thessaly in vast numbers and it was believed a decision regarding an evacuation might be forced soon.
