

Activities Many At State Session

Mrs. Poole of This City Ends Year as Grand Guardian; Portland Matron Installed

Outstanding in the history of the organization, the eighteenth annual session of the Grand Guardian Council of Job's Daughters terminated last Sunday morning after three full days of business and social activities. The program began with the official visit of Phyllis Poole, the grand guardian, to Bethel 6, last Thursday evening.

Among the many officials and dignitaries present for this meeting were Velva R. F. Schlorff, supreme guardian of the International Council of Job's Daughters; Charles E. Catlow, vice associate grand guardian; Florence Christy, past supreme guardian; Neita West, Cora Young, Charlotte Wing and Edna Catlow, past grand guardians, and Captain Delmar Shaver, past associate grand guardian, besides many honored and past honored queens, grand family members, visiting Bethel Daughters, parents and friends.

A class of eleven was initiated, ten being local girls, and the other Velva Pearson of Bethel 3, who was given a courtesy initiation. In appreciation for all her services and efforts, not only to Bethel 6, but to all other Bethels throughout the state, an honorary degree was conferred on Mrs. Poole, grand guardian. A similar degree was also conferred upon Neita West who served as grand guardian from Bethel 6 in 1927, and who has always been active in affairs of the organization.

A reception for distinguished guests and new members followed the meeting. In the dining room in which the refreshments were served, the decorations were cleverly carried out in patriotic colors and spring blossoms. Favors were small crossed American and Bethel flags, made by the girls of the local Bethel. All arrangements for the refreshments were in charge of Margaret Blohm, guardian of hospitality, who was assisted by mothers of Bethel 6.

Friday morning's session included the presentation of and tribute to flags under the direction of Edna Stanley, grand marshal. Honored queens who participated in these activities were Eleanor Pehl of Bethel 5, presenting the American flag; Jeanne Gerod of Bethel 9, the Canadian flag; Vernalta Pomeroy of Bethel 2, the Bethel flag, and Phyllis Sharp of Bethel 21, the Oregon flag.

Mayor John H. Houston gave the address of welcome to the session, and Charles E. Catlow, associate grand guardian, gave the response. Earl Snell, most worshipful master, AF and AF, brought greetings from the Grand Lodge of Oregon. Other speakers of the morning were Roy Cannon, vice-associate and grand guardian; Lawrence K. Phelps, worshipful master of Klamath lodge 77; Arthur R. Dickson, district 21, deputy grand master; Douglas J. Howser, past associate guardian of Bethel 6; Peggy Pike, president of the Guardians club of Portland; Bette Lee Merrill, junior past honored queen of Bethel 6, and Donna Dunn, honored queen of Bethel 15.

The outstanding event of Friday afternoon was the beautiful and impressive memorial service in charge of Olive Burdick, grand chaplain, assisted by Lorena McNair, past guardian of Bethel 22, and Esther Sanderson, guardian of Bethel 14, and Ashland and Medford Bethel Daughters. A rose garden formed the setting and flowers used in the ceremony were double white lilacs. Henry Wilson, associate guardian of Bethel 6, contributed largely to the arrangements for this ceremony.

At four o'clock a pretty appointed tea was served by past honored queens and honorary members of Bethel 6. Mrs. Melvin McCollum (Edna May Thomas who served as honored queen of the Bethel during the guardianship of Mrs. Poole, had charge of all arrangements.

A seven o'clock banquet was held at the Willard hotel, attended by more than three hundred Job's Daughters and distinguished guests. Marking the places were miniature, colored views of Crater lake, prepared by Ruth Van Doren, past guardian of Bethel 6. Favors were miniature wooden pelican pins, made under the supervision of Leroy Erdmann, associate patron of Aloha chapter 61, OES, and past worshipful master of Klamath lodge 77, and which were painted under the supervision of Fay Sparks, guardian of the local Bethel. Presiding as toastmistress of the evening was Wanda Shaw, director of music. Dancing followed for Job's Daughters, their escorts and members of DeMolay, with music by Herb Cochran's orchestra.

Play Given Before OES

"Visitors Night" Title Of Skit Presented On Tuesday

Aloha chapter No. 61, Order of the Eastern Star observed "Visitors Night," Tuesday evening, when 150 members of the order were present to enjoy the entertainment provided by the non-affiliated members residing in Klamath Falls. Mrs. J. H. Poppy supervised the program, presenting a comedy, "Petticoat Politics," showing how helpless and hopeless were efforts of women in the beginnings of their efforts to acquire skill and intelligence in the political life of their community.

The cast of characters included, Beverly Ricker, a political leader; Myrtle Reynolds, who has a soft spot in her heart for men; Arthur Stone, intent on matters of state; Meta Gilbert, who drags trips to polls; Lillian Hagman, who believes country is going to wrack and ruin; Pluma Erdmann, believes the country first and home second; Sofia Kenoff, candidate for dog catcher; Sarah Holloway, no good without her glasses; Phyllis Webb, who writes speeches; Sylvia McClelland, darktown visitor; Maude Poppy, janitor, director and paraphernalia chairman.

The play was a clever performance and provided much enjoyment for the audience. Refreshments were also furnished by the visitors under the direction of Mrs. C. O. Dryden and her committee; Mrs. Fred Hauger, Mrs. E. E. Smith, Mrs. L. E. Henry, Mrs. E. F. Blankenship, and Mrs. Leo N. Huls. The color scheme for the buffet table, red, white and blue, was carried out with a blue cover, white pottery bowls and red roses.

Mrs. Oliver W. Spiker, worthy matron, and Mr. Arlet Edsall, worthy patron, presided during the regular session. Mrs. Georgia Holloway of Medford, grand Martha of the grand lodge of the Eastern Star for Oregon, was escorted to a place of honor in the east and introduced, and addressed the chapter briefly. Mrs. Phyllis Poole, junior past grand guardian of Job's Daughters for Oregon was also introduced.

Anniversary of Church Observed

Conley-Cox Nuptials Solemnized April 17 at Impressive Church Wedding

LANGELL VALLEY—The tenth anniversary of St. Barnabas church in Langell Valley was successfully commemorated last Sunday, April the twentieth, when Bishop Remington of Pendleton, Rev. Victor Newman of St. Paul's in Klamath Falls, and Rev. Gill of St. Luke's at Lakeview and St. Barnabas, presented interesting talks during the program, stressing the fact that St. Barnabas church belongs to the people of Langell Valley, regardless of membership in the Episcopalian church and issued an invitation to all residents to attend services.

The church and parish hall were beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers sent from Oakland by Mrs. Anna Gift and with lilies from Klamath Falls. Special music was presented by the choir.

During the service Miss Madge Fitzhugh received baptism by the bishop and Mrs. Charles Partridge read a letter from Rev. J. Henry Thomas of St. Clement's church in Berkeley, through whose untiring efforts St. Barnabas was made possible. Mrs. Frank Dearborn read an article about this church published ten years ago in the church magazine, telling of its completion and dedication.

Eighty-five friends from Lakeview, Klamath Falls, Bonanza and Langell Valley were present for the occasion. A luncheon was served at half past one o'clock.

The relatives of Mrs. Kate Phillips met at her home in Upper Langell Valley for dinner on Easter Sunday, the occasion observing the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Phillips. Those enjoying the day were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Merchant and daughters, Pearl and Beatrice of Cave Junction, Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Welch and sons, Miss Jean House, Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phillips and children, Sharon and Dean, of Vastalia.

At eight o'clock on the evening of April the seventeenth, Miss Maxine Conley and Mr. Harold Cox were united in marriage by Rev. Gordon Kemper of the Full Gospel church, in a setting of roses and spring flowers.

The bride was lovely in a floor length gown of white tulle and carried an arm bouquet of rosebuds. Her bridesmaids were Miss Gloria Hartley who wore baby blue tulle, and Miss Elinor Cox, sister of the groom, in a similar frock of rose pink tulle.

Mr. Melvin Conley, brother of the bride, and Mr. William Madden attended the groom. Dainty little flower girls were Sally Thompson, in blue organza, and Shirley Cox, small sister of the groom, who wore yellow organza. The bride's mother, Mrs. Cecil Conley, had selected a wine suit with white accessories for the occasion. Mrs. Gladys Cox, mother of the groom, was unable to attend because of illness.

Mrs. Helen Noble sang a solo preceding the ceremony, and following the wedding a reception was given for fifty friends and relatives at the Cecil Conley home, when the bride's parents also observed their twenty-first wedding anniversary.

The young couple will reside in Klamath Falls where they have purchased a home.

Mrs. Laurence Campbell, Mrs. Bobbette Gift, Mrs. Orville DeVaul, Mrs. Claude Murray and Mrs. Lester Leavitt were hostesses on Friday afternoon at the parish hall when Mrs. Bruce Bieler and Mrs. John Campbell were honored by a shower.

Later in the afternoon refreshments were served to Grace Dearborn, Marian Zick, Alice Brown, Emma Huntley, Mary Shelley, Mildred Campbell, Miriam Potoczek, Ruth Martin, Edith Brown, Charlotte Fitzhugh, Nettie Davis, Norma Campbell, Grace Revell, Florence Botkins, Lottie Kellar, Genevieve Smith, Carolyn Monroe, Beasie Campbell, Ella Shelley, Mae Gale, Cleda Wells, Nellie Barclay, Katie Pepple, Mary Dearborn, Florence Horn, Mary Etta Malone, Marilee Bieler, Dorothy Fletcher and Berta Barclay.

On Saturday evening a large group of relatives and friends held a charivari for Mr. and Mrs. Barney Brown who were the weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer

ONE YEAR OLD

Erik Lloyd, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritjof Mathisen of Weyerhaeuser, observed his first birthday anniversary on Sunday, April the twentieth. Mother is the former Alice Harvey, and grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Harvey, 1122 Lincoln street, pioneer residents of this city.
