Development of Magnesium Urged To Match Nazis

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—Representative Leavy (D-Wash.) has urged congress to develop magnesium deposits in the Grand Coulee area of Washington to match military uses made by Germany of the light metal. He told a house committee in testimony made public today on the interior department's 1942 appropriation bill that Germany had produced 100,000,000 pounds of the metal last year and that it was used largely in aircraft and munitions manufacture.

He reported that this country produced only about 12,000,000 pounds of magnesium and urged that Dr. W. C. Mendenhall, director of the geological survey, investigate the extent of Washington deposits.

The committee recommended congress appropriate $195,000 for the survey to continue work on strategic and critical minerals investigations. The amount was $50,000 less than appropriated for the present year.

Geological survey officials said they had planned an extensive survey of Washington deposits but had delayed it because the state's own geological department was making a survey.

ployes, and personnel of Central Greyhound, Pennsylvania Greyhound, Capitol Greyhound, Richmond Greyhound, Atlantic Greyhound, Northern Greyhound, New England Greyhound, Southwestern Greyhound, Pacific Greyhound, Western Canadian Greyhound, and other lines comprising the Greyhound system.
