On the "Big Lawn"

FOR THREE YEARS THE RIVERSIDE PTA has sponsored the out-of-doors supper, May festival, and evening of entertainment. Hosts each year are Mr. and Mrs. Harlan P. Bosworth Jr., caught as they left the serving table with plates of good food and cups of steaming coffee. The Big Lawn adjoins the Bosworth residence on Conger avenue. Chairman of the 1941 fete, Mrs. Elliot, was assisted by a hard working committee of mothers and fathers. Teachers came in for their share of work with Principal Verne Spiers directing the cutting and selling of pies. Highlights of the evening were May pole dances on the green by upper grade girls, and the military march of the first graders, splendid in white uniforms with red and blue capes and carrying American flags. Director was First Grade Teacher Grace Rhoades.

Riverside May Fete

CITY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT J. Percy Wells arrives for dinner at the Riverside May festival Friday night where he is greeted by Mrs. C. S. Elliot, chairman of the party. Seated, Betty Lou Williams, Riverside teacher, snapped by the cameraman as she enjoys dinner served by a busy committee from a plentiful table filled with homemade foods. This is the third annual festival sponsored by the Riverside PTA and Friday night's party was especially important as the city band appeared for the first time this season. Brand new uniforms of maroon and blue with black trim were exceptionally splendid and Director Charles Stanfield in his new white suit was complimented on the concert which was played to perhaps the largest crowd ever attending the festival.

POPULAR CONCESSION, fixed up in the old garage, was the hamburger stand. Chef Neal Stewart in white cap turns out a couple of hundred hamburgers to hungry customers. Center, Dayton E. Van Vactor and C. S. Elliot, (right), stand by to pile on the mustard and onions as patrons continue to Ed Hamm's refreshment table.

BUSIEST MOTHERS ON THE BIG LAWN were Mrs. Dayton E. Van Vactor, (left), and Mrs. Walter West, who served the several hundred persons who enjoyed supper on The Big Lawn. Mrs. West is retiring president of the Riverside PTA and was in charge of soliciting for the festival, assisted by Mrs. Van Vactor.
