

INFLUENCES IN WORLD NOTED IN TALK HERE

ye may consume it upon your lusts. It is a case of "everyone for himself and the devil take the hindmost," which brings on war.

How can we stop war, you again ask? By turning to God and righteousness, by ceasing our sinning. From time immemorial national crises have arisen when prophets have cried against national sins.

As we sow, we reap. We have been too materialistic—not giving sufficient time to worship and meditation. When the material has disappeared we go to pieces—not so with the spiritual values.

If a single murder is unchallenged—slaughter of millions is expected. There was darkness when Christ was crucified and there is always darkness in a Christless world.

Paradoxical as it may seem the closer mankind is drawn mechanically, it grows farther apart spiritually.

There is no fusing bond in the mechanical. The chemist can assemble all the substances of a human body, but cannot make a man.

To a large measure Great Britain has not become "soft" with self indulgence, self security or Godlessness.

Some say why does not God stop war? If he did, it would be a severe penalty man would pay—loss of freedom and power of will.

Skeptically the question is often asked on whose side is God. Such a question is provoked by two false assumptions.

1. That God's interests are national—not spiritual. That He takes sides that man takes. It's a geographical view not a moral view.

2. It assumes all good is on one side and all evil on the other side.

God is on neither side to the exclusion of the other. He is with the just on both sides and against the evil of both sides with eternal victory for the just and everlasting punishment for the wicked.

Mourn not friends as without hope—"Because I live ye shall live also. Fret not regarding dismal events for God

Be swift, my soul, to answer Him; be jubilant, my feet For God is marching on."

AGED When brought to the surface bottles of carbonized water were found to be still palatable after 33 years on the bottom of the sea.

TULELAKE—Potato shipments from Tulelake via the Southern Pacific have dwindled to only one car daily and the 1940 crop is almost cleaned up, according to H. Bond, SP agent, who stated this week that a total of 1976 cars were shipped from Tulelake and Stronghold.

LONDON'S PORT

The London port authority has more than 4000 acres of land and some 45 miles of quay under its jurisdiction. It has managed this vast publicly-owned dock system since it was purchased, in 1909, from private concerns.

CULINARY WORKERS OKAY WAGE REPORT

Recommendations of a Culinary alliance negotiating committee on employer rejections to a wage scale agreement were passed unanimously at two special meetings of alliance members Thursday, Alliance Secretary G. C. Tatum announced Friday.

The United States, during 1939, harvested a record of 87,000,000 bushels of soybeans.
