Salutatory.
To friends and patrons. The undersigned have purchased the Klamath Republican and the material, goodwill, etc., to which we shall within a few days add a first class job department. Such increase of material will necessitate a removal of the office to a larger building, where we shall at all times be happy to welcome the citizens of Klamath Falls and county.

In politics, this paper will, as its name implies, continue to be the exponent and advocate of republican principles. Having edited a republican paper for twenty-six years, we could not now, even if we tried, conduct with success any other kind of a paper. Yet our political views will not, we trust, lead us to forget courtesy, nor friendship towards those who differ with us.

Aside from politics, we shall give all the local and general news, and shall at all times take pleasure in telling the outside world of the advantages, resources, fine climate and grand scenery, forests, and rich valleys, and especially of the tremendous water power at Klamath Falls which in the near future will aid the forests in supplying the world with lumber.

All these things, and indeed, everything looking to the benefit of the town and county we shall constantly keep before the people here and elsewhere.

And in all, we shall endeavor to merit the friendship and patronage of citizens, so that it can be said that the paper has not lived in vain.

POWER OVER TRUSTS.

The congress of the United States has already undertaken to legislate on the subject of trusts. It did this, indeed, years ago, before the subject had gained one-tenth part of attention which engrosses now. The legislation was perhaps as comprehensive as any that could be framed, or ever can be framed, unless the constitution of the United States shall first be amended, so as to confer on congress specific powers always heretofore recognized as belonging to the states.

Yet it is only necessary to glance at this legislation in order to see how feeble it is. Section 1, of the anti-trust law of 1890, declares "illegal every contract, combination in form or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade."

But this is only reassertion of the common law, whose principles courts would take no notice of and enforce even in the absence of specific statute. Again, in section 2, it is declared that every person who shall monopolize or attempt to monopolize, or combine or conspire with any other person or persons to monopolize any part of the trade or commerce among the several states, or with foreign nations, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5000, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments, at the discretion of the court.

But this is ineffective, since it will in every case be denied and can in no case be proven that the object of the combination or trust is to monopolize trade; and with more or less plausibility and truth it will be set forth that such monopoly is impossible.

the democrats would have to acquiesce in it—though such measure would practically destroy state autonomy and establish a highly centralized national government—or abandon the anti-trust agitation as a political issue. It is urged that if congress shall now promptly propose this amendment to the constitution, the democratic party will be non-plussed on this subject next year in the presidential election; since it will be compelled either to fall in with the scheme, or be silent on the trust question.

It may be doubted very seriously whether the states—it would require four-fifths of them—would ratify an amendment which would virtually reduce them to the rank of provinces under a central empire. Yet that is the only way to confer on congress the power necessary for control of the great commercial and corporate trusts fostered under our present political system and modern economic tendencies.—Oregonian.

Governor Geer has made many friends by his independent actions regarding appointments to various state positions. He is a governor with opinions of his own.

The corn crop of the United States promises to break all previous records. Estimates now made show that eight principal corn states will this year produce about 2,500,000 bushels.

The Pennsylvania Steel Works at Steelton is taking on new men at the rate of about forty and fifty a week, and the calamity howlers has gone into the hole and pulled the hole after him.

Everything indicates at present that the fall trade will be about the biggest boom ever witnessed in this country, or in the world. It will be a hard matter to make sober common people believe that the "advance agent of prosperity" is not a great success. The people are willing to stand any amount of such things.

According to an opinion just rendered by Attorney General Blackburn the first Oregon district agricultural society is only entitled to $600 of the $900 appropriated annually by the state for this society. The sum of $300 was to be divided between the counties of Klamath and Lake in paying premiums, but those two counties hold no meetings now, the attorney general says that amount would not be utilized as provided by law and should not be paid.

The speech of Mr. Bryan at Sacramento last week, was one which the California newspapers of both political parties do not take kindly to, but criticize it as an insult to that state. In his speech he asserted that "while Californians were careful to feed and fatten their hogs, they let men starve; that they had more concerns for pork than humanity," and he advised his hearers, "to give considerate attention to the people as well as to hogs."

This is a Republican year—and the bank clearance and commercial agency reports show that fully 50 per cent. more business is being done in the United States today than was done during the reign of Grover II. And yet you will now and then run across a hollow headed politician who will tell you that it would be well for this country to go back to the dead-sea stagnation of those hard old Free-Trade and free soup Democratic days.—Darlington Record.

As far as one can see on short acquaintance, the climate at Klamath Falls and throughout Klamath county, is about the same as it is in Iowa and Nebraska, leaving out the cold winds, blizzards and cyclones which sometimes make life in those states unbearable. Here, the bracing air unimpeded by fogs, and water is as pure and free from alkali as can be found anywhere. Those who have heard derogatory stories of the climate east of the cascade mountain will do well to come and observe for themselves.
